DAY CABINET F FRANCE DIES N NAVAL ISSUE

London Parley Faces New Delay.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 25.—France's new government formed by Camille Chautemps was killed tonight after five days of life by a vote of 292 to 277 in the chamber of deputies. The cabinet called President Doumergue its resignation at 10 o'clock.

The deputies refused to give the new radical Socialist premier a vote of confidence on his initial appearance in parliament, despite his ambiguous ministerial declaration and his protestations that he did not intend to follow the radical policies of the left wing but maintain the lines of action which Andre Tardieu had already outlined. The center refused to believe the statements of M. Chautemps and gave M. Tardieu, who was deposed as premier a week ago, a tremendous ovation when he arose from a sick bed and entered the chamber to sit in judgment on his successor.

New Delay for Navy Parley.

The vote, which reveals that there is no real majority in the chamber of deputies and any government can only be made through a coalition of groups of the left and center, was tabulated without great difficulty. Some joker had managed nearly 900 phony ballots into the urn during the voting.

The ousting of M. Chautemps by 15 votes—there were 21 absentees—means another adjournment of the London naval conference unless the powers still there decide to proceed with the negotiations without France, which is considered unthinkable here, as the Paris government's naval demands seriously affect Italy and Japan and also have great bearing on Great Britain's requirements.

In view of the attitude of the chamber, it is not known whether President Doumergue will call on M. Tardieu to form a new cabinet or resort to the classic procedure in similar crises and ask some veteran senator to organize a coalition government.

Back Big Navy Plans.

The upshot of the debate was the complete indorsement of the Tardieu demands for vast French sea power and a direct indication that the majority of parliament wants either a powerful navy or an adequate security guarantee to protect France against any aggression. M. Chautemps told the deputies he intended standing pat on the naval program as outlined by M. Tardieu unless other forms of security were offered.

Leon Blum, leader of the Socialist party, whose support is necessary for a majority of any concentrated left wing government, however, dealt M. Chautemps a fatal blow when he announced that M. Tardieu's claims for the big naval building program were unexaggerated.

Demands New Treaty.

"The Socialist party will not support this policy," M. Blum said. "We desire France's naval program can be substantially reduced if we can obtain adequate security guarantees. We have the league of nations covenant, the Locarno treaties, and the Briand-Kellogg peace pact, and they should be translated into some commitment by which the signatory powers will assume the obligations and responsibilities and permit us to reduce our naval requirements."

This statement consolidated the center and right against M. Chautemps and obviated the necessity of M. Tardieu addressing the chamber. Paul Reynaud led the attack on the new government.

Call Premier's Policy Reasonable.

"When M. Chautemps allied himself with the Socialists he appealed for his own ruin," M. Reynaud said. "He knew about nothing but controlling the ministry of the interior to prepare for the forthcoming elections in 1932; he stabbed M. Tardieu's naval policy in the back yesterday. Now he says he takes it as a basis for his policy. They intend to go to London on a platform based on treason."

Marcel Cachin, communist leader, opened with a bitter tirade against the proposed naval policy, insisting that it means an increase of armaments. Henry Franklin-Bouillon defended a new government based on the senate, and stated that it would be disastrous to send another delegation to London which was not certain to survive.

As the cabinet crashed a mob of 1,000 in front of the Palais Bourbon clashed with a large force of police. The crowd attempted to carry M. Tardieu away in triumph and then booed and hissed the defeated radical leader.

TOO MANY GUNNERS—EACH WITH A DIFFERENT AIM

Convict Two Butchers as 'Bomb Trust'

Two of the three men charged with the manufacture and sale of bombs to an undercover investigator for State's Attorney Swanson were convicted yesterday by a jury in Judge William N. Gemmill's Criminal court after deliberation of nearly six hours. The third defendant, who was said to be the instigator of the so-called "butchers' bombing conspiracy," was acquitted of the charge.

Mike Caselli, South Chicago butcher, and Steve Ficke, father of five children, were the men convicted. They face a sentence of 5 to 25 years in the penitentiary in the event their motions for new trials are overruled. Gus Flocca, meat jobber and butcher shop owner in South Chicago, was the man acquitted.

Faints at Verdict.

Ficke fainted after the verdict was read and had to be carried from the courtroom. This started a general uproar among his wife and five children. Several of the jurors who had voted the guilty verdict had tears in their eyes as they listened to the shouting and crying of the wife and children.

The case originated last August with a sensational raid by state's attorney's detectives in which James Belcastro, labor racketeer, and others were arrested. At that time it was announced by the prosecutor's staff that the bombing trust was in custody and that Belcastro was "king of the bombers."

Crowe Appointee Takes Case.

The case was continued many times and was shunted from assistant prosecutor to assistant prosecutor. It finally was given to Assistant State's Attorney Wayland Brooks, appointed by former State's Attorney Crowe. Brooks studied the evidence and found there was no testimony to connect Belcastro and that his case against Flocca was flimsy. He therefore had a new indictment prepared leaving out Belcastro.

The state relied mainly on the testimony of Joseph Altmeier, a bankrupt butcher, who got his undercover investigator's job when he brought to the prosecutor's office a bomb which he said he had purchased through Caselli.

He was sent back to buy more bombs, and when he made a second purchase the raid was staged. Altmeier said that he first learned of Caselli connection when Flocca approached him with a proposition to take over Caselli's butcher shop and destroy it by fire or bomb and collect insurance. Flocca's defense was an attack on Altmeier's reputation.

Schoolboy Beats Women in Pie Baking Contest

SUSPECT SEIZED FOR ATTACK ON U. OF C. WOMAN

A youth answering the description of the gunman who assaulted Miss Blanche Hardiman, 40 years old, assistant librarian at the University of Chicago, as she crossed the Midway at Kenwood avenue two weeks ago, was seized last evening by Hyde Park police. He identified himself as Charles Storer, 20 years old, 5948 Cornell avenue.

Detectives John Leddy and Harold Reilly captured Storer at 54th street and Lake Park avenue after Mrs. Amy Trussing, 5419 Harper avenue, had telephoned Hyde Park police that she had been threatened by a man in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Trussing identified Storer at Hyde Park station. The prisoner was to be taken this morning to the home of Miss Hardiman, 6325 Kenwood avenue, for possible identification.

BRITAIN URGED TO PAY DOLES TO NEW BORN BABES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Doles for babies is the latest proposal of labor leaders. Recommendations coming before the general council of the Trade Union congress tomorrow, include a weekly allowance of 5 shillings [about 72 cents] for the first child and 3 shillings for each one thereafter from birth to school leaving age.

The majority of the committee is reported to favor the idea, but the minority opposes family cash allowances and recommends the development of social services for children, including a maintenance allowance. It is estimated that the proposal for family allowances will reach about $570,000,000 yearly.

Faherty Wants $24,363,163 on April Ballot

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, requested the council finance committee yesterday to place proposals on the April ballot for four street improvement bond issues to cost $24,363,163. Three of the bond issues are to provide money to pay property owners for land and buildings taken in the widening of Ashland and Western avenues and La Salle street.

The fourth proposal is for a bond issue of $5,400,000 to complete Ogden avenue across Goose island. In this request the aldermen saw an admission by Faherty that one of his plans had gone awry. They recalled that he had planned to obtain the funds for this work from the sale of bonds issued under a new law without a referendum of the voters.

Restored to Voters.

Faherty had an ordinance written, including the nonreferendum feature, and it was recommended to the council for passage by the judiciary and special assessments committee. That ordinance is still before the council, as it has never been called up for final approval by Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], chairman of the committee. So, the aldermen pointed out, the Ogden avenue bond issue is returned to the voters for decision.

According to the records in the city hall, the Ashland avenue, Western avenue, and La Salle street bond issues, totaling $18,936,163, are before the finance committee for the sixth time. They were turned down by the voters at three elections, April and November, 1928, and November, 1929, and twice the council refused to place them on the ballot. An investigation by the council before the last defeat showed that Faherty would have no hand in spending the money from these three issues, as it would all be used in paying property owners who have judgments against the city.

Up to Council Today.

Whether or not the bonds will go on the ballot will be decided by the committee this morning and, if approved, action will be put up to the council meeting in the afternoon. The committee met yesterday but put off a decision in the absence of Chairman John S. Clark [50th], who returned to Chicago too late for the meeting.

2 Bandits Return Watch Vet Carried Into Battle

John Szucs, 39 years old, 115 South St. Louis avenue, was parted from a battered silver watch he carried on the battle fields of France last night, but only for a short time. Two bandits halted him a few doors from his home and took the watch and Szucs' cash. But when Szucs protested that the watch was of no value except as a memento of war days the bandits returned it and fled.

SEES INDUSTRY BOOM IN VAST BUILDING PLAN

U.S. Official Pictures Business Revival.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A seven billion dollar construction program for 1930 for public works and by public utilities and big industries is beginning to pull American business out of the valley, according to Dr. John M. Gries, chief of the division of public construction of the department of commerce at Washington.

He reported last night that so far in 1930, projects for expansions and improvements and new buildings in these lines have proceeded as rapidly as was gauged when the prospects were inventoried in the Hoover conferences in November and December. Dr. Gries addressed the second annual banquet of the Chicago club of the producers' council at the Palmer house. He said the latest reports show construction, "the balance wheel of business," on the part of utilities and governments, national, state and local, is beginning to seep through industries in general. For January, he reported, it was in advance of any other peace year.

DR. J. M. GRIES.

Purchasing Power Reviving.

"If the program keeps on moving at the present rate," he declared, "it means an enormous purchasing power will be revived in all types of industry.

"Recent reports are encouraging. Electric light and power companies representing 85 per cent of the industry estimate their actual expenditures for new construction during the first quarter of 1930 at 10 per cent in excess of similar expenditures for the first quarter of 1929.

"Their first quarter orders for equipment and materials also show an increase over a year ago. Contracts awarded for public works and public utility projects, as reported by the F. W. Dodge corporation, which fell to a low point of $51,800,000 in December, increased to $112,000,000 in January, a total substantially higher than in any preceding January for which records are available."

Pictures Building Progress.

After pointing out that the construction dollar is dispersed among practically all major industries, Dr. Gries outlined the latest reports at Washington upon the projected construction work as mobilized during the Hoover meetings.

"We have a reasonably good picture of work in sight for 1930," he said. "The reports of governors of states show total estimated expenditures for public works during 1930, in excess of $3,100,000,000. This includes state, municipal, and county projects. The federal government program will amount to some $275,000,000, not including eighty or more million dollars for highway aid.

Utilities to Spend 3 Billions.

"The public utility companies plan to spend more than $3,250,000,000 during 1930. Especially large capital investments were also reported as contemplated by the iron and steel and several other larger industries."

The items that I have mentioned specifically amount to approximately $7,000,000,000. This sum constitutes a lareg percentage of our total annual national investment in capital goods, the item most subject to rapid curtailment after a panic. If, as might be the case, the total of these items for the year 1930 had shown an indicated decrease of 40, 20 or even 10 per cent, instead of an actual substantial increase, we would find the situation much less hopeful, to say the least.

"All types of buildings of public construction, of which schools constitute the largest item, amount to a total of $800,000,000 in a year; highways and streets, including some maintenance, $1,900,000,000; publicly owned utilities, including waterworks and sewers, $370,000,000; waterways, including maintenance of existing channels, drainage and reclamation, $275,000,000; floating equipment, including naval vessels, $80,000,000; and miscellaneous $160,000,000. The sum total of these items is $3,585,000,000. That figure is subject to revision.

"The materials and equipment go-

Plot to Bomb Senate Aired; Doors Locked

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Warnings of a plot to bomb the senate have resulted in the adoption of war time precautions to guard the senate wing of the capitol, it was revealed today.

A corps of special plain clothes detectives, augmented by department of justice agents, has been policing the lobbies and corridors for nearly a week, it became known, and the north door of the senate wing has been locked in order to compel persons entering the building to pass through a single main entrance guarded by uniformed policemen.

Senator R. S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] admitted late today that he received warning of an attempt to blow up the senate while it was in session and while they refused to confirm the report, it is understood that among others Vice President Curtis, Senator G. H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], president pro tem. of the senate, and Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], the majority leader, received similar letters.

Cause Intense Excitement.

The sensational disclosure which caused intense excitement throughout the capitol building came in the midst of indignant protests by senators who, unaware of the warnings, had linked the appearance of mysterious strangers in the corridors with the recent arrest of George Cassidy, "the man in the green hat" and had come to the conclusion they were being trailed by dry bureau snoopers.

Persistent demands for explanation of the barring of the convenient north door and published reports that the senate sergeant at arms had resorted to counter-espionage to protect the senators from the supposed dry spies led Senator Watson to admit that the precautions were taken as a result of letters warning "several" senators it would be well for them to leave the capitol and particularly the senate wing as early as possible each afternoon.

Report Senators Are Trailed.

"I received reports that senators were being trailed," asserted Senator Watson, "and immediately ordered an investigation. Such a situation would be intolerable and I was gratified to find that the reports were utterly false. But these letters caused some anxiety, and while I believe them to be the work of a crank, it was thought well to take some precautions."

Senator Watson refused to name the senator who be asserted was so agitated by one of the warning letters that he actually suggested that pails of water be placed in the senate chamber in the hope that a bomb dropped from the galleries might be thrown into the water before it could explode.

BOYS DANCE FOR JUDGE IN PLEA TO STAY WITH MAMA

Nine year old Kenneth Gaudsmith and his brother, Adolph, 7 years old, did a song and dance act yesterday in the divorce court of Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch to persuade him to allow them to remain with their mother, Mrs. Florence Gaudsmith of New York, a former vaudevile dancer. Their father, Henry Gaudsmith, an acrobat, sought their custody, charging that their mother neglected them.

The boys expressed a preference for their mother. "Mamma is good to us," Kenneth told the judge, adding that she had taught them how to dance. The judge asked for a demonstration. Their act was so good that the judge called for an encore. After their performance the court suggested a compromise, giving the custody of the children to the mother but asking that she move to Chicago so that the father might be able to visit them more frequently.

ADD $5,955,000 TO RESCUE FUND IN SECOND DAY

Clarke Renews Plea for Subscriptions.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

There was no bubbling enthusiasm last night over yesterday's subscriptions to the $74,000,000 campaign to keep the city, county, public schools and sanitary district operating until July 1. The day's results seemed a bit discouraging to the workers. The total was $5,955,000, as compared with $12,735,000 on Monday.

"But it was not as discouraging as the bare figures would indicate," said Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company and head of the campaign to restore Chicago's credit. "We have prospective pledges which are very encouraging.

"We feel certain that subscriptions were ordered signed yesterday which will mount well towards $11,000,000, but they have not been reported by the twenty-three committees at work. Our present total of $20,350,000 is of subscriptions signed and delivered. That is 27½ per cent of the total of $74,000,000, and reflects the size of the task we have undertaken.

Large Corporations Respond.

"It is perfectly obvious that business generally has been aroused to the fact that it is necessary to reëstablish the credit of the local governments, that subscriptions must be made, and that the Taxpayers' Trust provides the most practicable method of supplying the needed relief quickly.

"Not a single large corporation approached has refused to participate in the Taxpayers' Trust. That is remarkable. Every such corporation which subscribes adds an indorsement to these tax certificates of prime quality and also proclaims that Chicago is awake to the present peril.

"I have urged all of the trade committee chairmen to translate all pledges into signed subscriptions so that the results of their work may be known and the campaign kept from lagging."

Mr. Clarke said that three banks, one in Detroit and two in New York, desired to know yesterday—after the Chicago subscriptions had been made public—why the participating certificates in the Taxpayers' Trust would not be a good investment for them.

Banks' Offers Are Declined.

"Their offers were declined," went on Mr. Clarke. "Chicago should and must reëstablish its own credit. When we have done that there will be a renewal of the demand for local governmental securities. We will do this job ourselves and are not interested in the help offered now by others. We are going to get the money necessary to get the city out of the mire—we simply have to get it. But it is going to take the best there is in us—we workers and the people of Chicago."

The directors of the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association stepped into the drive yesterday with a telegram to each of their 300 members. This is the organization which some time ago advised its members not to cash tax warrants issued to county employes as compensation.

Local Bankers Urged to Buy.

"An emergency confronts the city and the county," reads the telegram. "We are convinced that all corporations and individuals able to do so should at once purchase the certificates of the Cook County Taxpayers' Warrant trust. We specifically recommend that banks buy these warrants in such amounts as will equal

Among the subscriptions received at campaign headquarters yesterday were the following:

Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corp.	50,000

As a group the banks lead thus far with a total of $10,500,000 in subscriptions. The railroads follow with $2,000,000, the stockyards ranks next with $1,250,000, the machinery group comes next with $1,250,000, and the public utilities follow with $1,000,000.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association desires it known that its members have subscribed for $5,475,000 worth of the participating certificates.

Ald. Nelson Back from Florida.

While the private citizens were working diligently at their own expense to raise money to pay 43,836 public employés more than $11,909,000 of overdue salaries, Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], Mayor Thompson's floor leader in the city council, was taking a slap at the banks, the Clarke organization, and the Strawn committee.

The alderman is just back from a vacation in Florida. He appeared with his coat off tan at a meeting of the council finance committee where the plan of Ald. John Coughlin to appropriate $20,000 to sell tax anticipation warrants over the counter in the city controller's office was being considered.

Wants City Selling Bureau.

"There should be a resolution presented to the city council tomorrow," said Ald. Nelson, "asking the council judiciary committee [of which he is chairman] to prepare an ordinance setting up a bureau to sell the city's securities. Let us eliminate the middle man, the broker and the banker, Strawn's interest——"

Here Ald. Nelson paused and switched off to say: "They are afraid that the municipal government will sell direct to the people. That would hurt their market, curtail some of their profits, and untie whatever control they now have over city finances. Let the controller sell direct to purchasers.

"They," went on Nelson again without saying specifically to whom he referred, "have Strawn as the spokesman for La Salle street interfering with the duties of elected officials. They want to dictate and secure control of the government."

Arvey Sticks to the Facts.

"That's a pretty picture," commented Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], "but it is not based on facts. The controller could not put over a sales campaign that would sell over $5,000,000 worth of the securities. We pay no commission now. There is no commission paid in the taxpayers' trust."

"Well, you remember the $40,000,000 borrowed last summer," Nelson replied. "They named the depository and we had to pay interest on the money for nine months before we got it. We can't put over the sales bureau at present because the employés are sorely in need of money. But later we can call in the neighborhood banks and show them how they can be of service to the city."

This was the second attack of Ald. Nelson on the Strawn committee, and was interpreted by other aldermen as meaning that the city administration would like to get rid of Strawn.

TAX EMPLOYE ADMITS 'FIXING' REALTY VALUES

Lawrence Hoffman, youthful university student, who until recently was employed as a valuation computator by Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment, yesterday confessed that he had altered the valuations on more than twenty pieces of property.

Hoffman's story was told to the grand jury, which listened to several other witnesses, including Herman J. Goldberg, real estate agent at 188 West Randolph street, and Murray Wolbach, 2340 Lincoln Park West, owner of much property on the near north side.

The biggest piece of property upon which Hoffman altered the valuation, according to his statement, was that bounded by Illinois and Rush streets, Grand avenue, and Michigan boulevard. The youth reduced the figures by $258,000, he said, which would have meant a saving in taxes of from $12,000 to $15,000.

Tells of Alterations.

Hoffman, who is in voluntary custody, said he quickly noticed that alterations could be made successfully soon after he was employed. He was not a political appointee, but was one of the University of Illinois students signed up for the work.

"I pointed out to Mr. Goldberg what could be done with the figures," he said. "I suggested that I handle his properties in this manner. He agreed and offered to pay me one-fourth of what his fee would be for reducing taxes."

Real estate experts usually charge one-half of what they save their clients, it was pointed out. Thus, in the tract of land mentioned above, Goldberg would have received one-half of the $12,000 to $15,000 received and Hoffman would have been paid one-quarter of Goldberg's fee.

However, the fees were not to be paid until the tax bills were out, Hoffman said. All he actually received, he said, was $5 he borrowed from Goldberg on one occasion.

Realty Man Explains.

Goldberg testified that he has been in the real estate business for many years. He appeared before the board of review on several complaints, he said, and there met Hoffman. They struck up a conversation and Hoffman suggested, Goldberg said, that he might be able to help him on his complaints.

"I thought that Hoffman might be able to help me in a perfectly legal manner," said Goldberg. "So I gave him a list of about 25 pieces of property to look over. He came back later and said he could assist in reducing the valuations on only two pieces of property."

One of these reductions was on a piece of property on Michigan avenue upon which Hoffman effected a reduction of $60,000, according to evidence given the grand jury. Hoffman insisted that the eighteen other alterations of figures were done for friends as a personal favor and that he neither received nor expected any money for them.

Both Hoffman and Goldberg signed immunity waivers before testifying.

NEW YORK TAX 'FIXER' CLEANED UP $1,302,782 WITHIN TWELVE YEARS

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—An obscure ex-employé of the state tax department raked in a cool $1,302,782 in payments in twelve years for arranging reductions in franchise taxes for the Consolidated Gas group, according to the minority report of the committee named by Gov. Roosevelt to investigate the public service commission law.

The man who got the money was Franklin F. Whitbeck, according to testimony given before the committee by Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison company.

The report said Whitbeck quit his job in the state tax department in 1918 and went to work for the Consolidated Gas system. He was paid, it was stated, an annual fee of $22,500 plus 20 per cent of all reductions in taxes obtained by reducing valuations below the figure established in 1917.

Apparently Whitbeck was worth whatever he was paid. Sloan testified Whitbeck's operations saved the gas companies about $6,163,792 in twelve years from 1918 to 1929.

GERTY, COLLINS DEPART TO TELL DRY LAW EVILS

Dr. Francis J. Gerty, superintendent of the county psychopathic hospital, and former Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins departed for Washington yesterday to appear as witnesses against the prohibition law before the house judiciary committee today. The committee is holding hearings on measures to repeal or modify the Volstead act, one of which is sponsored by Congressman James T. Igoe [Dem., Ill.].

Dr. Gerty took with him a great mass of statistics showing the increase of crime, poverty, and insanity since the coming of prohibition. Collins is prepared to tell of prohibition as he observed it in connection with law enforcement. Both Dr. Gerty and Mr. Collins will be presented before before the committee by Congressman A. J. Sabath of Chicago.

Dr. James Whitney Hall, physician and alienist, will probably leave for Washington tonight to appear before the committee on Friday. He received a telegram yesterday extending him an invitation, he announced. Dr. Hall asserted that if he was able to make the trip he would tell of the harm done to the human brain by dry era whisky.

SURRENDERS AFTER THREE YEARS.

Bernard G. Miller of Nashville, Ind., surrendered at the state prison in Michigan City yesterday to serve a term for auto thefts. He escaped three years ago while en route to Michigan City from Brown county, where he was convicted.

DELAY COUNCIL MOVE IN SUIT FOR EXPERTS' TAXES

Hearing Tentatively Set for Tuesday.

Eight members of the council judiciary committee voted yesterday for another week's delay in the prosecution of the city's claim against the federal government for a refund of the $648,444 which was paid as income taxes by four real estate experts, defendants in the Tribune expert fee suit.

Whether the aldermen will hold a hearing next Tuesday on charges that Corporation Counsel Ettelson has interfered with the prosecution of the case was not decided. Several aldermen expressed a belief that hearings before the finance committee on the water and bond budgets might interfere with the hearing on the collection of the money.

"Let's set a date and invite the corporation counsel to be present," remarked Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], chairman of the committee.

Aldermen Make Objections.

Objections were raised by Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] and Ald. James B. Bowler [25th]. They reminded the chairman of the bond and water budgets and Bowler advised that it would be better to wait until later to fix a definite date for the hearing.

"I'll set it for next Tuesday," ruled Ald. Nelson. "The hearing will be held then unless something else comes up to interfere."

Attorney Jay A. Schiller, who had been retained to prosecute the case for the refunding of the tax money, was present at the hearing. He was prepared to tell the committee why Ettelson had recalled him from Washington after he had filed a brief with the federal income tax bureau and was about to proceed with his oral arguments. He was not heard, however.

Schiller found upon his return to Chicago that the corporation counsel objected to a quotation in the brief. It was taken from the decree of the Circuit court, which held Mayor Thompson to be guilty with the experts of a conspiracy by which the city was defrauded of more than $2,000,000.

"Good Sidewalks Torn Up."

When the committee took up an ordinance providing for new sidewalks in Congress street between Green street and Ashland avenue, Ald. Bowler charged that the board of local improvements in a number of instances had torn up good sidewalks in his ward to put down new ones. Bowler stated that the sidewalk inspectors had told the residents that the alderman of the ward was forcing them to lay the new walks.

At the request of Bowler the ordinance was ordered placed on file.

Reunion of Two Brothers Is Romantic Story.

Two elderly brothers, reunited after separation of 32 years, sat in a Montana homesteading shack yesterday and discussed farming and ancestry. They showed only casual interest in the fact that they were the long lost heirs of the $200,000 estate of the two Flynn brothers, Park Ridge hermits. They had been assured that their claims would put an end to the legal battle which has embroiled thirty-two distant cousins since 1926.

The elder brother is James Butler, 71 years old, of Bird City, Kas. The shack in which they sat is owned by John Butler, 68 years old. They discussed their trip to Chicago for the closing of the estate.

Dramatic Story Unfolded.

The dramatic story of the discovery of the two heirs was unfolded yesterday by John C. Vanek, a member of the Charles E. O'Connor company, which makes a business of finding lost heirs, and their attorneys, Otto F. Ring and Joseph Z. Uhlir.

It begins Aug. 9, 1852, in St. Mary's church, Granard, Ireland, when a priest married John Flynn Sr., a sergeant in the revenue service at Dublin, to his captain's daughter, Henrietta Goodiff. Her father, James Mainard Goodiff, a former captain in the royal fusileers, pursued the bridal couple to Liverpool where they took a boat for America.

The elopers came to Chicago and settled on a farm at Park Ridge. Two years later they were joined in America by Mrs. Flynn's sister, Charlotte, who had married Alfred H. Butler, also of Ireland. The Butlers moved to Tuscola, about 30 miles south of Champaign.

Brothers Known as Misers.

The Flynns remained at Park Ridge, where they raised a family of four children. A girl died, and three brothers, James, John, and Edward, inherited the farm. They lived in seclusion, avoided by their neighbors, who called them misers. Edward died in 1910. The two surviving brothers carried on.

In December, 1926, John, 72 years old, succumbed to pneumonia. James, 71, watched a doctor sign the death certificate, walked into another room and shot himself. A search revealed a fortune in currency hidden in secret caches in the house.

Five groups of contestants appeared to claim the estate. Each produced family bibles giving conflicting genealogical proofs of heirship. All of the names mentioned Alfred and Charlotte Butler, but the claiments insisted that they were dead without issue.

Children in Orphanage.

But in Tuscola the Butlers reared four children, among them John and James. Misfortune visited the family in 1884 with the death of the wife and mother. The father, Alfred, placed all four children in the Chicago orphanage at 5120 South Park avenue. He then left home and was never seen again.

James left the orphanage as a young boy. John was adopted by Agustus West of Vandalia and taken west. The other children, Andrew and Prudence, were adopted and have since died. James, after several years of wandering, settled in Bird City, married, and has four children.

John pursued various careers. He recalls his friendship with ex-Senator James Hamilton Lewis in Seattle when, as young men, he and the future senator worked together as longshoremen in Seattle. John finally wound up as a bachelor homesteader in Montana.

Hunts for Relatives.

Two months ago James Butler's wife died. He decided to take a vacation to forget his grief. He planned to use some of his leisure in tracing his ancestry. Mr. Butler learned of a cousin, Dr. Pierce Butler of Newberry library, with whom he corresponded about his family. The Bird City man learned that his mother had died in Tuscola and he set out to fulfill a wish of 66 years, a wish to see his mother's grave.

While he stood by the grave he was spoken to by a stranger. It was Vanek, searching for the missing heirs. He had traced the Butlers to Tuscola through the census records of 1860. Vanek explained his business. James told him of his brother, John, and the two set out for Marias, Mont.

Meet in Lonely Shack.

"I left them in a rude shack together," Vanek said. "It is 30 miles from the nearest good road. The reunion was casual. They merely said 'Hello, John,' and 'Hello, James,' and got into a debate about the respective merits of Montana and Kansas as farming countries.

"When I explained the whole story James seemed more enthusiastic about the fact that he could tell his children that they were of good families and that his grandfather had been commended for bravery by George IV, than the impending heirship. John displayed more interest in questions of farming."

James will bring his brother to Chicago with him. Both will appear in the Probate court to claim the estate. Petitions of their claim are being prepared by Attorneys Ring and Uhlir.

Orders Arrest for $206 Default in Alimony Case

Superior Judge Gentzel yesterday issued a writ of attachment for the arrest of Louis Kosky, a butcher, who is $206 in arrears on alimony payments to his former wife, Mrs. Mary Kosky, 24 years old, 4321 Lexington street. Mrs. Kosky won a divorce on April 13, 1929.

Cruelty Charged

Mrs. Edith Harrison Manierre, daughter of former Mayor Carter H. Harrison, was granted a divorce on Monday from Cyrus Edson Manierre, president of the Stockyards Transit company and member of a prominent Lake Forest family. The terms of the decree, which was granted by Judge Claire C. Edwards in chambers at Waukegan, became known yesterday. Mrs. Manierre cited two instances of cruelty.

The Manierres were married at the Harrison home on April 25, 1916, soon after Mr. Manierre's graduation from Yale university. On June 3, 1927, Mr. Manierre struck her with his fist and knocked her to the floor, his wife charged. On Dec. 27, 1929, he shook her, cursed her, and threw her to the floor, whereupon she left him, Mrs. Manierre said.

Her testimony was corroborated by a servant, Mary Conrad. Mr. Manierre attended the hearing, but did not testify.

By terms of a settlement Mrs. Manierre obtains the home and its furnishings at 294 East Rose terrace, Lake Forest, and a payment of $9,000 yearly. If she remarries the yearly payment will be reduced to $4,500. Mrs. Manierre is given custody of her sons, Cyrus Jr., 10 years old, and William, 6, except for three months each year, which they shall spend with their father.

BALMY BREEZES FLEE; SCIENCE EXPLAINS THEM

Stagnant Air, Not Spring, Receives Credit.

While spring was bidding Chicago adieu yesterday there came from the weather bureau at Washington, D. C., an explanation of the causes for the phenomenally mild weather which has visited the northern belt of the United States for the last fortnight.

The local forecaster, J. R. Lloyd, predicted that rigorous winter would be back in Chicago today for a stay of undetermined length. A fresh, cold wind from the northwest would sift snow during the day upon the streets where children have been playing summer games and in the parks where the first hardy spring plants have sprouted.

Credit Winds from South.

Stagnant atmospherical conditions, which permitted a steady flow of semi-tropical winds from the south, was mainly responsible for the unseasonably warm weather, according to Charles L. Mitchell, district forecaster at Washington.

As explained by Mr. Mitchell, conditions began shaping for the record breaking mild spell about the middle of this month. On Feb. 16, he said, warm breezes from the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean sea and the Gulf of California began moving northward, a movement which was marked on Feb. 17 by the breaking of the temperature record at Phoenix, Ariz., with a reading of 86 degrees.

"On Feb. 18 the southerly winds had brought rising temperatures to Missouri, Iowa, South Dakota and Illinois," Mr. Mitchell said. "At St. Joseph, Mo., a February record of 72 degrees was reported and at Huron, S. D., a record of 70 degrees.

Similar to Heat Wave.

"On the 19th the warm winds from Texas, Arkansas and the southern states were being felt in Ohio, Michigan and western Pennsylvania.

"Southern winds are normally interrupted after one or two days' duration. But this year atmospheric conditions were stagnant. Had the same conditions occurred in midsummer the whole northern section of the country would have experienced a long, sweltering heat wave."

Mr. Mitchell said that by Feb. 20 the warm wave had penetrated to the Canadian border, as far north as it could go. The result was an expansion of the warm area eastward to New England.

Warmth Begins to Fade.

By Washington's birthday the warm wave blanketed the whole country from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. Yesterday the warm spell began to fade in the far west and northerly regions, Mr. Mitchell said.

A brief thunder shower broke over Chicago about 2:30 a. m. Thereafter the mercury declined, but reluctantly. The temperature was 60 degrees at dawn, probably the warmest February daybreak in the history of the city. But between 7 and 8 a. m. the south wind which had been pouring southern weather into the central states for ten days suddenly veered to the west and the thermometer signalized the change by skidding 14 degrees.

PALE FACE INDIANS BECOME QUESTION OF FEDERAL COURT CASE

A fabulous land in the Colombian republic, inhabited by white Indians with blue eyes and flaxen hair, where platinum and gold were used for cooking utensils and the children played marbles with emeralds, where shallow wells gushed forth oil and the ground held a potential capacity of 500,000 barrels a day—all this was told in a prospectus read in Federal Judge Lindley's court yesterday.

Joseph Devore, 60 years old, and Henry J. Froelich, 75 years old, were on trial, charged with using the United States mails to defraud. Assistant United States Attorney Lyman Sherwood claims the prospectus which Froelich admitted mailing contained statements which were not true. The trial will continue today.

DEFENSE ALIBI BROKEN; MURDER CASE TO JURY

A jury in the court of Judge Philip J. Finnegan early today was debating the fate of William Lenhardt, 22 years old, of Cleveland, who is on trial for the murder of Milton Valisopoulos, who was slain in a holdup of his restaurant at 803 West 74th street on June 19, 1929.

The case was given to the jury at 10:30 p. m., after Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Leonard Murphy had made pleas for the death penalty. Attorney Wilbert J. Crowley made the closing plea for Lenhardt.

In the afternoon the prosecutors broke down the defense alibi that Lenhardt was in Cleveland at the time of the shooting and forced Mrs. Catherine Gidrioc of Cleveland, a defense witness, to confess a perjury. Judge Finnegan ordered her held for sentence today along with John Radlo of Cleveland, who gave the same version from the stand.

Mrs. Gidrioc had produced a repair bill from the garage of her husband which she said Lenhardt paid on the day after the slaying. Mrs. Mary Mack, an employé of the garage, testified for the state that the bill was framed up only a few days ago before Mrs. Gidrioc came to Chicago to testify.

Reds Threaten to March in Loop; Guard Buildings

Informed that groups of radicals were planning to march on the city hall and federal building at 10:30 this morning, Deputy Chief of Detectives John Egan last night assigned ten policemen to patrol each building during the day. Egan's informant said the Reds planned to meet at Musicians' hall, 175 West Washington street, divide into two groups there and proceed to each building with banners flying.

Wife of Jim Tully Gets Divorce in 24 Hours

Las Vegas, N. M., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Twenty-four hours after Mrs. Margaret Tully, wife of the "hobo author," James Tully of Hollywood, had filed suit for divorce here, a decree was granted her on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Tully's request for restoration of her maiden name, Margaret R. Myers, was granted. She asked neither alimony nor court costs. She told the court her husband's "temperament was too much to bear."

HOOVER REPLIES WHEN ECONOMY PLEA IS DERIDED

Glass and Watson Clash on Senate Floor.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—President Hoover's efforts to hold down governmental expenditures involved him today in new difficulties with the senate. Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], former secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet, led the attack upon the President in a discussion which interrupted consideration of the tariff for nearly two hours. Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, defended the President and became the center of a running fire of debate, in which he was interrupted by numerous anti-administration senators.

The President during the day issued a statement which was obviously intended to pacify congress.

Asks Nation's Support.

"It should be understood that the unprecedented drive now in progress for new legislation and for expansion of established services which increase expenditure beyond the budget, only in a small per cent originates with members of congress or heads of government departments," said the President. "It originates from different sections of the country itself and from various groups and organizations, each vigorously supporting their own projects. Many of these projects are worthy and no doubt can and should be undertaken some time over future years, especially when funds are free by completion of legislation already adopted.

"I hope that the people at home will realize that the government cannot undertake every worthy social, economic, military and naval expansion, increases in pay to government employés, expanded pension systems, or public improvement projects—and will support the members of congress in their coöperation with the administration to hold down the new proposals for additional expenditures. We have enough resources to take care of the budget and such necessities as marginal cases of disability among veterans and the speeding up of public works that we have undertaken to assist employment and some proposals of lesser importance, but this is no time for general expansion of public expenditure."

Glass Reads Message.

Senator Glass had not seen the President's statement when he made his speech. Later he obtained a copy and read it to the senate. He commented somewhat sarcastically that it seemed that "the President had no intention whatever of intimating there might be an extraordinary extravagance on the part of congress, but was warning the country against importuning congress."

In opening his original attack upon the President, Senator Glass quoted the statement issued yesterday by Walter H. Newton, one of the President's secretaries, in which new appropriations above budget estimates aggregating $1,750,000,000 were listed and in which it was suggested that a 40 per cent increase in taxes would be necessary if all of these items were approved by congress.

"There is no amateur who has the remotest knowledge of the legislative processes in congress who could not have told the President that he was setting up a straw man merely for the purpose of knocking him down," said Senator Glass. "I say, and I say it deliberately, that nothing more shameless has ever emanated from the White House within my 30 years service in the congress of the United States. Inevitably one would get the notion, from reading this White House statement, that we here in the capitol have been guilty of improvident and flagrantly extravagant expenditures when a tyro could have informed the President that perhaps there has not been a session of congress in 50 years, if ever, during which numerous bills have not been introduced, chiefly for consumption back home, proposing appropriations which the proponents of the measures themselves never entertained the remotest belief would be enacted into law.

"Yet here we have this summation of idle bills introduced in congress in order to warn the country that the congress is about to involve the treasury in insuperable difficulties and about to impose a measure of taxation upon the American people unheard of before."

Watson Explains Matters.

Senator Watson, defending the President, asserted that in yesterday's breakfast conference at the White House there was no intimation of any extravagance on the part of either the house or senate. It was made clear, he said, that the existing budget could be carried out with a margin above it for emergency appropriations.

Anti-administration senators who took a hand in the debate included Senators Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], W. F. George [Dem., Ga.], Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont], and Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.].

BOY HELD FOR STEALING CHECK.

Edward Gregory, 15 years old, 528 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park, was arrested yesterday when he attempted to cash a stolen check at the Mercantile Trust and Savings bank. He admitted stealing the check from a mail box.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—House interstate commerce committee today approved the Parker bill to place motor buses operating in interstate commerce under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission.

Expenditure of $525,000 for a 200 bed addition to the veterans' hospital at St. Cloud, Minn., was proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Knutson [Rep., Minn.].

Representative Browne of Wisconsin urged passage of his bill to prevent use of oleomargarine in the national Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers or any other federal institution, as a means of promoting the dairy industry.

Senate today confirmed the nomination of Sawyer Smith to be United States attorney for the eastern district of Kentucky.

Nomination of William D. L. Starbuck to be a member of the federal radio commission for a four year term was confirmed by the senate.

2 AUTOISTS TELL VIVID STORY OF KENOSHA WRECK

Eyewitnesses Are Found to Disaster Fatal to 11.

Occupants of the "mysterious automobile," believed to be the sole witnesses to the North Shore train wreck in which eleven persons were killed and 113 injured Sunday night at Kenosha, were interviewed yesterday by deputies of Coroner A. B. Schmitz of Kenosha county. Their stories differ from the sketchy versions heretofore pieced together from survivors' accounts, and will probably be featured when an inquest into the tragedy is opened next week.

Roy E. Shaw, Kenosha carpenter, denied yesterday that the automobile which caused the wreck had passed his car as he waited for the trains to clear the crossing. No other eyewitness had been found who could tell what happened just before the North Shore passenger train crashed into the auto, caromed into a passing freight train, and catapulted off the tracks into an eight foot ditch. Norman E. Shinners of Milwaukee had been identified as the driver of the wrecked auto and Frank Tomczak of Kenosha was his passenger. Both were among the dead.

Witnesses Are Found.

Yesterday afternoon, however, it was learned that Algo Lindquist, 37 years old, an employé of the Matt White Rope company, 1722 Twenty-seventh street, Kenosha, was driving west on Washington street toward the crossing where the wreck occurred just before the crash. With him was Miss Irene Sand, 37 years old, who is employed at the Willowbrook sanitarium in Kenosha.

When he was a block from the crossing Lindquist said he heard the signal bell and saw the red wig-wag signal swinging back and forth. The freight train was then a quarter of a mile down the track and he saw the limited approaching from the other direction, with headlight shining.

Lindquist stopped his car about fifty feet from the crossing and Shinners' auto passed them at a speed of about thirty miles an hour and moved on the tracks.

Both witnesses said the freight train missed Shinners' car by only a few feet. Some early reports had it that the freight struck Shinners' car, throwing it in the path of the limited.

The passenger train struck the rear of the auto, the gas tank exploded, and the machine was thrown in a great flaming arc into the air, where it described two or three complete revolutions and landed in front of the passenger train. Car and train plunged into the ditch together.

Remain at the Scene.

Lindquist then backed his car about 200 feet and both stayed at the scene for several hours. Miss Sand made her statement to the sanitarium superintendent and Lindquist is understood to have told the story to the superintendent of the rope company.

In Kenosha yesterday L. B. Atwood of Madison, a member of the state railroad commission, was reported to have said that his investigations showed the limited was traveling between forty and fifty miles per hour, which he said was in defiance of the state law requiring a train to maintain a limit of not more than twenty-five miles an hour at such a crossing.

Kenosha's district attorney, Morris Barnett, was also interested in the train's speed, inasmuch as the city has a thirty mile speed limit in its outlying districts.

Senate Told Huston Sought Shoals Plank by Both Parties

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, helped draft the Muscle Shoals planks which American Farm Bureau federation spokesmen urged upon both Republican and Democratic national platform makers in 1928, it was disclosed to the senate's lobby committee today.

Neither party, according to Chester Gray, the federation's Washington representative on the stand today, accepted the proposed resolutions indorsing private operation of Muscle Shoals which, Gray testified, were written by Huston, then president, and J. W. Worthington, executive director of the Tennessee River Improvement association.

The latter association has lobbied for several years for the passage of legislation accepting the bid of the American Cyanamid company for a lease on the Muscle Shoals project.

"Carry Tennessee for Hoover."

Gray, undergoing his fourth day of cross-examination, admitted that Huston and Worthington had several conferences "to decide what would be put in the Democratic platform on Muscle Shoals," and that after the conventions, they planned a campaign to carry Tennessee for President Hoover.

Letters found in Gray's files by the committee's investigators had Gray quoting former President Coolidge as suggesting that E. A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau federation, come to Washington to help "keep southern senators in line for the Snell resolution," providing for the appointment of a joint congressional committee to receive and study bids for Muscle Shoals. Gray admitted he "worked some" on the personnel of the joint committee, of which Senator Deneen [Rep., Ill.] was named chairman, and that he had opposed the appointment of Deneen.

Pressed to name a single senator whom he could depend on to vote for the pending Wright bill, which incorporates the Cyanamid company's offer for Muscle Shoals, Gray was able to name only Senator W. E. Brock [Dem., Tenn.]. Brock, the federation official, was led by Senator Robinson [Rep., Ind.] to admit "he has been a contributor to the Tennessee River Improvement association for years."

Bell Details Cyanamid Offer.

W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid company, today detailed to a house committee the Air Nitrate corporation's proposals for a power project at Muscle Shoals. The corporation would take over plants already built by the government at a cost of about $60,000,000, and would create an electro-chemical manufacturing center with the expenditure of about $60,000,000 more of federal money. His company would pay interest upon and amortize only $37,000,000 of the original investment, since $6,000,000 of the war time investment "should properly" be allocated to flood control; $17,000,000 to improved navigation; and "at least $7,000,000 to loss, swept away by war stoppage of construction."

Two "Big Shots" Named as 59 Are Indicted in Indiana

The mysterious federal grand jury convened on Monday with great secrecy at South Bend yesterday returned an incomplete report, naming 59 defendants in 36 true bills. Violations of the auto theft, prohibition, and narcotic laws are cited. United States Attorney Oliver Loomis described John Floros and John Eads of Fort Wayne, both alleged bootleggers, as the "big shots" named in the indictments. The grand jury probably will complete its work today or tomorrow.

DIVIDED into groups determined by wheelbase, the new Pierce-Arrows share equally the latest engineering developments, the newest beauty elements, and every fine distinction that belongs to this patrician line.

Among the new Pierce-Arrow features, present in all three groups, the new transmission is attracting marked attention.

Silent gear-shifting, and a quiet intermediate gear, with the smoothness and speed of ordinary high, is an almost unbelievable motor car development. That it has arrived, and is practical, is best evidenced by the fact that it has been proved and adopted by Pierce-Arrow.

Naturally, the new Pierce-Arrows are the most distinguished expression of the finest designers and decorators in the field of quality automobiles. Each model is a refreshing study in Pierce-Arrow coachcraft.

Pierce-Arrow body engineers have vied with the new elements of beauty in the designing of roomier interiors, and the development of even more luxurious riding qualities.

GETS DIVORCE

MRS. BARBARA GUGGENHEIM WALDMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 25.—A divorce was granted to Mrs. Barbara Guggenheim Waldman here today from her husband, Dr. Milton Sylvester Waldman, London writer. Mrs. Waldman was the central figure of a tragic accident in New York a year and a half ago, when her two children, Benjamin, 14 months, and Terrance, 4 years, fell 12 stories to their death. Mrs. Waldman was visiting the pent house apartment of a friend on East 75th street at the time.

She told the police that while she was sitting near the edge of the roof with the younger child on her knee the other boy attempted to climb into her lap, lost his balance and fell over the wall, dragging his baby brother with him.

At that time it was known that relations between Mrs. Waldman and her husband were strained and there were rumors of divorce proceedings. She is a daughter of the late Benjamin Guggenheim, copper magnate, who went down with the Titanic in 1912.

SAVES FAMILY, SELF AS AUTO UPSETS, BURNS

Forces Door and Shoves Three to Safety.

Edward L. Jacobs, 9356 Elizabeth street, yesterday saved himself and his family from burning to death when his automobile overturned in a deep ditch and burst into flames near Sterling, Ill. Edwards forced open a door, pushed his wife, his son, Bert, 12 years old, and his daughter, Lois, 6, up out of the wreckage and crawled to safety. Flames licked against his clothing as he escaped. Mrs. Edwards suffered a sprained ankle.

Three deaths yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 128. The victims:

Robert Russell, 5 years old, 3126 Lexington street. Fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile at Albany avenue and Harrison street. The driver, Michael Faciana, 4200 Congress street, was held.

Edward Schenesky, 22 years old, 10410 Indiana avenue. Died of injuries suffered when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by an Indiana Harbor Outer Belt Line freight train in Riverdale. A companion, Robert Kirkwood, also died of injuries and another, Charles Morich, was seriously hurt.

Ignatius Hutter, 40 years old, 2838 East 89th street. Died in the County hospital of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by an auto at Jeffery avenue and 79th street. The driver, Edwin Wright, 7811 Bennett avenue, was not held.

A coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Hanna Wilson, 42 years old, 3639 North Francisco avenue, held William Ratlih, 3915 Pine Grove avenue, to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. Mrs. Wilson was fatally injured on Feb. 9 when she was struck by Ratlih's car at Western avenue and Irving Park boulevard.

Thomas J. Davis, 876 Oakdale avenue, an exporter with offices at 189 West Madison street, was probably fatally injured last night when he was run down by an automobile at Oakdale avenue and Halsted street. He was taken to the Chicago General hospital. Morris Waldman, part owner of the Wigwam cafe at 3750 Broadway, was held by the Sheffield avenue police while they investigated the accident.

Miss Grace Gross, 22 years old, 1234 South 61st court, Cicero, and her aunt, Mrs. Marion Schiffauer, 35 years old, of the Alcazar hotel, 3000 Washington boulevard, were critically injured when they were struck by an automobile at Washington and Sacramento boulevards early this morning.

RETURN WOMAN TO SERVE YEAR IN BALLOT CASE

Mrs. Leona Coine, convicted of vote frauds in City Collector Morris Eller's 20th ward at the election of November, 1926, was brought back to Chicago yesterday to begin serving a year's sentence imposed by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. Mrs. Coine has fought the sentence for three years.

Mrs. Coine was a clerk of elections in the 12th precinct at which Mrs. Tina Wortman, now serving a similar sentence, was a judge. They were charged with making false returns and duplicating votes in favor of Morris Eller for trustee of the sanitary district. The charges were prosecuted by Special Assistant States Attorney Charles Center Case and Grover C. Niemeyer, then attorney for the board of election commissioners.

The women appealed to the Supreme court and later to the governor for pardon. Mrs. Wortman began serving her sentence last May. Mrs. Coine jumped bonds of $5,000 and fled to New York. When she was found and extradition proceedings for her return were begun, she sought release in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Gets Six Months in Jail for $605 Alimony Arrears

Ray Goberville was sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday by Superior Judge Gentzel for failure to meet alimony arrears of $605 to his former wife, Mrs. Violet Goberville, 5749 Shields avenue. Goberville was arrested in the home of his mother at 430 West 57th street. He told the judge that he could not meet payments because he was out of work. Mrs. Goberville won a divorce on Sept. 26, 1925, and was awarded the custody of two children, Marion, 6 years old, and Shirley, 4. In passing sentence Judge Gentzel said, "The children can't eat snowballs."

ing into construction come from all sections of the country. Several years ago I traced back in part the materials and equipment of a modest sized structure erected in the middle west, and found that at least forty states had furnished something, and that practically every class I railroad had some share in the transportation.

"A public construction program involving an expenditure of $800,000,000 for buildings means employment to tens of thousands of workmen in the building trades, and many more in the industries whose products go into structures. The income of these workmen is spent not only for food products, but for clothing and hundreds of other articles. Purchases of these articles mean employment in those industries.

$1,500,000,000 for Highways.

"The federal, state and county governments plan to spend about $1,500,000,000 for rural highways. Probably two-thirds of this amount will be expended for new construction. This means employment in every state and practically every county.

"The municipalities are spending about $40,000,000 for streets and probably $300,000,000 for utilities such as sewers, sewage disposal plants, and water.

"It is not so much the increase over normal expenditures that counts as the prevention of a drop such as has usually taken place during past depressions. To continue normal expenditures will not upset the future. If governmental agencies and corporations with available surpluses can and do maintain normally planned work, it will have a tremendous effect on all business activity."

400 Builders Attend Dinner.

Some 400 architects, engineers, contractors and producers of building materials attended the dinner. W. M. Buchroeder, president of the Chicago club of the council, presided, and F. P. Byington of New York, president of the producers' council, was toastmaster.

A drop in construction costs was pointed to as an incentive for repairs and additions in private construction by Ernest J. Russell of St. Louis, architects' representative on the Julius Barnes committee of the national chamber of commerce.

"It's unfortunate no figures are available on private building such as Dr. Gries submits for public construction," said Mr. Russell. "I think there is plenty of money available to carry on the building industry. There is a tremendous amount of repairs, additions and alterations which could be profitably made at this time. In some instances we find a 20 per cent reduction in costs of construction."

ACE OF RUMANIA'S SPIES SELLS WAR PLANS TO RUSSIA

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

BUCHAREST, Feb. 24.—Despite the government's denial that Jon Tibacu, chief of the Rumanian secret police, recently arrested on a charge of espionage on behalf of Russia, had communicated information of no value to the soviets, it is now stated he has confessed the sale of Rumanian mobilization plans to Moscow for $12,000

Tibacu, a native of Bessarabia, was entrusted six months ago with the task of preparing a report on Russian troop mobilizations along the Bessa- intrusted six months ago with the acquainted with Rumanian counter measures. It is alleged he sold these to Russia through the soviet trade mission in Berlin.

With such exact information, the Russian frontier guards were able to arrest and execute 42 of them. The last case of the kind occurred three weeks ago, a spy having been captured, it is said, bound to a horse's back and used as a running rifle target by soviet soldiers in full view of .umanian guards on the opposite bank of the Dniester.

Philadelphia Man, Veteran of 4 Wars, Is Dead at 124

YOUTH SORRY FOR ROBBERY, TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

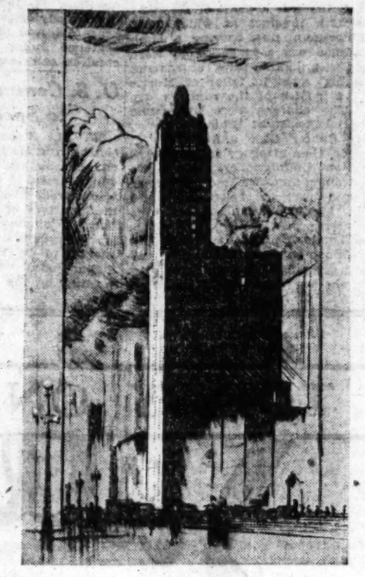
Shame over his inability to find work and remorse for a robbery he committed on Monday led Everett Nelson, 20 years old, to attempt suicide, he told Lieut. John McGinnis of the homicide squad last night at Jefferson Park hospital.

The youth's father, C. T. Nelson, 56 years old, a railroad worker, found Everett in bed at their home, 2202 West 21st street, last evening bleeding from a bullet wound above the heart. The youth told his father he had been been shot accidentally at a factory where he had been working.

Later he told police he had been shot by a companion, his accomplice in a bank robbery, when they quarreled over division of the loot. Finally, under persistent police questioning, he said he had lost his job a week ago and had robbed a grocery on Monday to conceal his loss of work from his parents.

Former U. S. Investigator Guilty of Grand Larceny

John G. Ginter, 35 years old, formerly a narcotic squad investigator and more recently a traffic manager for the Americn Highway Express company of Chicago, was convicted of grand larceny at Marion, Ind., yesterday. The evidence showed that Ginter directed John J. McBride, a truck driver, to deliver 49 radio sets to Michael Corsi of Oak Park on fraudulent bills of lading.



We shall move on March 1st to 230 North Michigan Ave., the new Carbide & Carbon building, where precisely planned space on two floors will provide improved accommodations for our augmented staff and increasing business. The telephone, Randolph 4952.

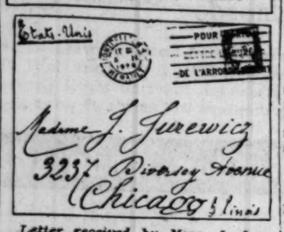
From Montpelier, France



Letter received by Mme. J. Jurewicz, 3237 Diversey avenue, Chicago.

Montpelier, capital of the department of Herault, in southern France, is famous as the former home of Louis XIV. The town bears evidence of his influence in many ways. There is an imposing equestrian statue of the French monarch in the Place de Peyrou, while opposite the entrance is the Porte de Peyrou, a triumphal arch erected at the end of the seventeenth century, commemorating his achievements.

The town has a population of around 90,000 and attracts many travelers interested in the antiquities and archeological treasures of the Rhone valley.

RICH OIL MAN LEAPS 8 FLOORS TO DEATH IN N. Y.

Wife Struggles in Vain to Prevent Act.

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—For half an hour today Mrs. Richard Howland Jones pleaded and finally struggled with her husband, a former naval lieutenant, and wealthy oil company executive, to prevent him carrying out his intention of committing suicide.

The unequal contest ended when Jones, a powerful man, weighing over 200 pounds, struck his wife on the head with a lamp pedestal and plunged to his death from the bedroom window of their apartment on the eighth floor of 1050 Park avenue.

The suicide followed a recent physical and nervous breakdown which forced Jones to resign his position as assistant sales manager of the Tidewater Oil Co. He returned last night from a sanitarium in New Jersey. Before entering it he had taken a voyage to Panama with his wife to recover his health.

Last night, Jones and his wife took a short walk and retired.

Screams Scare Neighbors.

Early today neighbors were awakened by screams and sounds of quarreling from the Jones apartment. A woman living directly below the apartment called the switchboard operator and asked that an employe be sent up to stop the noise.

An elevator boy was sent to the apartment and as he reached the 8th floor Mrs. Jones came running out and asked him to help her quiet her husband, who declared he was going to take his life.

Just what happened after that could not definitely be learned, for Mrs. Jones was in a state of collapse. One version was the boy helped quiet Jones and left him apparently asleep, after which he awakened, and the final struggle with his wife and the plunge to his death followed.

Was Annapolis Graduate.

The dead man was 35, a graduate of the United States Naval academy, of the class of 1916 and a member of the Army and Navy club of Washington, the Engineers club and the Nassau Country club.

His wife, 30, is the former Louise H. Conkey. They married April 30 last, in the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church at Annapolis.

PRISON CHIEF URGES BRITAIN TO KEEP ON HANGING MURDERERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—A committee of the house of commons, investigating the question of abolishing capital punishment, today heard Col. Hales, governor of the Pankhurst prison, make a fervent plea for its retention. He urged there should be no distinction between the punishment meted out to men and women.

"The death penalty, or hanging, is the only retribution for cold blooded murder," Col. Hales said. "The deterrent effect of capital punishment cannot be ovverruled. Further, it insures the permanent removal from society of a brutal member. My daily associations with criminals has taught me the majority of criminals would not hesitate to use a lethal weapon to avoid arrest, if it were not for the death penalty. Reprieved murderers generally display complete satisfaction and not much signs of repentance."

Abolition of the death penalty would probably result in gun battles in Bond street, Col. Hales suggested, adding such affrays seemed to be routine affairs in America, "where the death penalty is almost a dead letter."

NEW PARIS CRISIS AGAIN PUTS NAVY PARLEY UP IN AIR

May Vote to Go Ahead Without France.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—News of the defeat of the new Chautemps government in France was received here tonight with something like consternation. Prime Minister MacDonald had summoned the heads of the delegations to a meeting Thursday morning, expecting that Camille Chautemps, the premier, would be one of the five. In view of the circumstances, Mr. MacDonald, American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Italy's foreign minister, Dino Grandi, and Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief of the Japanese delegation, will undoubtedly meet to discuss the situation.

If there is any prospect of the French government being established within a week or so, the conference holiday may be continued. There is also the likelihood that the four delegations will decide to go on in the absence of the French, keeping the French officials informed of all progress. France has not been totally unrepresented, as its technical and political experts have been here throughout and have been working with the conference committee.

Italians Sunk in Gloom.

Sig. Grandi, who arrived from Rome tonight, has expressed a willingness to remain to await a new French cabinet or continue four power discussions. Italian participation in a four power parley would add little, since Italy is only interested in the size of the French navy. The situation is regarded with the utmost gloom by the Italians.

The good ship Three Power Pact was torpedoed by the British today. With it the Mediterranean Pact, the Atlantic Pact, and the whole fleet of paper ships, put afloat during the last few days of the naval conference, were sent to the bottom.

This action is doubtless the result of a heart-to-heart talk between Prime Minister MacDonald and Mr. Stimson when he was the secretary of state's guest at Stanmore Sunday night. Mr. Stimson is alleged to have told Mr. MacDonald that none of these proposals stood the slightest chance of being approved by the United States senate.

No Three-Power Pact.

The spokesman of the British delegation was appointed the executioner for this "slaughter of innocents." He declared first that a three power pact had never even been considered as a way out of the apparent difficulties of the conference. The delegates have all been so confident of arranging a five power pact for limitation that they have never even given this alternative a serious thought, he said.

In regard to the political proposals for Mediterranean or Atlantic pacts, Mr. MacDonald pointed out that such arrangements are entirely outside of the scope and power of this conference, as all powers on the Riviera would have to be included in order to make such a pact effective. He stressed that there never has been the slightest official suggestion of such arrangements. When pressed on this, he made the startling disclosure that the published summary of the French proposals, not an official document, contained the suggestion of a political pact, not included in the official conference document.

Further torpedoings today included freedom of the seas, protection of food ships, and other suggestions which have been made to enlarge the scope of a conference which was called to discuss naval reduction or limitation, and nothing else.

BRISTOL TO BECOME CHAIRMAN OF NAVY BOARD EXECUTIVES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Rear Admiral Mark Lambert Bristol, the navy's best known diplomat, will become chairman of the executive committee of the navy general board early in April. It became known today that he will succeed Rear Admiral Andrew D. Long, one of the naval technical advisers at the abortive three power naval reduction conference at Geneva in 1927.

Rear Admiral Long retires for age on April 6. On that date Rear Admiral Bristol will take over the task of working out naval policy and developing the new naval construction program which must be worked out regardless of the results of the London naval reduction conference now in session.

Crump Is Put on Trial for Selling Bad Stocks

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Carol E. Crump of Chicago, president of the Indiana Real Estate Securities corporation, who was indicted by a county grand jury here for sales of worthless stocks, went on trial today in county criminal court.

3 PLEAD GUILTY IN LOFTUS TRIAL FOR AUTO THEFTS

Three defendants entered pleas of guilty yesterday in the first day of the trial before Federal Judge Woodward of John W. Loftus, former police lieutenant, and eight others on charges of transporting stolen automobiles under the Dyer act. Ted and Leo Baldwin, now serving sentences at Leavenworth on former Dyer act convictions, and Frank Bullard admitted charges against them.

Loftus is charged with having handled cars for an automobile theft ring. Three stolen automobiles were traced to him in 1927, according to Albert Ward, special assistant attorney general, in his opening statement.

Ward and Assistant District Attorney James C. Leaton charge that 200 automobiles were stolen in 1927 and 1928 by a gang led by the Baldwin brothers and Thomas Shea, a gangster who was killed in a gun battle in Detroit two years ago.

The Important Reason

FATS and oils are not digested like starches or proteins, they must first be emulsified in the body before they can be utilized as nourishment.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is pure cod-liver oil scientifically emulsified—prepared for easy and rapid digestion, just as Nature provides emulsified fat in milk.

This is the important reason why the cod-liver oil you take—should be emulsified—should be Scott's Emulsion.

SUPREME COURT DENIES REVIEW OF SNOOK CASE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The Supreme court declined today to review the conviction of James Howard Snook for murdering Theora Hix, and—unless other recourse is more successful—the former Ohio State university professor will be executed on Friday night.

Word of the Supreme court decision quickly reached his counsel at Columbus, O. They intend to seek a stay of execution from Gov. Cooper of that state, and also to ask the state board of clemency to review the conviction.

BRITISH SEE U. S. DROPPING FIGHT ON NAVAL BASES

Proposal Omits Demands Made by Hoover.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The American opposition to the London naval conference, THE TRIBUNE learns today, failed to stipulate the demilitarization of the British possessions in the western Atlantic as a condition precedent to the American acceptance of the naval reduction agreement.

As a result, according to critics, the Hoover administration is not only accepting an inferiority of fleet strength, as calculated by President Hoover, since he was holding out for 21 big cruisers, but in allowing Great Britain to maintain naval bases off the shores of the United States and athwart our overseas commercial traffic lanes.

British Experts Gleeful.

The American navy limitation proposals to the British government, the text of which is still being withheld from the American people by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, omits any reference, it transpires, to these bases. This omission is being viewed with satisfaction by British officials, who infer that the demand for abandonment of these bases by Great Britain has been dropped by the Hoover administration.

The British bases commanding the approaches to American shores are Halifax, Bermuda, Kingston, and Port Castries, on the Atlantic side, and Esquimalt, on the Pacific. These are three of the 27 naval bases scattered over the globe which enable Great Britain to protect its commerce with 50 naval cruisers, whereas America, with only seven such bases and only two of them qualified for the purpose, is compelled to rely on big cruisers with long steaming radius.

With Guam and the Philippines restored to the status quo of naval base facilities by the Washington treaty, as a result of the terms exacted by Japan, and Guantanamo, Cuba, and the Virgin island bases undeveloped, the Hawaiian islands and the Panama canal seem to remain as the only adequately functioning American bases.

See Public Opposition.

That the American delegation would have receded from its demand for 21 big cruisers and come down to the limitation of 18, which Great Britain sought to impose on us all along, without exacting concessions from Great Britain, including the demilitarization of the British bases off our shores, undoubtedly will figure conspicuously in the opposition at home to any navy limitation treaty concluded on this basis.

That the demand for demilitarization of British bases off our shores is voiced just by President Hoover is demonstrated by the fact that he brought the question up in his conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald on the banks of the Rapidan.

Mr. MacDonald, however, was not willing to concede a complete demilitarization of the British possessions off the American shores. He contended that the British bases and fortifications in the western Atlantic were antiquated, but that they could not be abolished without leaving the islands completely unprotected from sea marauders.

RUMANIA SCOLDS AT GERMANY FOR BROKEN ROMANCE OF ILEANA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The romance of Princess Ileana of Rumania with Count Alexander von Hochberg, the son of the German Prince of Plees and a British noblewoman, Daisy Cornwallis West, resulted in a diplomatic setto between Germany and Rumania today.

Echoes of wailing and curses by the Rumanian court and Rumanian press for the failure of the German minister at Bucharest, Herr von Mutuis, to warn the Rumanians against the British-German Adonis, Count von Hochberg, shook the Wilhelmstrasse today, but the German foreign office refused to allow itself to be flustered. It took a stand energetically in favor of its minister, stating that the prince is a private citizen in Germany now and his engagement or marriage is his own business.

The foreign office pointed out that the inquiries which the Rumanian minister at Berlin asked the republican authorities were about the blueness of Hochberg's aristocratic blood, but he failed to ask about his reputation. Count von Hochberg got into trouble with the authorities of his native Silesia several years ago when he was associated with a crowd of young men of loose morals, including a butcher boy who committed suicide in jail.

RUSSIA RELEASES 11 OF 14 JAILED JEWISH LEADERS

Chicago Rabbi Linked in Soviet Charges.

MOSCOW, Feb. 25.—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—The Russian foreign office has officially announced that eleven of the 14 arrested leaders of the Minsk Jewish community have been released, but the names of the three still under arrest have not been made public. The communist press in Minsk today prints the names of those arrested and the charges against each one. The name of Chief Rabbi Henachem Gluskin, however, is not mentioned.

The individual charges against the men are given as follows:

Benjamin Sakowiski, "a preacher with a crooked Talmudical mind, sentenced to be shot in 1919 because of stock speculations, but escaped. When business was bad he began trading with God, giving sermons and preaching 'save our children from the fire that is destroying the Jewish people.'"

Charge Illegal Meetings.

Of Rabbi Pevsner it is said "all illegal meetings took place in his house. He was the nerve center of the rabbinical anti-revolutionary organization, headed by the Fascist Zadik Lebbavitcher Rebbe."

Rabbinovitch is charged with being "a preacher who camouflages poisonous counter-revolutionary sermons with examples and stories," and Gordon with being "a leader who preached that the Jewish position is no better than in Egypt or in Spain under the inquisition."

Jacob Mizes, head of a rabbinical seminary, is accused of having directed a number of illegal seminaries. Simon Kabakov is charged with being a bourgeois leader. Krengel, an ex-jeweler and silversmith, is said to have utilized confiscated metal for making spoons and forks.

"Enemy to Workers."

David Shachor, "an ex-trader, was organizer of clerical unions and rabbinical seminaries," while David Salomon "is president of a society of rabbinical students, an outspoken counter revolutionary organization."

Rabbi Asher Kirshtein is said to be a "speculator who established loan societies that supported traders, profiting by the so-called 'new economic policy' of Lenin, an enemy to the workers." Moses Gabrielov, "Rabbi Gluskin's righthand man, chairman of the Jewish community when the white Poles arrived and hanged a revolutionary."

Iwiaaski, ex-merchant, is accused of being "an industrialist in whose house the searchers found correspondence with foreign Jewish counter revolutional organizations." Braude is "an ex-millionaire banker, who is furious at the bolsheviks."

Moses Chaim Levine is accused of being a "preacher, who created a rabbinical seminary in Preobrank, a suburb of Minsk."

LINK RABBI IN CHICAGO.

Rabbi Joseph Schnoyerson, the so-called Lebbavitcher Rebbe, repeatedly mentioned as one with whom Minsk Jewish leaders were in communication, and whose letters and instructions from Riga were found in possession of those arrested, is now in Chicago.

He is leader of the "habat" sect of pietists, with many adherents in the United States. In 1927 his arrest by the Russian government and subsequent release after international protest brought him into wide public notice.

He is descendant of a dynasty that exercised great spiritual power and influence over thousands of Jews in Russia and eastern Europe for the last 150 years.

SENATE APPROVES SLICE IN DUTIES ON SILK MANUFACTURES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Reductions in duties on silk manufactures were approved today by the senate. In several instances rates were restored to the level of existing law at the instance of the coalition of Democrats and radicals. There being no alliance between producers of the raw material and manufacturers such as was shown in yesterday's approval of high wool rates, the manufacturers were at the mercy of the coalition.

Senator John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], obtained adoption of an amendment reducing the duty on silk clothing from 65 per cent as proposed in the pending bill to 60 per cent as in the present law. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 39 to 38.

Senator W. F. George [Dem., Ga.], obtained a reduction in the duty on bleached and dyed silk yarns from 50 to 45 per cent, the vote on the amendment being 36 to 35. A reduction in the duty on velvets of pile fabrics of silk from 70 to 65 per cent, was approved by a vote of 40 to 35.

DOMINGO REBELS MOVE ON CAPITAL IN SHOTLESS WAR

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 25.—(AP)—An insurgent movement against the government of President Horacio Vasquez today held almost all the northern part of the Dominican Republic. The rebel forces are all well armed. Meanwhile Charles B. Curtis, the American minister, moved to bring about a peaceful settlement.

A provisional government controlled the rich country north of the Sierra de Cibao. It had the support of the Dominican Guardia, which disarmed police and government sympathizers. Santo Domingo itself was threatened by the insurgents who are encamped nearby. The national assembly will meet on Thursday to consider the situation.

President and Wife Return.

President Vasquez, who took refuge in the old Santo Domingo fortress yesterday, returned today to the presidential mansion, as did his wife, who fled to the American legation.

The insurgent movement so far has been free from excessive violence and has not taken on the character of a revolutionary attempt to overthrow the Vasquez government. Its leaders have demanded that the presidential elections in May be free from political juggling. The leaders of the government met with President Vasquez today to study means of placating the insurgents.

The government forces are small in number and short of arms and ammunition. They have been ordered to concentrate in the fortress.

La Opinion reported late today that the government had not accepted proposals to establish a provisional government to insure freedom of the election. It said that President Vasquez had decided not to resign and that Vice President Dr. Jose Alfonseca would reconsider his resignation.

La Opinion insisted that despite all reports to the contrary there was no shooting during the progress of the insurgent movement and no bloodshed so far. The newspaper looks for a peaceful end within 24 hours.

U. S. Diplomat, 28, Asks Peace.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Reports to the state department today from Santo Domingo disclosed the possibility that the revolutionary movement begun yesterday may be adjusted peaceably through the good offices of the American legation. John M. Cabot, secretary of the American legation and a young man of 28 years, has been appointed peacemaker and is negotiating with both factions in an attempt to prevent bloodshed.

INSURANCE MEN SEEK $10,000 TO AID DORR APPEAL

Insurance associates of Samuel Howard Dorr, recently found guilty of the murder of William O'Brien and sentenced to life imprisonment, yesterday began efforts to collect a $10,000 defense fund to appeal the conviction. The collecting committee is headed by Harper Moulton, an insurance broker at 164 West Jackson boulevard.

Mr. Moulton appeared as a defense witness for Dorr and has known him for some time. He said yesterday he would solicit all the insurance men he knows, telling them that Dorr did not have a fair trial and asking them to contribute. The committee is maintaining headquarters in room A 1526 Insurance Exchange building.

SEVEN YEARS' EXPERIENCE CONVINCES THIS FAMILY

Mrs. Walter L. Schoenig of 2001 East St., Pittsburgh, speaks for her husband and her children, as well as for herself, when she says: "We've never been without REM in our house since 'way back in 1923, when we first heard of it. My husband's a postal employee, and he and I and our children often get colds-and-coughs during the nasty weather we have in Pittsburgh in winter, and it's good to have some medicine we can depend on. Whenever we run out of REM, we get another bottle at once at McKees', corner of East and Royal. We think there's nothing like REM and the children don't mind taking it, either." You'll discover, too, just as the Schoenigs did, that REM is different and better than ordinary cough syrups. Be sure to get REM—you'll be glad you did!

REM's easy to take, too. Children and parents can both appreciate that!

STOP SIGN DRIVE TO OPEN POLICE SAFETY CRUSADE

Police Council Maps Work for New Season.

BY HAL FOUST.

Police Commissioner Russell's safety council, headed by Elmer T. Stevens, met with deputy commissioners in the city hall yesterday to initiate the 1930 police campaign to reduce the motor toll in Chicago.

The council decided that the police department, which can do nothing to relieve the structural hazards of the city's obsolete pavements, can best promote safety by enforcing ordinances relating to traffic signal lights, stop signs and reckless driving. As long as through traffic uses surface streets with grade crossings there will be many fatal accidents, but the toll can be retarded by enforcement of regulations, the council decided.

Plan Drive on Stop Lights.

For the month starting next Saturday, the police will be on the lookout particularly for those who speed through the amber lights or ignore the red lights or the octagonal stop signals. There will probably be many arrests; there were during the safety drive last fall.

"We're not going to harass the motoring public," said Commissioner Russell. "We're not going to split hairs over technicalities to obtain convictions. But we're going to collect fines from motorists who are careless of the life and limb of pedestrians and fellow drivers."

The police department issued its monthly bulletin on motor accident statistics. The figures indicated that the Chicago streets, with the ever growing volume of traffic, are becoming more hazardous. In January 844 accidents were reported. There were 187 persons injured last month, while 182 were hurt in January of 1929. In deaths the toll last month was 42, the same as a year ago.

Gives Figures on Arrests.

Statistics on traffic arrests by the police department from Oct. 7 to Feb. 1 are as follows: Running against traffic lights, 33,156; failing to obey stop signs, 53,005; improper lights or no lights, 34,521; speeding, 2,057; improper license plates, 9,348; violating safety zone regulations, 20,050.

The safety council was of the opinion that too much controversy would develop should it sponsor a campaign for strict enforcement of parking rules. Nevertheless, it was not denied that improperly parked automobiles constitute one of the big risks for both motorists and pedestrians on Chicago's streets.

AVIATOR DIVES OUT OF SKY TO GIVE FIRE WARNING; FOUR SAVED

La Porte, Ind., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. William Schoff and her three children owe their lives to the presence of mind of an aviator, who sighted their burning home early today and swooped down, his motor wide open, to arouse them from their beds.

The farmhouse was completely destroyed, the loss estimated at $8,000. Mr. Schoff was in the barn when he heard the plane and rushed to the house to lead his wife and children out of the house in their night clothes.

The noise of the plane attracted neighbors, who helped save other buildings from flames.

FIND HEAD OF NILES WOMAN IN CHICKEN COOP

Niles, Mich., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The head of Mrs. Rose Plovie, whose torso was found buried in an ash pit here yesterday after her husband, Philip, had committed suicide, was found in a bushel basket in a chicken coop at the rear of the Plovie home by police this afternoon.

The head was identified as that of Mrs. Plovie by Drs. J. G. Brodie and George Celter, dentist, who had done professional work for the victim.

The head was imbedded in straw in the basket and wrapped in a woman's coat. Dr. L. M. Rutz, city health officer, examined it and found the skull of the woman had been fractured on the left side by some blow.

Quincy (Ill.) Woman Faces Bigamy Charge

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ethel Hillard is in jail here in default of $5,000 bail, charged with bigamy. She was married to Hillard in 1924. Thinking her husband dead, she married a man named Gustison in Quincy last year.

She and Gustison were arrested about two weeks ago charged with cruelty to a 4 year old son of the woman.

HUSBAND SAYS CULT OF HANISH WRECKED HOME

Herman R. Huber, 5331 Cuyler avenue, a draftsman, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court against his wife, Mrs. Anna C. Huber, 50 years old. The bill charges that Otoman Zar Adusht Hanish, high priest of the Mazdaznans, a religious and health cult, now established in Los Angeles, broke up the Huber home.

The Hubers were married on Oct. 9, 1902. Five years later Mrs. Huber became a member of the cult, which then maintained a temple in Chicago. Hanish's power over her has made her think more of him than of her husband, the bill declared. Huber charges his wife has fits of temper and treats him cruelly because of his refusal to join the cult.

He further assails the cult as one "whose repugnant rituals of moanings, ravings and silly actions" have ruined his home life. He asks custody of their son, Herman Cullman, so that he may not join the cult. Huber says his wife derives an independent income from her activities in behalf of the cult.

NEPHEW LOSES SUIT AGAINST CUSACK ESTATE

Harold Cusack, nephew and adopted son of the late Thomas Cusack, president of Thomas Cusack company, billboard advertisers, yesterday lost his fight to collect $235,000 from the Cusack estate, which he claimed had been placed in trust for him. The Supreme court upheld a decision of Superior Judge Hebel which had been reversed by the Appellate court.

Thomas Cusack died in 1926 leaving the bulk of his $1,025,000 estate to five children, Mrs. Agnes M. Johnson, Thomas Jr., Charles E., Francis J., and Jane Evelyn Cusack. Before his death he had persuaded Harold Cusack to turn over to him holdings in the company valued at $235,000 on the promise of placing them in trust, the stepson declared. Harold Cusack charged that instead of turning over the trust fund his stepfather divided it among his children. He will ask a rehearing.

"Give me liberty to know, to utter and to argue freely according to my conscience, above all other liberties."
—Milton.

HOW IT'S GOING IN LONDON AND WHY.

Lady Astor spoke to America Sunday over the radio. She said that the American delegates to the London conference had made an amazingly good impression. "I have met them one and all often, and I have nothing to complain about." She said that they seemed to know what they wanted and were pretty certain to get it. "I hope and expect they will succeed. We all hope so."

Lady Astor is of Virginia birth, but her career is one of British marriage, British title and position in the house of commons. She is an expatriate. She may have a sentimental regard for the state in which she was born, but she found her values in life in British aristocratic society. From Virginia she looked abroad, sought the pleasant things of living and working there, and has been successful in her ambitions.

She says the American delegates are all right, and from the British viewpoint they probably are. Mr. Stimson and Mr. Morrow of the delegation belong to that small group of Americans who also look abroad for their values in life. They find in upper circles of British society an idealization of social conditions. If they could be quite certain that there was an American ruling class they would think of themselves as of it. It is easier in London for them to assume the prerogatives of this than to be sure in the United States that there are any.

In London it is easy to create for them an atmosphere in which they may be persuaded that they represent the cadet branch of the English ruling class, of the nobility and aristocracy, and as representatives of this cadet branch to see eye to eye with the aristocracy and thus to see that British proposals are the proposals which must be as acceptable to the junior aristocracy as to the older. In their social aspirations and conceptions they are different from the people of their own country, and economically they represent different interests.

This has been the attitude of the American state department toward the British government for a generation, and in it is to be found the cause of its constant flunkyism. It explains now why the American is acting as the little brother of the British delegation in determining what shall be the relative strength of the American and British navies. Admiral Jones is coming home not only sick in body but sick at heart, made so by the willing futility of the men who control the American delegation. If there are other Americans who feel as patriots they lack the courage to protest and thus they assume responsibility.

The delegation has entirely lost the confidence of all Americans who are informed as to its actions and who can perceive the future trend of the negotiations and their probable consequences. It can serve its country only by coming home at once. The British ruling class, having met the Americans often and having nothing to complain of them, hopes that they will get what they want. All America now wants them to get is their passage home.

DEFENDING THE CONSTITUTION.

A Mrs. Hillix, president of the Buchanan county (Mo.) W. C. T. U., wants R. S. Paterson, who is seeking members for the Constitutional Liberty league, run out of town, and in fact out of the country. She says any one trying to undermine the 18th amendment or to overthrow prohibition is an outlaw. Meetings are to be called at the churches, etc., etc.

The passionate devotion of the W. C. T. U. to the constitution always engages our admiration. Mr. Paterson's fortunes in St. Joseph will be worth following. Also the fortune of the constitution, including that provision which purports to guarantee to all citizens the right of free speech.

A HINT FROM CECIL RHODES.

Recent discussion of the scholarships provided by Cecil Rhodes with the object of increasing Anglo-American understanding suggests that some American of large means and patriotism establish a similar endowment for scholarships in the universities of North and South America. There is real need for a better and more sympathetic understanding among the peoples of the two continents and the benefits in the long run would be mutual and substantial. Students from the United States, interested in the development of Latin-American culture, would find in the learning and social contacts of our southern sister republics a broadening and enriching experience, and Latin-Americans would gain, we think, by study and social life at our universities. Both when they returned to take part in the life of their own countries would be agents of better understanding, coöperation, and profitable exchange, in the higher concerns of civilization. There are several societies working upon intellectual coöperation in the universities of the two continents, but we think a student scholarship exchange on the Rhodes plan would be an important agency.

All countries of the western hemisphere have a community of interest and a similarity of viewpoint and aspirations which is less apparent than real. There are differences of language and culture which should not be permitted to obscure or defeat the possibilities of exchange in the higher commerce of ideas. These differences should increase the common wealth of our American civilization rather than divide us by unfriendly and unprofitable barriers. The material ties between the continents are growing rapidly, and they should be paralleled by the growth of political and social understanding and coöperation. We are common inheritors of a new world, frontiersmen of a new spirit, and, despite differences of language, history, and cultural sources, we have a common destiny which unites us more than we know and divides us from the world our forefathers left forever.

AIRWAY AND WATERWAY.

Among the commercial air routes there is perhaps none of greater potential service to Chicago business men than the Latin America line. Our traffic with Central and South America is destined to be vastly multiplied with the coming of the lakes-gulf waterway. Our buyers and our sellers will be in closer communication with nations to the south. The service which the Pan-American airways provides will count heavily for Chicago executives in competing for those markets and produce against European capital.

In four days Chicago travelers can reach Panama. The maintenance of schedule by Pan-American ships is exceptional. The time tables may be depended upon. Weather conditions are favorable for flying along the route. Ambitious Chicagoans are developing trade with Latin America and they are planning to take full advantage of the waterway when it is opened. They are men who know the virtue of saving an hour in the trip to New York. They will readily appreciate the value of saving days and beating European competitors by days in the race to South America. The Pan-American airways will be an indispensable auxiliary to the waterway.

Mr. Steele's dispatch telling of the elaborate system of airlines which the British have nearly completed should wake up American business men to the importance of air communication for American business. The British government has built two huge airships, R. 100 and R-101, and has mooring towers at Montreal, Ismailya (Egypt) and Karachi (India). Towers are also in preparation in South Africa and Australia. The R-100 is expected to make its first long flight, to Montreal, in May and the R-101 to Egypt in September. At the same time new lines for airplanes have been established and the general program for an imperial network of air communications is being advanced energetically. This is highly creditable to the foresight and initiative of British commercial genius and should inspire us to emulation.

A SUCCESSFUL DIPLOMAT.

Sir Esme Howard, retiring British ambassador to the United States, leaves Washington with the respect and sincere liking of all Americans who have met him or observed his conduct in his responsible post. He was an example which representatives of our state department at home and aboard might emulate. He was at all times courteous, friendly, persuasive, and devoted to the interests of his own country. Such an emissary does much for the development of understanding and amicable intercourse between nations, which is founded not upon weak compliances by either party but upon a firm and self-respecting presentation of national interests.

DEPORTATION OF ALIEN UNDESIRABLES.

The immigration authorities in Chicago are showing a commendable interest in the round-up of undesirables as it discovers aliens subject to deportation. There has been either a lack of efficiency or a lack of means in this protection, and Chicago has conspicuously suffered from it. A vigorous enforcement of the deportation provisions of the immigration laws and, if need be, an increase of the facilities of the government for apprehending deportees will reduce our crime record substantially.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

While President Hoover is on his way back to Washington after fishing for tarpon and the gigantic sailfish in the ocean off Florida, his predecessor, Mr. Coolidge, is on his way to California perhaps to angle for such tame creatures as swim in tepid streams. In an interview at New Orleans Mr. Coolidge is quoted as saying: "President Hoover likes deep-sea fishing. I prefer the creeks." Unquestionably he said "cricks."

Mr. Coolidge exemplifies more than a mere taste in angling; he states his whole philosophy and points the contrast to the Hoover philosophy. So far as practical considerations are concerned, much can be said for fishing in creeks. Mr. Coolidge, as President, always wore hip boots and had the sound sense to avoid wading out over their depth. President Hoover launches out in deeper waters without even so much as a pair of water wings. The result must occasionally make him wonder whether one should not first practice deep casting on the water of some shallow and inglorious pool.

One can imagine Mr. Coolidge with the prohibition uproar. Being a creek fisherman, he would have appointed no commission and thus plunged the nation into bitter controversy. Mr. Coolidge would have said that the matter had been referred to the proper department and that as far as he could see things weren't so bad, and everybody would have been temporarily satisfied. On farm relief we need not speculate but merely recall the skill with which Mr. Coolidge, hardly wetting his ankles in the stream of controversy, called supply and demand and the constitution to his aid and put back the agrarians. Catch him forming a farm board and thus creating a thousand new fronts for the enemy to shoot at? Catch him calling a conference to "stabilize prosperity" and start a lot of "loose talk"? Not Mr. Coolidge. He leaves the fighting sailfish to Mr. Hoover.

Yessir, We Think Mr. Hoover Could Pull Down Five Bucks—

if he wrote the thing out neatly and nicely (write only on one side of the paper when sending matter to the press) and submitted it to our old friend, the w. k. My Most Embarrassing Moment Editor. Not that five bucks would mean much to Mr. Hoover, but in this day and age and over here in the land of the raging and all devouring stock ticker—well, five bucks is five bucks to one and all.

The story starts with Mr. Hoover a very short time back urging increased public works so as to relieve business depression and give jobs to them what haven't any job, of which there is said to be an exceeding large and constantly increasing number.

Yesterday's newspapers told us that at a White House breakfast Mr. Hoover looked right over the grapefruit and the soft boiled eggs and said quite sharply to the senatorial birds who were bumming him out of a square meal that there would have to be a forty per cent tax increase unless appropriations are pared.

And now comes the thing which ought to win the five bucks from the Most Embarrassing Editor. It's like this: If the appropriations are cut then the public works that had been planned will have to be cut. And then what to do about taking the curse off of business depression and giving jobs to them what have no jobs. But if the appropriations are not trimmed down with an ax then up jumps a forty per cent tax increase.

We'll say it's embarrassing, and if we were writing Mr. Hoover's letter for him we would wind up with something new and original, like: "Honestly, I cudda gone through the floor I was so embarrassed." Or wait; here's another good ending: "Say, you cudda knocked me down with a feather." But those are only suggestions. Of course, it's Mr. Hoover's story, and he can write it any way he wants to. And if the Embarrassing Moment Editor has got a heart in her bosom she'll send Mr. Hoover the five bucks.

WINTER TREES.

By day
the branches of old trees—as bleak and cold as long-dead eyes—seem bony fingers of old age seeking to clutch the blue of skies.

By night
these branches filigree
the hungry dark, until the grace of moonlight weaves them, thread and thread,

LUE MALLORY LUKE.

AFTER TODAY, just two more days and out goes February. And as the end of the month comes nigh we wonder if that darned old groundhog is going to make a liar out of us or not. We've been pulling for him strong and saying the weather would continue to be like merry old June and that on the last day of February there would be a wealth of sunshine and balmy air and singing birds and first robins and roses in the garden. But now we dunno. Well, one thing: we've stood enough, and if there's no roses and sunshine on the 28th we simply take down the old civil war musket, load her with shingle nails and bolt heads, and drop right around and have a little talk with that old groundhog. He's got away with that stuff long enough.

The Love o' Likker.

"Yessir," said the fat man to the thin man in the seat in front of us on the Boul. Mich. bus yesterday, "it's absolutely unbelievable the whisky that people will drink nowadays even when they know it's full of wood alcohol and all them horrible poisons the government sticks in it. Why, only last night a friend of mine came over to beg a drink, and I was just testing some hootch that I had got from my bootlegger. Some birds were stickin' around when I got the bottle, so I didn't have much left. Well, sir, I went ahead and made the tests with that patent testing set I've got. You know, if the stuff shows a tinge of blue in it when you put it in the last tube that means wood alcohol, fusel oil, barb wire, paris green, an' everything. Well, this stuff not only turned bluish, it turned a deep purple and then black with green polka dots, and sent up sparks like a Roman candle on the Fourth of July. So I told the guy that the whisky was not fit to drink, being just about sure death, but do you know that guy still begged for it."

"And did you give it to him?" asked the thin man.

"I should say not," said the fat man, indignantly. "It was the last whisky I had in the house. I drank it myself."

NOW REVOLUTIONS are kicking up a big rumpus in Santo Domingo and the marines may have to go. Doggone, don't those marines ever get a chance to take off their coats, untie their shoes, and sit around in their sox feet and smoke a cigaret and read the newspapers like the rest of us free and untrammeled American citizens do? Wot a life! Wot a life!

Why, 'Tis the Very Foundation of Our Government!

Great Scott! Is Mr. Hoover going to interfere in the most popular indoor sport that we Americans have? In his appeal to the people back home yesterday he said to stop writing to your congressman. What! NOT WRITE TO YOUR CONGRESSMAN TODAY? Why, you might just as well back our citizenry up against the wall and shoot 'em as to tell 'em they mustn't write to their congressman today. Why, all the joy would be gone from life, the bloom from the rose, the thing that makes life worth the living if the American citizen couldn't write to his congressman today. Something must be done about this. Mr. Hoover must be asked to reconsider. Do something, brother! Get busy, sister! Write to your congressman today!

LAGNIAPPE.

THE CABLE dispatches from South Africa say that the Prince of Wales has plunged into the jungles on his second safari. We'll bet a nickel he fell off the first one.

IF ANY OF THE FIRST ROBINS that are now infesting the back yard trees read, we warn 'em that since what happened on the Board of Trade yesterday they'd better stay out of the farmers' back yards; or, anyhow, they'd better stow their gab and not say "tweet, tweet!" A farmer might think they were saying "wheat, wheat!" and wring their fool necks off.

LETTER BY A PRISONER.

THE North Carolina Health Bulletin publishes the following letter received by the board of health and written by a prisoner in a jail in that state. The county authorities were once notified by the state health department that this jail was unfit from a health standpoint, but no action had followed.

"I . . . am confined to the common jail of ——— county for a term of ninety days. I probably wont need any introduction to you as I have wrote this place up once before and you can be assured that your man you sent here found things just like I had reported them. I am willing to admit I am just a prisoner like all prisoners an dont expect to get home treatment in jail but a prisoner has nothing to regard but his health. When that is gone nothing matters to them then it is hard enough to be confined in prime condition and still harder when you are sick and get no attention there are thirteen running soars on my body and I have asked for a doctor but he doesnt come to see me wont give me a blood test atall and I have reason to believe it is a dangerious disiese. I dont mean to be a sour face because I am in jail but I know from self experience that this county forces men to stay together with contagious desieses an as I have read the Law on that they are subject to be in jail to. When a man comes to the chan gang hear he must go to work without a chance to see the Doctor once when I was free the Doctor told me this jail was nothing but a dam nuisance to him thats how much interists he takes in the boys who are in jail.

"I guess you Gentlemen gets many letters of this kind which proves out to be nothing but a fake. So for that reason I will not ask you to believe my statement just send a man and let him see for self that what I say is true. One word in behalf of our jailer he is good to us and feeds us good that is all we expect of him. An I know the purseer [purpose] of the state Health Department it is for the good of the whole Human Race and honest to God it is needed here. The county officials have been warned several times but it doesnt do any good. So if you wish to run this letter it would please me very much they need something just like that to make them wake up to the fact that a prisoner is Human to, publish it if you wish to I will back up every statement I have made in this letter. I would write more that is Honestly truth, and will thank you in advance for your kindness if you will take some kind of steps to make health better in this jail."

Prisoners have very high tuberculosis rates. Epidemics of smallpox and other contagious diseases have developed in jails. Typhus fever was once known as jail fever.

Has a community a legal right to lock a man up in jail and then carelessly expose him to consumption, pneumonia, pellagra, or contagious disease? If it has the legal right, has it the moral right to do so?

NEEDS MENTAL CARE.

E. W. W. writes: I am a young man in the twenties. My father died about 18 months ago, and since that time I have had a morbid fear of illness and death; in fact, I am in constant fear something is going to happen to me. I have consulted two doctors and they both pronounce me sound, save for a slight sinus trouble, which is being treated. They say the only cure for my ailment lies in self-control. Despite all this the fear continues to get more pronounced. Can you suggest any line of reasoning or relief for my particular trouble?

REPLY.

Your cure must be mental. Join some class in mental training, if any is available. Get some books on the subject and study them.

IT'S NOT SERIOUS.

Mrs. A. M. writes: My baby girl 11 months old is well except for a rash—blisters and sores on her buttocks. I wash her diapers very carefully. What can I do?

REPLY.

Her skin is being poisoned by something. It is not serious and will heal quickly when she is trained to use the toilet. This training you should begin at once, not having already done it. Meanwhile use no rubber panties or dyed undergarments. Never let her stay wet a minute.

ACID IN THE BLOOD.

F. P. F. writes: I have been told that I have acid in my blood. Would an orange each morning be harmful?

REPLY.

An orange a day will not harm you. However, whatever your trouble is, your blood does not contain free acid. Acidity of the blood is fatal before it begins. A good stiff start in that direction will make the wheels stop.

WITHHOLDS BONDS.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In case of mortgage foreclosure on real estate, is bondholder who does not deposit his bonds with receiver entitled to same consideration as those who do, in event property is sold? 2. What are the legal and usual fees of receiver of real estate transactions? P. J. G.

Depends largely on how the matter is handled and how long you delay. Obviously, if you never surrender your bond, you will never get your money.

2. Depends on the extent of the assets and the services called for.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 26, 1865.

CHICAGO.—Franz Spindler was sentenced by Judge Williams in the Circuit court to death by hanging on March 10 for the murder of his wife by poison.

NEW YORK.—Robert Lincoln, son of the President, has reported for duty on Gen. Grant's staff.

WASHINGTON.—A delegation of ladies representing the Great Sanitary Fair to be held in Chicago in April next had an interview with President Lincoln to urge him to attend the opening. He replied that it was wearisome to him to see so many people, but as he knew it would gratify the people of the northwest to see him he would come if his public duties permitted.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Army of the Potomac correspondent says: "Unusual movements and activities have been observed in the rebel lines around Richmond during the last few days, indicating designs of some new enterprise on the part of Gen. Lee, and it is surmised that, alarmed by the presence of Sherman's and other national forces, he has concluded that the time for giving up both Richmond and Petersburg and falling back to Lynchburg or some other defensible position has at last arrived. Gen. A. P. Hill's corps is said to have been under orders for three days to be ready to march at a moment's notice."

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says that advices have been received from Gen. Grant's headquarters to the effect that the enemy are certainly evacuating Petersburg and manifesting signs of sending troops south.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 26, 1900.

LONDON.—Gen. Cronje and his Boer army continue to hold out at Paardeberg Drift, though surrounded on every side and bombarded incessantly by more than 100 guns of every size. He replies to every assault with vigor and apparently has no thought of surrender. He is described by one correspondent as being in what is practically a ditch two miles long, 150 feet wide, and 50 feet deep, with numerous gullies running at right angles on either side, enabling his men to burrow into the banks.

PAARDEBERG.—Gen. Dewet, with 7,000 Boers, made three desperate attempts to break through the British lines and aid Gen. Cronje. Three distinct assaults were repulsed, but the Boers finally captured and held a kopje.

LONDON.—Gen. Buller was only two miles from Ladysmith on Feb. 24, but his hardest fighting before he can reach the besieged garrison is yet to come, as the Boers have a strong force in the vicinity.

CHICAGO.—Franz Thielmann's garden on the lake shore at Surf street was destroyed by flames which the firemen had to battle in zero temperature. The thermometer's range yesterday was from 9 below zero to 10 above.

CHICAGO.—Lycurgus Laflin, son of Mathew Laflin, one of Chicago's earliest pioneers, died yesterday at Old Point Comfort, Va., where he had been a guest at the Chamberlin hotel since the beginning of the winter season. He was 70 years old. In his early youth he was a trapper and Indian trader. The Laflin home was built near the present Illinois Central station, facing Park Row. The house was built near Grand Rapids, Mich., and brought to Chicago by the tedious process of rolling. Later Lycurgus and his brother, G. H., dealt in paper and supplied the pioneer newspapers. They also dealt in real estate and Lycurgus' estate will amount to nearly $4,000,000.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 26, 1920.

LONDON.—The bill for Irish home rule, long promised, was presented by the government in the house of commons. As introduced it is based primarily on Premier Lloyd George's declaration in his speech of last December that "Great Britain cannot accept separation."

IRON RIVER, Mich.—The "army of invasion" brought here by Maj. A. V. Dalrymple of Chicago to quell the "whisky revolt" in northern Michigan has come—and gone. The major himself has gone; likewise the "600 rounds" of ammunition he brought along. When he arrived he declared he was here to recover wine taken from one of his agents by State's Attorney Martin McDonough and arrest McDonough. The latter went to Dalrymple's quarters and warned the prohibition director that if an attempt were made to arrest him or his assistants or enter any private homes in search of liquor he was prepared to jail every member of the federal party. A few hours later Maj. Dalrymple announced he had important business in Washington and would leave within an hour.

WASHINGTON. — Announcement was made at the White House that President Wilson has selected Bainbridge Colby, former "Bull Mooser," as secretary of state to succeed Robert Lansing.

CHICAGO.—John Charles Olmsted, famous landscape artist who made the preliminary plans for the grounds of the World's Fair here and designed Chicago's south park system, died at Brookline, Mass., at the age of 67.

THE MEANING OF PARITY.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—THE TRIBUNE is to be commended for giving so much space to an explanation of what naval parity with Great Britain really is. Discussions bring out the fact that many people still think that naval parity would be equality in tonnage or number of ships of equal naval strength, without considering the number of strategic bases Great Britain controls.

The value of such bases is very great. To illustrate: If Great Britain needed to maintain two cruisers at Gibraltar, three cruisers would be necessary, according to the opinion of the Navy League of the United States, for they have a base at Gibraltar at which one of the cruisers could be refueling and refitting. The nearest American base is at Hampton Roads, Va., over 3,300 miles away; consequently the United States would require, probably, three cruisers for absence from station, for purposes of refueling, refitting, or in transit between the base and the station, in order to maintain two constantly on station at Gibraltar, thus making a total of five cruisers for the United States and three for Great Britain.

At the Cape of Good Hope, figuring in similar manner, Great Britain would have to assign not more than three cruisers in order to maintain two constantly at the cape, while the United States, with Hampton Roads 6,500 miles away, would need eight cruisers in order to have two at the sea station, the cape.

The case would be reversed in considering Panama, for here the United States has a base, while England is 4,500 miles away, and Great Britain would need probably five cruisers in order to maintain two at Panama, while the United States would find three adequate.

In considering four stations, Gibraltar, the cape, Singapore, and Panama, the totals would be something like 14 cruisers for Great Britain and 20 for the United States.

The whole problem takes into consideration the many factors of geography, world trade, the location of economic bases as well as naval bases, and many technical problems of strategy, tactics, fire power, trained personnel, ship design, convertibility of merchant ships into war ships, balance of auxiliary power and strength in submarines and aircraft. Sight should not be lost of the speed with which many inventions make obsolete today that which was the latest thing yesterday.

It seems that if the United States is to have parity in naval strength with Great Britain we would require a total fleet half as big again; or, to put it another way, if we have parity in naval fleets, our naval strength would be equal to only about two-thirds that of Great Britain. CHARLES REYNOLDS.

A BATH FOR THE CITY.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Every year the warm spring winds make the snow disappear and leave on the streets all the dirt which has been accumulating during the winter. Now, if our city government had any sense of duty they would take the necessary steps to remove the dirt from the streets while it is still soft. Within a few days everything will have dried up, and the wind will blow the dust all over the city. If the city had not been robbed of its funds 5,000 of the unemployed could be engaged for one week at $30 each to clear the streets of the mud by attaching the fire department hose to the hydrants and sweeping the rubbish into the sewers. W. E.

THE FIGHTING DRYS.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—I see by a headline that the dry law is going to cause a civil war. I wish to add that the wets would have a fat chance combating the dry enemy, who would mainly consist of experienced sharpshooting government agents, not to speak of a tremendous army of bootlegging gunmen who unquestionably have no equal in marksmanship. No, Sherman was right, particularly against such odds. T. D. H.

THIS FORECAST DISTRICT.

Zion, Ill., Feb. 20.—I read in THE TRIBUNE "Mostly fair weather will prevail in this forecast district." What does "this forecast district" include? MARY M. HOLMES.

GERMANY'S PLIGHT—AND POLAND'S.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—While Prof. Lessing, in his letter on Germany's plight, deals with Germany's capacity to pay, he brings another important theme into it. It is obvious that he is trying to convert American people to be anti-Polish. This he does by putting in quite subtly and convincingly misrepresented facts as to Germany's "stolen lands."

Prof. Lessing calls Danzig the oldest German city. History states that it was founded by the Slavic people of no particular country because that was the time before there was any united Poland or Germany. In 1793, during the second partition of Poland, Danzig resisted the Prussian army for a whole month. It was finally conquered, but in 1807 Danzig became a free city. All this tends to show how German Danzig really was.

Now that a new Poland has been resurrected and land once belonging to her (though by all means not all) has been given back, Germany is under the impression that a great wrong has been done to her. She is still unsatisfied with the countless fortunes she has drawn from these lands. She even begrudges Poland a narrow access to the sea, which to a large country like Poland is absolutely necessary.

A person will admire Germany to a far greater extent if she will try to the best of her resources to pay and not whine about not having lands not belonging to her originally. If all people were to reason as Prof. Lessing does, there will never be world peace.

WALTER ZASCHE.

WHOSE INFERENCE?

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Your account of yesterday's unemployment demonstration in front of the city hall misses a few important points.

First, you fail to stress the utter brutality of the police in dispersing the crowd. An office associate of mine, coming from the Municipal court at the time, relates how the mounted policemen, with abandon, drove their horses on the sidewalks among the paraders and bystanders and cracked heads indiscriminately. The marchers, peaceful as they were, had the right to expect fair treatment from the police. Who committed a greater breach of the peace: the demonstrators blocking traffic or the police cruelly assaulting our citizens in this way?

Second, even if your reporters could not find many unemployed among the paraders—if they had been more diligent they could have located many, I presume—your inference that there is no unemployment problem is erroneous. There is unemployment and plenty of it; there is distress and plenty of it.

MORDECAI SHULMAN.

FARMERS AND PROHIBITION.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Greatly to be admired is the perspicacity of THE TRIBUNE in estimating the tremendous impact of the blow dealt the drys by a "successful farmer," who says farming is ruined by prohibition! The awful ruin has followed the closing of the great distilleries which no longer buy barley, rye and corn. But what is it these same farmers use but barley, rye and corn when they "distill great quantities of liquor," as he also testifies? So far as the economic aspect of the problem is concerned his facts seem to conflict. Prohibition, according to this "successful farmer," is also responsible for the greater sterility of the soil! If the wets must rely on such facts as these we fear they will have some difficulty in proving that the drys are fools and fanatics. E. C. ARNOLD.

THE NOBILE COURT-MARTIAL.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—I cannot approve your editorial, "The Report on Nobile." Why blame only Nobile? Who gave orders to Nobile to fly in the arctic wilderness the 24th day of May [a Fascist holiday], no matter how bad the weather conditions were? It is a fact that Mussolini would have had all the credit if things had turned out right. Why not blame all who are really guilty instead of a tool like Nobile? I blame Fascism. ARMAND NOBLE.

The only "4711" EAU DE COLOGNE, obtainable in the United States manufactured in accordance with the original secret recipe of 1792

The United States District Court has established the fact that the makers, in the United States, of 4711 EAU DE COLOGNE, in the bottle with the Blue and Gold Label, have not, and never have had, the original secret recipe.

It is this secret recipe which has made the original "4711" EAU DE COLOGNE famous throughout the world for over 138 years.

Speaking about the former representative in the United States of the original house of Ferd. Mülhens, Cologne, Germany, now president of Mülhens & Kropff, Inc., manufacturers in the United States of 4711 EAU DE COLOGNE in the bottle with the Blue and Gold Label, the court, referring to his moral obligations, stated:

"....These, in my judgment, he not only failed to observe, but deliberately and deceitfully transgressed in his claim to knowledge of the secret recipe; for I do not credit the statement that, if in fact he did not have such knowledge, he nevertheless believed that he had it."

Therefore, in order to obtain the original "4711" EAU DE COLOGNE in the United States, insist upon which contains the product famous all over the world and known by its Blue and Gold Label—which, except in the United States, is the exclusive property of the original House of Ferd. Mülhens, Cologne, Germany.

U. S. DRY AGENTS HELD FOR PART IN RAID KILLING

Tulsa Prosecutor Investigates Shooting.

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Three federal prohibition agents were held tonight in technical custody by the United States marshal pending result of an investigation by the district attorney's office into the shooting of two men, one of them fatally, in a liquor raid here last night.

George Lewis Redding, 30, at whose suburban home the shooting occurred, died early today. He was shot three times near the heart. M. L. Storms, a guest in the Redding home, received a bullet wound above the heart and his condition was regarded as dangerous.

The three prohibition agents participating in the raid were held in technical custody by the United States marshal.

W. I. Giddens, federal administrator for the eastern Oklahoma district, defended the officers. F. W. Wolverton, the agent who admitted firing the shots, was in danger of his life when he used his gun, Giddens declared.

Wolverton said he fired after Redding had attempted to shoot him with a pistol which Mrs. Redding had pulled from under a pilow and handed to her husband .

No shots were fired by the two officers who accompanied Wolverton—M. E. Craig and H. B. Jones.

Before his death Redding denied he had a gun or threatened the officers. Storms also denied Redding was armed

The officers said nearly twenty-five gallons of whisky were found in the house. Mrs. Redding, who, the agents said, broke a quart of liquor upon their arrival, was not arrested.

Capture Newport Rum Runner.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Pursuit up Newport harbor and Narragansett bay of a vessel, presumably a rum runner, by a 75 foot coast guard cutter, during which several shots were fired, culminated in the capture today of the craft near Fall River, Mass. Coast guard officials at the New London, Conn., base declined to reveal the identity of the vessel or to say whether the captive carried a cargo of liquor. The encounter was the first in this vicinity since the capture of the rum runner Black Duck two months ago, when three of the Black Duck's crew were fatally injured by coast guard fire.

Raid 25 Speakeasies.

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—In one of the largest dry roundups ever made in Westchester county, sixty federal agents arrested twenty-eight men in twenty-five alleged speakeasies in and around Port Chester today. The raids were quietly conducted and, except in one instance, the prohibition agents met no resistance. Liquor valued at about $25,000 was seized.

'KING TUT CURSE' IS BLAMED FOR 2 MORE DEATHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Fate smiled ironically when Howard Carter, excavator of Tut-ankh-amen's tomb, wired a heated denial of any truth in the belief that a curse follows those associated with the rifling of the ancient Pharaoh's resting place. His denial was answered today by two more deaths in the long roll chalked up against the Egyptian curse. Today's deaths bring the total number of victims to thirteen.

When Lord Westbury committed suicide three months after the mysterious death of his son, Capt. Richard Bethell, one of the excavating party, Mr. Carter telegraphed newspapers protesting against superstitious references to the curse of Pharaoh. As the hearse of Lord Westbury was rolling toward the cemetery today it struck and knocked down Joseph Geer, aged 8, of Battersea. He died on the way to the hospital.

The death of Edgar Steele, employed in the British museum, classifying and labeling objects from the tomb, was also announced today. Among exhibits which Mr. Steele handled were some relics from the Luxor tomb of the king whose last sleep was guarded by the inscription in ancient hieroglyphics, "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of Pharaoh."

Woman Convicted 43 Times by Drys Faces Trial Again

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Freida Schussler, Porter county's greatest liquor violator, with a record of 43 convictions, must face trial again in March. Mrs. Schussler recently was convicted of selling liquor and was given a $500 fine and 30 day jail sentence.

Denver Capitalist Leaves $100,000 to Dartmouth

Denver, Colo., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Dartmouth college will receive a bequest of $100,000 from the $2,500,000 estate of the late Richard Crawford Campbell, Denver investment firm head. The will was filed for probate here today.

Shameful Blemishes

"Blemishes, blackheads and ugly blotches nearly drove me mad. Fussing made my skin look worse. Balms, liquids and pastes—nothing helped. Then a friend told me about Rowles Mentho Sulphur—how its Phenol ingredient cleared up infection—how its Sulphur cleansed the clogged pores—how its Menthol soothed and healed sore, raw tissue. I applied this ointment at night. The next day I looked better. In a few days my skin cleared up."

KANSANS, BY ERROR, ASK CONGRESSMEN TO REPEAL VOLSTEAD ACT

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Quite by accident, Kansans have petitioned their congressional delegation to repeal the Volstead act.

Senators Capper and Allen, as well as the eight congressmen, were astounded when they received from western Kansas petitions asking the passage of house bill No. 9550, the bill for the repeal of the Volstead act. The petitions being lengthy and signed by influential citizens, the matter was checked up hurriedly.

It was found that the western Kansans thought they were asking passage of house bill No. 9500, which relates to the mail act. Now the petitioners are hastily preparing other letters to offset request.

The mixup scarcely is to be wondered at, however, because many conflicting opinions are being heard as to the state's aridity. First an article in Collier's says the state is dripping wet, then Kansas officials say it is dry. Then Jay House says it's wet, and Gov. Clyde M. Reed says it's dry. Then Walter Liggett tells a house committee it's wet again, and W. A. Smith, Kansas attorney general, makes a trip clear to Washington to tell the committee that Liggett is a liar, but Smith is outmaneuvered and gets only to reply through the newspapers.

PICK MILITANT METHODIST FOR DRY LEAGUE JOB

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Fred A. Victor, who described himself as a militant Methodist, today was elected state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New York. The board of directors and trustees of the organization decided on a policy of strong direct political action with a demand for a state enforcement act and the signing of it by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as the first step.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, came from Washington to attend the meeting and the militant program was in accord with his ideas.

"I am militant," Mr. Victor said, "but a man or an organization can be militant and decent and fair. I intend to be decent and fair."

Heavy Rains Break 5 Year Southwest Africa Drought

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 25.—Heavy rains are now falling in practically all of southwest Africa, breaking a drought, which, in some places, has extended for five years.

BRIDGE OPENINGS DELAY 'L' TRAINS 18 DAYS IN YEAR

Rapid Transit Co. Gives Figures to Aldermen.

Bridge openings in 1929 delayed elevated trains of the Chicago Rapid Transit company a total of 432 hours, or 18 days. These are the figures of Harry G. Hardin, general superintendent of transportation for the company, who yesterday presented a complete survey of the bridge problem as it exists for the elevated lines to Attorney Benjamin F. Goldstein for the bridge committee of the city council.

Through the report Mr. Goldstein also learned that during the two periods between 9:30 and 10 a. m. and between 4 and 4:30 p. m., which are the subjects of dispute in the present campaign to lengthen the closed bridge hours, openings delayed elevated trains more than 42 hours in 1929.

"L" Trains Use Three Bridges.

Elevated trains, Mr. Hardin said, use the Wells street, Lake street, and Metropolitan bridges. The latter is situated between Jackson and Van Buren streets. Approximately 4,320 trains cross these bridges in 24 hours on a week day.

Of more importance even than the openings during the two disputed half hour periods are the facts in Mr. Hardin's report showing the number of openings during the year in the morning and evening rush hours, when the bridges are supposed to be closed.

The law says the bridges shall be closed from 7 to 9:30 a. m. and from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m. But Hardin's report shows that in 1929 the three elevated bridges were opened 280 times in the morning between 6:30 and 9:30 for a total of 911 minutes, or more than fifteen hours.

Open 17.7 Hours in Closed Period.

In the evening rush hour, from 4:30 to 6:30, the bridges opened 359 times for a total of 1,065 minutes, or 17.7 hours, when 553 trains would normally use the spans. Considering the heavy loads carried in these periods, Mr. Hardin estimated that at least 400,000 passengers were delayed.

In the two periods between 9:30 and 10 a. m. and 4 and 4:30 p. m., which the city council wishes to have included in the closed hours, 203 trains cross the bridges with loads totaling at least 65,000 persons, who lost more than forty-two hours last year.

Air Jumps Take Nerve!

And the way you feel physically makes all the difference in the world!

Member of the "Caterpillar Club" earning his right to membership by 5000 foot Emergency Jump.

AIRPLANE pilots tell us that their courage, their whole attitude toward flying, varies from day to day, with the way they feel. If they feel full of pep and healthy, they can try anything—nothing frightens them. Their nerve is unshaken; their skill keen; their flying is perfect.

It is an entirely different story, however, if they wake up in the morning feeling sick, down in the mouth. Then flying isn't quite so easy.

What is the matter with these brave people when they are not up to par? The natural poisons in their bodies have not been swept away. They are allowing their brains to be clouded and dulled by poisons which should not be permitted to remain in the body.

This is the lesson we can learn from airmen. If is the lesson that points to Nujol—the simple, natural, normal way—without the use of drugs or medicines to keep the body internally clean of the poisons that slow it up. Nujol is pure, tasteless, colorless as clear water.

Millions of people have discovered that it forms no habit; it cannot hurt you, no matter how long you take it. It is not fattening; not absorbed by the body. It simply cleans out, as regularly as clock work, the body poisons which we all have.

It is hard to believe that so simple a treatment can make all the difference between feeling sick and feeling fine!

Instead of driving your body and irritating it with harsh cathartics, laxatives, and drugs, use Nujol and give nature a chance. See how the sunshine floods into your life when you are really well. Get a bottle of Nujol in its sealed package at any drug store. It costs only a few cents, and it makes you feel like a million dollars. Find out for yourself what Nujol will do for you this very night. You can be at top-notch efficiency and happy all the time. Get a bottle today.

Come Meet the Spring in SAN ANTONIO

The huisache is a giant living bouquet of yellow puff balls... redbud is a crimson splash on the hillsides...primroses and winecups pattern the far-flung carpet of bluebonnets which mirrors the Texas sky...the mocking-bird trills in the moonlight... a caressing breeze whispers softly.

There's nothing in all the world quite like springtime in San Antonio, as February slips into March!

Brilliant sunlight floods the countryside nearly seven hours of each day—the average noonday temperature is 76 degrees—and there's all Outdoors as your playground...with golf, tennis, polo, picnicking and kindred recreations to fill the hours as the days go lilting by. Or, you may try your skill on deep-sea fishing along the nearby coast, where game fish of all kinds abound.

You may motor over matchless highways, through green gardens, where harvesting is at its height now, or citrus groves, golden with delicious Texas grapefruit...through cedar-crested hills and along winding streams, with every scenic vista luring you onward toward the blue horizon.

For South Texas is at its best now. Spring comes early to this favored land, where 2,500,000 energetic people are converting the last of our great frontiers into a self-supporting empire, with a greater variety of natural resources and products than any similar area in the world.

Of this vast area, 132,000 square miles in extent, San Antonio is the "mother city" as it has been for more than 200 years. Here is a metropolitan city of 300,000 people, who take time to really live.

There's health and happiness in this sunny clime. Come meet the Spring in San Antonio and let its soft blandishments banish care and woo you to a new joy in living!

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car
2. How much extra you pay the dealer
3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

NOTE THESE LOW PRICES

Roadster	$435
Phaeton	$440	Tudor Sedan	$500
Coupe	$500	Sport Coupe	$530
Two-window Fordor Sedan	$600
Three-window Fordor Sedan	$625
Cabriolet	$645	Town Sedan	$670

(All prices f. o. b. Detroit)
Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a considerable factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

SON'S CHAT WITH KING FREES AGED MAN FROM CELL

Belgian Ruler Carries Plea to Rome.

BY ROBERT SAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALESSANDRIA, Italy, Feb. 25.—An impromptu chat between royalty and a humble locomotive engineer six weeks ago today resulted in the liberation of white haired Carlo Sasselli, aged 76, from a prison cell where he had served 34 years of a life sentence for murder.

When King Albert of Belgium was en route to Rome early in January to attend his daughter's wedding he visited the locomotive of the Italian royal train and asked to be shown the inner workings of the engine. Here he met Sasselli's son, who had been chosen to drive the train because he is one of Italy's best engineers. After having various gadgets explained to him, the king paused to chat a while. The engineer suddenly gathered courage and asked the Belgian ruler to intercede with the king of Italy in behalf of his father.

King Albert promised to mention the case to King Victor Emmanuel and made a note of the prisoner's name. Nothing further was heard of the case until today, when the Italian king announced he had decided to accede to the request of King Albert and ordered the release of the murderer, who had already passed 34 years in a cell.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Happy Birthday

Adventure Tale Recalls Wild West to Elmer

He Praises Orchestra for Dvorak Number.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Last night was a busy one for radio listeners, with important programs overlapping — music, special broadcasts, a funny address, and a breath taking adventure story.

The adventure narrative was given by Lewis V. Cummings, soldier of fortune, who stopped our interest in other radio offerings until he had finished the story of his explorations in the jungles of Colombia. He spoke on the New York program through W-G-N from 8 to 8:30 p. m. If we had a Cummings every evening to stir up our wild west spirit no one would complain.

Three movements of Dvorak's "New World" symphony were beautifully played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, with Gaston du Moulin conducting, from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

The salute to the newspaper industry, from New York through KYW from 9 to 9:30 o'clock, was an excellent program. To quote just a few of the pithy statements made during this broadcast: "News is furnished the public with the highest speed known in the transport of material things." "At our breakfast table we read of events that took place at the ends of the earth a few short hours before." "The newspaper industry is the most remarkable business in the world; no other business in the world gives so much for so little."

An address on "The Industrial South" was given by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, from Jacksonville, Fla., over WBBM, from 9 to 9:30. The listeners were entertained by the speaker's sudden interjection of humorous short stories.

The broadcast of THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves boxing tournament at the Coliseum, over W-G-N, from 9 to 10, gave a clear picture of what took place in the two rings.

C. M. P. WRIGHT ESTATE VALUED AT ONE MILLION

The will of Charles M. P. Wright, vice president of the Thomas Cusack company before its absorption by the General Outdoor Advertising company, was found yesterday in a safety deposit box by Attorney John S. Hummer. It leaves $130,000 to charity and the remainder of the estate, which may reach $1,000,000, to distant relatives. Mr. Wright died last Saturday.

Bequests of $10,000 each are left to the Morgan Park Industrial School for Girls, Home for Destitute Crippled Children, Chicago Home for Incurables, Off the Street, Chicago Boys' club, Old People's home, United Charities, Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, Arden Shore camp, Lawrence School for Boys, and bequests of $5,000 each to the Chicago Lighthouse, the Chicago Home for the Friendless, St. Vincent's Infant asylum, and the Methodist Deaconess Orphanage at Lake Bluff.

WM. J. TUTTLE FUNERAL RITES TO BE SATURDAY

Funeral services for William J. Tuttle, son of the late William Pierce Tuttle, former Board of Trade operator and Hinsdale financier, will be held at the Rosehill cemetery chapel Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Tuttle died last Saturday in Beverly Hills, Cal.

In 1925 Mr. Tuttle inherited $500,000 from his father, the will of the elder Tuttle explaining how his affection for his son had increased in the years just previous to his death. At one time the will of William Pierce Tuttle gave his son only $10.

Twenty years ago Tuttle's father and mother, Mrs. Louise Tuttle, engaged in a series of court fights which attracted nation-wide attention.

Mr. Tuttle is survived by his widow, Mrs. Agnes Tuttle, and one son, William Pierce Tuttle.

EX-OFFICIAL IS FOUND DEAD IN POOL IN DITCH

Authorities investigating the death of William H. Fish, 57 years old, of Midlothian, whose body was found yesterday in three feet of water in a ditch at the side of 147th street near Kedzie avenue, were convinced last night that he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy while walking along the road and had fallen into the water.

Mr. Fish was an assistant state's attorney under John J. Healy and later an assistant to the judge of the probate court.

No marks of violence could be found on the body by the highway police. A complete investigation will be made by the coroner's office. Mrs. William Ward of Midlothian, a sister, asserted that Fish had been in ill health for the last three years as a result of being struck on the head by a robber.

An easy way to overcome . . . Enlarged Pores and Blackheads

Are you shocked—and a trifle embarrassed—when a beauty expert tells you that enlarged pores are caused by dirt? Of course she does not imply that you fail to cleanse your skin often enough. She means that you do not cleanse it thoroughly—that modern life in dusty towns and cities calls for deep pore-cleansing that soap-and-water will not accomplish.

Plough's Cleansing Cream, made of light, non-absorbable oils offers a modern, easy way to cleanse the skin of all impurities which cause enlarged pores, blackheads and other blemishes. Pores which are thoroughly clear and free to breathe quickly contract to normal size; and regular use of this pure cream will keep the skin's texture smooth, clear and beautiful.

Tonight, before retiring, dip your fingers into the light, snowy softness of Plough's Cleansing Cream and smooth it generously on your skin. When you wipe it off, you will know that the beauty expert was right—and you will delight in the immaculate freshness and new beauty of complexion.

Plough's Cleansing Cream comes in three convenient sizes—30c, 50c and 75c. Plough's Beauty Creations, which also include Cold Cream, Vanishing Cream, Brilliantine, Skin Soap, Beauty Bleach, Rouge, Lipstick, Face Powder, etc., are available at all dealers, attractively packaged and sensibly priced.

MORELAND PLANS PROHIBITION POLL FOR 7TH DISTRICT

Michaelson Rival Seeks Voters' Real Opinion.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Beginning tomorrow, the prohibition issue is to be carried into the homes of the Seventh congressional district, now represented by M. A. Michaelson, who was involved in the famous "leaky trunk" incident in Florida.

The question whether the district is for or against the present dry law is to be presented as a topic for dinner table discussion by James C. Moreland, a candidate against Michaelson for the Republican nomination on April 8.

The Seventh district has voted wet in the past, but has continued to elect "Leaky Trunk" Michaelson, who votes dry. Now Moreland purposes to find out exactly what the district wants and will make his effort by means of what he considers is a thorough and fair form of referendum.

Moreland's Referendum Plan.

Starting tomorrow morning women workers will go into two precincts of the ward and will cover two precincts each week day from now until the primary. At each home the women will explain the Moreland proposal and will leave a sealed envelope containing one man's ballot and one woman's ballot.

On the ballot will appear these questions:

"Do you favor the present prohibition law and its strict enforcement?

"Do you favor modification of the prohibition law to permit the sale of light wines and beers under government control?

"Do you favor the repeal of the present prohibition law?"

There will be a square for the voter opposite each question. The ballots are return postcards upon which Moreland guarantees the postage so that there is no expense imposed on the voter.

BRIDGES BECOME ISSUE

Volsteadism and the bridge nuisance were projected into the contest for the Republican nomination for congressman at large last night by two Chicago candidates, Edward I. Williams and Edward J. Hargrave. Each took the ground that traffic delay due to bridge openings in rush hour is a most important issue to the entire metropolitan district.

Both are running on modification planks. Theri candidacies are entirely separate of each other, but each proposes to carry the anti-prohibition issue into dry downstate areas. With twenty-three candidates running for the two places at large, the politicians point out that anything may happen.

Williams a Deneen Adherent.

Mr. Williams is affiliated with the Deneen organization, but the group does not expect to make any indorsements for congressman at large. He served two years as Sanitary district trustee.

"The bridge nuisance inflicts an intolerable economic loss upon Chicago and the contingent territory," said Mr. Williams. "There is no excuse whatever for opening the bridges in rush hours to let a dredge or something move up and down the river."

"I'm for modification of the Volstead act. The country is now becoming awake to the corrupting influence permeating the nation. The road back to sobriety and temperance is through revision or repeal of the Volstead act."

Hargrave for Modification.

Mr. Hargrave, who is head of a detective agency, is emphasizing his planks on modification and bridges.

"Traffic experts tell us that 1,700,000 persons enter the central business district daily from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.," he said. "In the same period 500,000 vehicles enter or leave the area. This vast traffic is affected by unnecessary bridge openings in rush hours, which stall traffic and back it up for miles.

"I am unequivocally committed to modification of the dry law. Prohibition has brought upon us the gravest social and governmental menaces."

FRUIT FLY SPIES HELP RUN RUM, INQUIRER AVERS

U. S. Seals Are Used, Congressman Says.

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Charges that national guardsmen on Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine work in Florida were aiding bootleggers by placing the seal of the United States government on cars of liquor and allowing it to be transported were made here late today by Representative W. R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], chairman of the house fruit fly inquiry committee.

Wood made his allegations while questioning Dr. Wilmon Newell, state plant commissioner, at the hearing in which the committee, a subcommittee of the house appropriations body, is inquiring into the expenditure of federal funds in fruit fly eradication work.

While asking Dr. Newell about duties of national guardsmen in the quarantine area, Wood inquired whether the plant commissioner was "aware that they have been sealing up cars of liquor with the government seal and permitting it to be shipped through the country by bootleggers?"

Dr. Newell said he had not heard of any specific instances of that kind.

"Well, it's being done," replied Chairman Wood, "and you will hear plenty more about it before these meetings are over."

U. P. TO SPEND $3,500,000 FOR 25 LOCOMOTIVES

Purchase of the locomotives will involve an expenditure of $3,500,000, Mr. Gray said. The engines will be of the "9,000 type," and were designed by Union Pacific engineers after years of research.

With delivery of the new fleet the Union Pacific will have 88 of this type of locomotives in service. The locomotives will be 102 feet 6½ inches long and will be equipped with 12 drive wheels, each 67 inches in diameter.

"SLAYER" OF 11 INDICTED IN N. Y. FOR ONE MURDER

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The grand jury believed Texas Jin Baker, 23, former Texas farm hand, who brags eleven murders by poison and gun to the extent that it indicted him today for one.

The grand jurors heard about the cyanide killing of Henry Gaw, watchman at the Guggenheim labratory on Dec. 28, 1928; about Baker's conduct just before the killing and about his confession to that among other slayings and voted in the indictment.

Meanwhile police headquarters heard that a detective is on his way here from Detroit to ask some more questions about two killings there for which Baker has boasted he is responsible and particularly to inquire how Baker after arrest and search in Detroit, had a knife and a revolver with which he did not quite get the chance to kill two New York detectives who were bringing him here.

TASTE ISN'T EVERYTHING IN A TOOTH PASTE

Any tooth paste can taste like a confection, but "taste" doesn't mean "results." PEBECO purposely does not have a candy-like taste. It has a distinctive, minty tang which at first you may not prefer. But it tells you instantly that PEBECO is giving your teeth the help they need. It cleans as it whitens and checks the mouth acids which hasten decay. If PEBECO tastes strong or "bitey" it is because of this extra benefit, not obtainable in other dentifrices. Try it!—Advt.

URGE GAS TAX FOR PROMOTION OF AIR TRAVEL

Parity with Common Carriers Urged.

BY ROBERT WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Promotion of civil aviation in virtually all of its aspects was defined as the job of the state in a set of resolutions passed at the concluding session of the midwest air parley here today.

Legislators of eleven states in the central area who took part in the two day conference will endeavor to have the recommendations incorporated in the laws of the various states in an endeavor to effect unified control of air activities.

Development of airways and airports and the regulations of both private and commercial flying, which has been left largely to the federal government, will become the task of the states if the delegates succeed in having the recommendations incorporated in the state laws.

Mrs. Willebrandt Talks.

On the suggestion of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, who has given up her prohibition activities to become counsel for an aviation corporation, the legislators and air operators recommended that congress pass enabling legislation to make possible state and federal cooperation in the development of and maintenance of a comprehensive system of airways linking up all centers of population.

The conference favored a gasoline tax as the most equitable form of taxation for aviation and recommended that the income derived from such taxation be expended solely for the development of aviation.

To assure the proper supervision of the new regulations the conference urged that each state appoint a special commission of expert personnel to regulate aeronautics.

The legal responsibilities of the air passenger lines were discussed at this afternoon's session by Prof. Fred D. Fagg Jr., managing director of the Northwestern university air law institute; Prof. Carl Zollmann of the Marquette university school of law, and George B. Logan of the aviation committee of the American Bar association. It was the opinion of these experts that the airplane is a common carrier and therefore responsible in case of personal injury or loss of property.

Demands Travel Parity.

"The stipulations printed on the air line tickets and signed by the passenger exempting the operator from responsibility in case of accident would not hold in the court," declared Mr. Logan. "They are not worth the paper they are printed on. The aviation interests are doing the baby act. They should take their responsibilities as a common carrier and put themselves on a parity with other forms of transportation."

The air parley was made a permanent organization at the suggestion of Col. John M. H. Nicholds, executive of the Milwaukee chapter of the National Aeronautics' association, which sponsored the parley.

KUNZ AND SON ON STAND TODAY IN GRAFT TRIAL

Three Brothers Testify Against Pair.

Congressman Stanley H. Kunz of the Eighth district and his son, Stanley Jr., will be given an opportunity today to tell a jury in Judge Harry Fisher's Criminal court their side of the case in their trial on charges of accepting a $400 graft payment. The state charges they were paid the money on their promise to get a job on the police force for Roman Trochowski, 6348 North Merrimac avenue.

The state concluded its testimony yesterday. The state's testimony came from Roman Trochowski and his two brothers, Walter and Emil.

Denemark on Stand.

Civil Service Commissioner Emil Denemark was also a state's witness. He testified that he knew nothing of the Trochowski transaction and had never spoken to Congressman Kunz about it. Kunz, it is charged, had told the Trochowski brothers that Denemark was the man who was getting the money and that he was to arrange matters so that Roman Trochowski would get the job.

Walter Trochowski was the first witness. He said he was doing some plumbing work in the congressman's home when he mentioned to the son that his brother was trying to get a job on the police department. The son called the father to the basement, he testified, and it was then that the price of $400 was fixed. The witness said he borrowed the money from a bank and gave Congressman Kunz a certified check.

Emil and Roman Trochowski corroborated portions of the story told by Walter. They told of the futile attempts to get a return of their money when the job was not forthcoming, until finally the complaint was made to the state's attorney's office. Immediately Congressman Kunz repaid the $400 with interest, they said, but obtained a receipt purporting to show that the money was a payment for a loan.

Refute Trochowski's Testimony.

Several witnesses testified in behalf of Stanley Kunz Jr. late in the afternoon. They testified that the story told by Walter Trochowski could not be true, because Stanley Jr. was in his forest preserve district paying off employés when he was supposed to have brought up the graft payment subject.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Warren McMullen, rape, sentenced to 2 years in the penitentiary; Emil Schultz, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; John Kadow, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; George Robertson, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

CHICAGO ACCLAIMS GOLDEN GLOVE BATTLERS

BIG BOYS LOOSE THEIR K. O. PUNCHES TONIGHT AT COLISEUM

Phil Nearly Faints Making Speech.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Miami, Fla., Feb. 25.—All the principals involved in the midwinter prize fight carnival of the Madison Square Garden corporation's southern branch finished their practice gestures this afternoon and the helpful corps of press agents who gather the news, judge it, and write it into breezy essays so that the sports writers from the home may pursue their bathing and their horse bets with a minimum of interference, had cheery news to report.

They stated that all concerned in the display of self-reliance, sportsmanship, and manly vigor on Thursday evening were now in the pink, neglecting, however, to add that the management was still in the red.

Sharkey Boxes Shadow.

Jack Sharkey discoursed several hours of malicious punching with his sparring mate in his practice ring at the dog track and I would not say that there was any significance in his selection of the site two winters in succession, although certain experts in the matter of boxing spirit have remarked on various occasions that he has the look of eagles in his eyes.

Training Philip Scott, the Englishman who has concluded his two principal showings in the American arena in a prostrate stance, as thousands cheered, boxed four one minute rounds with his sparring partners at the Sixty bush league arena just a few blocks up a side street from the bay front, and even went so far as to deliver an oration to a large gathering of British sailors who chanced to be present on a courtesy call of several of our warships.

Philip's reticence has been a bit of a trial to his manager, Mr. James J. Johnston, throughout his sojourn here of the forty or fifty words which he addressed to the attendance this afternoon represented a garrulous outburst for him. However, it was observed that as he spoke his piece Mr. Johnston, who stood close behind him in the ring, was carrying on a low mutter and muttering and some of the boys present were unkind enough to suggest that James was prompting him.

"I hope," Mr. Johnston mumbled, scarcely moving his lips.

Philip Hopes, Anyway.

"I hopes," Fainting Philip repeated like a bride at the alter, his dull blue eyes staring dully over the left expanse of tropical naval uniform. "I will be heavyweight champion of the world the next time you ever see me," Mr. Johnston continued. "Now you're started. Swing into space about true British and the bull dog breed."

"I will be 'eavyweight champion of the world the next time I see you again," droned the disembodied monotone, like the stifled voice of a dummy on a ventriloquist's knee. "And now I'm started I shall swing into space about true British——"

Then Mr. Johnston removed his derby hat with a quick, casual gesture and scraped Philip's nude back with the saw-edged brim, breathing a fervent "Nix, nix, don't say that."

There was a blank pause in the address from the throne of the British heavyweight champion and Mr. Johnston resumed his helpful suggestions. "I am glad to see some of the men of the royal marine light infantry present," he said, "and I hope to uphold the honor of the corps."

As Philip finished that about upholding the honor of the corps, and before Mr. Johnston could commit himself to any more remarks, he clasped his gloved hands before him in the traditional prize fighters' gesture of good will to the customers and put a full stop to the ordeal with a final "and that's that, all I 'ave to s'ye and I thank you."

Risko, Campolo Ready.

Johnny Risko and Victorio Campolo, the lads who will fight the semi-final bout of the evening likewise got through with their labors but, although their match probably has sold many tickets as the main event, the light of all the publicity was concentrated on Sharkey and Scott.

Mr. Walter St. Denis, press-agent-in-chief of the Garden public relations staff, has toiled early and late with attention worthy of a Dempsey-Firpo in his efforts to arouse the customers and bring them a'running from the roads and railways to watch the prize fights but the thrum and whirr of the mimeograph has always been audible above all other sounds and the ballyhoo down here and when the machinery creaks the illusion of Florida vanishes.

Papers Become Wary.

The Garden corporation went to the expense to charter a pleasant little hotel which, like so many other Miami, has been involved in mortgage litigation, staff it with servants and maintain open house for the sports writers of the eastern cities at a nominal rate a week, per head. It is a fine plan, but this hospitality seems to have been taken amiss, for some of the New York papers, at first became self conscious, and sent

BLACKHAWKS BEAT MAROONS FOR 4TH TIME

Arbour's Goal Clinches Win; Gardiner Star.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—(AP)—A stone wall defense and a seemingly impassible goal keeper gave the Chicago Blackhawks their fourth victory of the National Hockey league season over the Montreal Maroons tonight, 2 to 0. It was the first Hawk victory in the last five starts.

Chuck Gardiner, Chicago goalie, played the leading rôle in holding off the Maroons with plenty of assistance from Taffy Abel and Duke Dutkowski. Repeatedly Gardiner saved what looked to be sure scores. The game contained some rough hockey, but only 12 penalties were called.

The first Chicago goal, scored by Ty Arbour early in the second period, was enough to win. The second came during the last few seconds when Abel broke away from a five man Montreal attack and lumbered down to catch Benedict in a helpless position, and beat him easily. Lineup:

MAROONS [0].		CHICAGO [2].
Benedict	Goal	Gardiner
Munro	R. D.	Wentworth

Stewart	C.	Somers

BRUINS, 7; PIRATES, 0.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 0, here tonight in a hockey game that put Cooney Weiland back on the top of the National league scoring list. Weiland made four of the Bruins' tallies, increasing his total to 61, two more than that of Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers. The victory was the Bruins' eighth straight and the 14th straight contest without defeat.

AMERICANS NIP CANADIENS.

New York, Feb. 25.—(AP)—The New York Americans gained revenge for four beatings at the hands of the Montreal Canadiens through the hockey season by winning their fifth clash, 4 to 2, tonight. The loss sent the Canadiens into a tie with Ottawa for second place in the league's international group. Patterson was the outstanding American forward, scoring three goals.

SENATORS WIN, 2-0.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Frankie Finnigan, young Ottawa right winger, rapped in two goals in an overtime period tonight to give the Senators a 2-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs and a tie with Les Canadiens of Montreal for second place in the Canadian division of the National Hockey league.

N. Y. Board Reinstates Canzoneri, Bans Chicagoan

New York, Feb. 25.— (AP) —Tony Canzoneri, New York lightweight, today was reinstated by the New York State Athletic commission in concurrence with similar action by the Pennsylvania commission. At the same time the New York solons sanctioned Canzoneri's bout with Stanislaus Loayza at the Garden March 14. Jim McMillen, Chicago wrestler, was suspended for 60 days in concurrence with the Pennsylvania board. The offense was not stated.

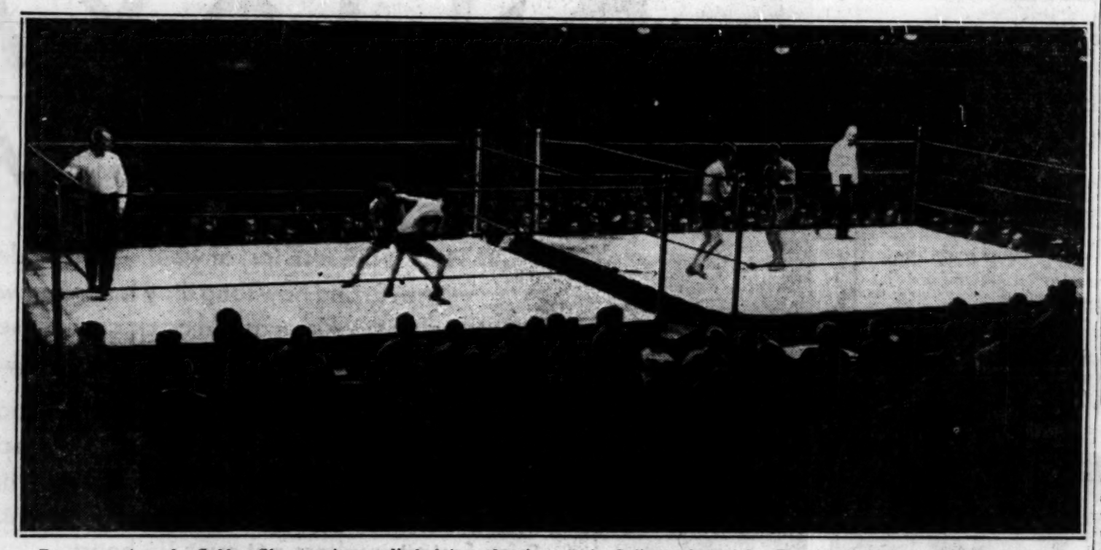
ALONG THE PATH TO FAME



Four at a time the Golden Glove aspirants climbed into the rings at the Coliseum last night. Two hundred and eight boys fighting for the sixteen places on the Chicago team caused the officials to order two rings on the first two nights of the four day meet. The double barreled action had the spectators in a whirl. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

BANUET WINS IN DEFENSE OF U. S. HANDBALL TITLE

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Albert Banuet of San Francisco, defending titleholder in the National A. A. U. handball tourney, successfully finished his second round match tonight, after drawing a first round bye. Milton Smith, St. Louis, fell before his accurate handling of the ball, 21-16 and 21-12.

W. A. Paynter of San Francisco, who will be Banuet's partner in the doubles which start tomorrow, was successful in his second round match with Herman Dworman of Detroit, winning the feature event of the evening, 21-12, 18-21 and 21-15.

Battalino Wins Ten Round Battle from Fernandez

Plucky Rallies Show Mettle of Golden Gloves Warriors

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Fred Rudney, Roseland, and Joseph Rehling, Chicago, staged a great four round bout in the Golden Gloves tournament last night. Rehling got a shade in the extra round by time and again dropping a right cross on Rudney's jaw as the latter led. It had the crowd yelling nearly as much as the Chilerio-Capitano bout.

Carl Sand, a slender Chicago lad, weathered an ape man act put on by Hillard Lewis, colored boy of Kokomo, Ind. Lewis, his long hair flying and gold tooth showing, threw punches from every angle, a literal storm, but after the first surprise Sand parried them, pounded Lewis' stomach and used a straight left to stop his bull like rushes.

M. Triola, Cullen A. C., seemed to have the best of Frank Bennis of La Porte, Ind., for a minute, until Bennis set off a package of T. N. T. with his right and Triola went out.

In the bout immediately following, Joe Karias of Paddy Kane's gym, an evident favorite from the cheers, finished his man in seconds. His long mop of curly hair flying wildly, he cut loose like a windmill in a gale and it was all over.

It was a bad night for favorites. Most of the highly touted boys got licked by some unknown, and those that did come through found the going rough.

Harry Alberts of Barry's gym and Robert Hoenig of South Bend staged a clean double knockdown. There were many scrambling double falls.

The second round of the 118 pound class strated at 10:30. Joe Kish, cool and workmanlike boxer was the first to move into the third round, beating Art Mitchell of St. Rita A. A.

M. Seller, 202 Coast artillery, knocked Walter Hughes, Loftus A. C., through the ropes. Hughes, after each had knocked the other down twice, knocked out Seller with a

CHICAGO HEAVIES TEST BOYS FROM COUNTRY TONIGHT

Fighters Evenly Matched in All Divisions.

TO CONTESTANTS.

ALL boys competing in tonight's Golden Gloves bouts must report at the Coliseum at 6 o'clock to be weighed and examined. Drawings will be made at 6:30 o'clock.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Boys of the four heavier classes will begin their battles for the Golden Gloves tonight in THE TRIBUNE third annual amateur boxing tournament at the Coliseum. Opening bouts in the two rings will start at 7 o'clock.

If all fighters who qualified in the preliminary rounds held in three sections of the city and in seventeen cities and towns of five states report, sixty-two bouts will be held. Some of the contests may not go the limit because of the punching ability of the contestants.

Some Powerful Heavies.

There should be plenty of action in the heavyweight division. Grant Fourtney, a cab driver, who will compete under the colors of the South Shore A. C., is favored to go into the finals which will be held on Friday night. He can hit with either hand and can take punishment.

Buck Everett of Gary, Ind., a member of last year's Chicago team, is another contestant who will bear watching, and the same is true of Walter Cappell of Milwaukee. Sigmund Greicus, a member of the football squad at Purdue university of Lafayette, Ind., is another heavy who may go into the finals. Adam Smith of Rockford; Howard Meyer of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Edward Stroebel of Ransom, Ill.; Joe Fett of the El Rocks A. C., and John Molnar of the Belle Plaine A. C. are other heavyweights expected to make strong bids to go into the finals.

De Paul Boxer Competes.

Bud Borrelli of De Paul university should be a contender for the 160 pound title. Bud can hit with either hand and knows a lot of the defensive angles of the game. J. E. Campbell of Purdue university, Richard Arnold of Streator, Ill.; Tommy Lentz of Tipton, Ind.; Nick Sabagosh of Aurora, Ill.; John Baima of the Lawndale gymnasium, and Fred Casserio of the Seneca A. C. of Chicago are among other good fighters in the division.

There should be some slashing fights in the light heavyweight division. Joe Mendoza of Coulon gymnasium is one of Chicago's best amateur light heavyweights. L. R. Harvey of Purdue university is another promising light heavyweight. So are Jack Hamilton of Champaign, Ill.; John Ballard of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Vern Miller, Rock Island, Ill.; Jack Kranz of Gary, Ind., and James Lambeth of Kid Howard's gymnasium.

Invading Fighters Hold 40-29 Edge in Tribune Bouts

Out of town fighters scored victories in 40 of the 69 fights marking the opening of THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves four day eliminations at the Coliseum last night.

The invading forces were victors in 25 decision bouts. Fifteen others scored knockouts. Chicago's victories, as far as knockouts and decisions were concerned, were almost equally divided, the count being 14 and 15 respectively.

Incidentally, not a fight was decided by foul.

BY DON MAXWELL.

If there's any question in your mind about small towns growing fighters, forget it. The question was answered last night in the opening round of the third annual TRIBUNE Golden Gloves tournament held before six thousand cheering men and women.

The old rafters of the Coliseum have reverberated to cheers of many crowds. They never were shaken as they were last night when little Frank Bennis, one of a trio of fighting brothers from Laporte, Ind., knocked out Stocky Joe Karios of Chicago.

They were never shivered—those old rafters—like they were last night by the cheers of a crowd gone mad with enthusiasm over the victory of Smiling Kid Chilerio of Sawyerville, Ill.

Connor Brings 'Em Up.

Not to mention the echoes awakened by the four round slugfest which ended in victory for black browed Connor, a riveting engineer from Purdue.

Chicago boys fought gamely and well. None fought more thrillingly than did those three young knights from the hinterland who set out last night to fight their way up the trail that leads to Golden Gloves, fame and membership on Chicago's team of champions.

Action is the only word fitted to describe the opening night of the Golden Gloves tournament. There wasn't a dull fight. There were so many spicy ones, it is almost unfair to single out one above the other. No one could leave the building, however, without chanting the praises of those three fights won by the youths from out of town.

Sixty-nine Bouts Are Held.

Knockouts—there were so many last night one needed a tabulator to keep the count. Sixty-nine bouts were held. Twin rings, brilliantly lighted, were full of flying fists from 7 p. m. until midnight. The sound of feet shuffling in resin formed a muffled undertone to the stacatto of excited voices for five hours.

And when the last gong had sounded nine-tenths of the first arrivals were still in their chairs.

At seven o'clock little Sammy Solari, black haired, short, and sturdy, scored the first knockout. Buddie Carnahan, from Vincennes, Ind., where there are no banks to the Wabash, was Jimmy's victim. Both of the boys jumped around No. 1 ring like grasshoppers. But there was nothing grasshopper like in Jimmy Solari's blows. Buddie never felt blows like those down in Alice's home town. He admitted it with a wry grimace as his seconds helped him through the ropes.

60 Chicagoland Towns Represented.

That knockout was symbolic of the thrills that were to come as the boys of the four lighter classes from sixty towns and cities of Chicagoland began the four day battle. Sporting writers from 17 cities were at the ringside to wire the home folks how the heroes of THE TRIBUNE'S sectional tournaments had fared. The boys who fought, tumbled, and won were half of the army of 208 here to fight for the 16 berths on the Chicago team.

Tonight the bigger fellows, from the welters to the heavies, match their brawn in the two Coliseum rings.

BIG MOMENT ARRIVES

Last night was a big moment in the lives of most of the knights of the ring. Before last night their fame was circumscribed within narrow boundaries. Only the neighbors' kids knew who they were. Last night they were under the glare of bright lights. Thousands of men and women were watching them to prove their courage and display their skill.

Take the case of Frank Bodish. In every day life Frank is an office boy in the Studebaker plant at South Bend. His work consists of carrying messages from one executive to another. His employers bawl him out and he meekly hangs his head. Folks in the neighborhood know him as a quiet kid.

Last night Frank was a young tiger. The change in his character came when he crawled through the ropes. Frank was confronted with an obstacle in the path to greatness and he met it with more vim than he's ever displayed before.

Billy Blunks of East Moline, for the time being at least, raised the honor of Illinois above that of Hoosierdom. Gilbert Goldsberry was the first young Lafayette, Ind., citizen to meet defeat. Billy Blunks, the East Moline

BILLIE LEONARD, BLESSEFIELD SET TRACK RECORDS

Two Marks Shattered at Hialeah Park.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Two track records were shattered today on the lightning fast course at Hialeah park.

The mile mark of 1:38 2-5 hung up by Tutti Frutti, South American champion, in January was the first to tumble when the Royal stable's Blessefield sped around the oval in 1:38 flat to win the Pennsylvania railroad handicap.

The mile and quarter record of four years standing then fell by the wayside as T. H. McCaffrey's Billie Leonard covered the route in 2:04 3-5 in the sixth race—a claiming event. The old mark of 2:05 was established by Tier Cel on March 3, 1926.

Blessefield's victory came under a brilliant ride by Sonny Workman. The Royal stable thoroughbred paid $ to $.

ODDS ARE 4 TO 1 VICTORIAN WINS $100,000 RACE

New York, Feb. 25.—(AP)—It is still a month until the class of the winter thoroughbreds thunder over the Agua Caliente turf in quest of $100,000, but the future bookmakers are wagering that Victorian will be out in front at the end of the rich mile and a quarter jaunt known as the Agua Caliente handicap.

So confident are the bookies that the great son of Whisk Broom II. will lead the field down the picturesque Mexican stretch March 23 that they are laying odds of 4 to 1 on the play or pay basis. The hero of the 1928 Preakness, once the ace of Harry Payne Whitney's stable, will race under the colors of the Warm stable, owned by Silas Mason and W. A. Haggar, New York railroad constructors and bridge builders.

Tilden, Ill, May Drop Out of Monte Carlo Net Meet

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Bill Tilden, after being forced to three sets by Jack Hilliyard, an English player, in the second round of the tennis tournament here today, announced that unless a heavy cold from which he is suffering improved within a day or two he would be forced to withdraw under a doctor's orders. The American champion defeated Hilliyard by scores of 2-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Boy Battlers Prove Courage Under Fire

straight left, in the first round. Seiler looped the loop with a wild right that connected twice.

The 135 pound class began with quick consecutive knockouts. Ernest Tonielli, Marseilles, Ill.; Jack Kolvy, Gary, and Walter Stanfield, Jackson, Mich., putting their opponents down for the count in about a minute each.

William Edwards, Fort Wayne, and Ed De Weise, Jackson, Mich., staged a bout that was all flying arms and legs. It ended as humorously as it started, when in the second round Edwards landed a straight right to De Weise's head.

De Weise stopped and shook his head, while Edwards stepped back, then started toward him again. De Weise squatted on his heels in the corner for protection before Edwards got near him and was disqualified.

1,600 Tribune Carriers See Golden Glove Bouts

More than 1,600 carrier boys who distribute THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE daily were guests of this newspaper last night at a party in the Coliseum in connection with the Golden Gloves boxing tournament. The boys witnessed a program of boxing that for speed and thrills could not be matched. Included in the party were also all members of the Carriers' association and their collectors.

Mike Turnesa, Cooper Tie with 68 in Florida Golf

RING'S BIG BOYS WILL SEE FIRST ACTION TONIGHT

BY FRENCH LANE.

The behemoths of the central states start throwing leather in THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament tonight.

No doubt a few eyes will be varnished and swollen. Some of the big boys will hear the chirps of that famous first robin of spring long before the robin arrives.

But when the battle ends there's going to be a game, clean cut youthful giant standing in the center of the ring, the fighting master of the great territory known as Chicagoland. He might whip all the Carneras, Sharkeys, Scotts, Maloneys and Campolos that could be crowded into one ring at one time.

Smith Has K. O. Punch.

Take Adam Smith from Rockford as an example. Let a rabid Rockford rooter who has followed the Golden Gloves battlers into Chicago tell you about Adam, who is a baker by trade.

"He weighs about 220 and has an unusually large stomach for a fighting man," said the Rockford rooter. "The other heavyweights are going to make a target out of his midsection, but it isn't going to hurt Adam. And while they're hammering away in that direction Adam is going to cut loose with his right.

"It doesn't travel more than eight or ten inches. But even in that short space there's a terrible swish. 'Zing' it goes against an opponent's chin and the fight is over."

Buzz Green No One's Fool.

Then there's Buzz Green, the butcher boy from Davenport. Buzz is a blonde, weighs about 198, and when he lands his opponents go to sleep. In his first bout in the Davenport tournament he took a lacing for two rounds. He connected with his haymaker in the third. They had to work frantically over his sprawled opponent for 45 minutes before he regained consciousness.

Jimmy Davidson, the Vincennes giant man, is 18 years old and is a farmer boy. He weighs 225 pounds, not so far below Carnera. He also grows long whiskers, and the story goes that he's whipped everybody in southern Indiana in and out of the ring.

And probably the toughest lad of them all is the Springfield coal miner, Mr. Anton Rutkoski, who votes in Auburn, Ill. Anton is about 22 years old, but has spent six years in the mines. He's as hard as a rock, doesn't blink an eye when he takes one on the point of the chin, and the curtain goes down and the lights go out when Anton socks with his wicked right.

That's just part of the big parade at the Coliseum tonight. Machinists, brakemen, boilermakers, bricklayers and husky university athletes are going to begin to climb the fistic ladder. The welterweights, middleweights, light heavyweights, and the giant men will all pass in review.

MICHIGAN CAGERS SCORE 30-15 WIN OVER MAROONS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Joe Truskowski, Wolverines' scoring star, furnished the thrills of an otherwise dull game of basketball tonight as Michigan bowled over Chicago, 30 to 15. The smallest crowd of the year, 5,000, watched the game.

Truskowski added four baskets and an equal number of free throws to his point total. Marshall Fish was the star for the invaders. He played the floor well and tallied four points.

The Wolverines led Chicago, 18 to 9, at the half.

Stephenson, who was responsible for Chicago's victory over Wisconsin Saturday night, had little success tonight. He scored a basket soon after he entered the game late in the first half, but did not find the hoop once in the final period. Lineup:

Miss Van Wie's 76 Wins Florida Qualifying Medal

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago stroked her way around the Ormond Beach golf course today in 76 to win the qualifying medal in the women's south Atlantic championships. She led her nearest competitor, Miss Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N. J., by three strokes.

Victorian A. A. Conquers I. W. A. C. Brownies, 14-11

Led by Miss Bongerz, who scored 11 points, the girls basketball team representing the Victorian Athletic association last night defeated the I. W. A. C. Brownies, 14 to 11, on the latter's court. The score at half time was 6 to 2 in favor of the Victorians.

Dick Mastro Puts Michigan Lad Out in the First Round

Ed Blake of Jackson, Mich., was among the first out of town boys to lose on a knockout in THE TRIBUNE boxing tournament last night. Dick Mastro of the West Side K. of C. put him away. Blake dropped his defense late in round one and Mastro shot over the punch to the chin that ended it.

Ray Mullins of Gary gave the out of town rooters their first chance to cheer when he won the decision over Jimmy Curtis from the Greek Olympic Athletic club after three furious rounds. It caused a boom in Mullins' championship stock, for Curtis was regarded as one of the dangerous Chicago contenders in the 112 pound class.

Ben Speaker was the first Fort Wayne lad to crawl through the ropes and after taking a beating for two rounds went out via the technical kayo route at the start of the third round. Joe Espanozo of the Emery A. C. of Chicago Heights conquered him. Speaker could hardly lay a hand on the Chicago Heights lad.

Eugene Salvator of La Salle, Ill., a member of the Streator team, brought the army of out of town rooters to their feet cheering when he took the measure of Louis Levine of Lake Shore Park, Chicago. Salvatore was out in front all the way, but didn't carry sufficient punishment in his punches to stop Levine. He chased Levine all over the ring.

Tommy Bennis of La Porte, Ind., was the next out of town lad to hang up a victory. His victim was Thornton Ford of Lincoln. It was another close struggle, and the crowd howled when the judges gave Bennis the decision. Ford was a long, lanky kid and swung his punches from all directions.

John Roe of Kokomo, Ind., was conquered by Charley Patrick of the Lawndale gym. Roe hit Patrick often enough, but his wallops didn't carry the steam, and in the closing minutes Patrick had the lad from Kokomo covering up. He just managed to weather out the round.

The Gary crowd tasted victory again in the 118 pound clash between Joie Kish of the steel center and Bus Fields of Vincennes. Kish left handed Fields into submission in a little less than a round and won on a knockout.

The first one blow knockout of the night came when John Nichols, Negro youth from Joliet, put Al Herman of the Jackson, Mich., team to sleep with a terrific right to the chin. The end came early in the first round.

Another Gary victory came soon after the 135 pound maulers went into action. Jack Kolvy was the triumphant Gary lad, scoring a knockout with a hard right smash to the chin of Bill Jones from the Northwest Cardinals of Chicago.

M'LARNIN BEGINS HEAVY DRILL FOR MANDELL FIGHT

Jimmy McLarnin, the Dublin puncher, yesterday returned to heavy work preparatory to his battle with Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, at Chicago Stadium Saturday night.

After his usual roadwork in Lincoln park in the morning McLarnin worked out five rounds at Howard's Arcade gymnasium.

Sammy Mandell, who always has devoted most of his attention to speed in boxing, has developed a left hook to the body which his admirers claim carries dynamite as well as speed. He went eight rounds with his sparring partners yesterday.

LOUISVILLE FIVE ENTERS LOYOLA MEET 4TH TIME

St. Xavier of Louisville, Ky., one of the most popular teams in previous national Catholic interscholastic high school tournaments, will compete in the seventh annual meet starting March 19 at Loyola university.

It will mark the fourth time the Kentuckians have taken part in the tournament. On previous visits they finished high, winning the championship in 1926, fourth place in 1927 and third in 1928. Last year they did not compete.

BEHIND SCENES WITH SEEKERS OF GOLDEN GLOVES

Back of the scenes at the Golden Gloves tournament the final preparations for running off more than sixty boxing bouts in one evening began there hours before the first two pairs of lads entered the rings. Starting at 4 o'clock and running through until a few minutes before 7, the 100 lads who were to fight last night were weighed, their registrations checked, examined by physicians, and the draw made.

There were queer contrasts as the boys came down the steps to the dressing room, but it was clothes that made the difference. Stripped to weigh in, the lad with a mackinaw shirt and working brogans and the boy with the tailored clothes and polished shoes alike were clean limbed young athletes.

Baltzer Smallest Fighter.

Neither was there much difference in their manner, for most of them proceeded to the business of getting set to knock the other fellow's block off without much ado. Perhaps some of them were more diffident than others and a few showed a bit of inexperience in putting on their ring togs to weigh in, but to most of them it was a casual repetition of an accustomed routine.

Most striking of the four classes was in the flyweights, for some of these lads were so tiny they appeared hardly fitted for the rigors of the ring. Yet all of them had come through the sectional tournaments, which means they can fight whether they have beef or not. Smallest was Johnny Baltzer of Rock Island, 104 pounds, but Edwin Blake of Jackson, Mich., weighed only a pound more.

One Pound Variance Allowed.

They passed in a string before the weigher's table, lads of all builds, but alike in the clearness of their skin and their eyes. Some of the flyweights stood hardly 5 feet 2 inches tall, which made them appear stocky despite their few pounds. One of the 118 pounders, Thornton Ford of Lincoln, Ill., stood scarcely less than 5 feet 10, a lanky, wiry kid with a reach of a middleweight. Occasionally a boy would weigh two pounds over his class, so he was put into the next higher class, as only one pound variation from the class weights was allowed. It was rather hard on the boy, but probably the fault of his trainer in not keeping him to his weight.

Weighed and given their contestants' buttons, the boys moved on to the row of doctors, who listened to their hearts and lungs and carefully examined their hands. For two and a half hours the stream passed, with hardly a missing name among those who had qualified.

Cold Weather Spurs Cubs in Drills at Island Camp

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 25.—There was an absence of what is known as California climate from the Cub training grounds today, but the conditioning of the athletes progressed nevertheless. Because of the wind and only occasional sunshine it was rather unpleasant for anybody standing around and doing nothing.

McCarthy's early bird performers, old and new alike, overcame this handicap by two hours of assorted, heated labors which undoubtedly helped in the hardening of muscles.

The drill given the nineteen athletes today was of a tricky nature. Pitchers love to hit, though most of them are flops. McCarthy took advantage of their weakness. He let them take turns hitting against a quartet of the new hurlers and each time a ball was hit the batter had to run the sacks as far as third base. The fellows doing the hitting thought they were having a good time. In reality they were working about twice as strenuously as they thought.

Boss Interested in Nelson.

The pitching, or rather the throwing to the batters, was done by Nelson, Shealy, McAfee, and Lautenbacher, all youths with ambition to stick. Among these McCarthy's chief interest is in Nelson, ex-masked marvel of the boxing ring.

Nelson carries out his hardboiled rôle by wearing his cap at the rakish angle made famous by Kid Gleason, who himself was no piece of putty. Before being asked to throw to the supposed hitters Nelson, under advice from McCarthy, was told to watch Root and Malone throw, the idea being that the kid might learn something about delivery. Carlson, Blake, and Bush aren't yet at the stage where they will put their arms to any more exertion than is necessary.

Werneke Has Two Black Eyes.

Hartnett's throws of the day before satisfied those most vitally interested that there is nothing more to worry about. Gabby, however, is going to restrain himself for another week. Then he'll throw caution to the winds, and he hopes his arm doesn't go along with the caution.

Louis Werneke, the second edition of Howard Ehmke, was on the field in street clothes today and except for a pair of blackened optics looked none the worse for using his head to stop a bat yesterday. He was kept in the island hospital until this morning for observation. The doctors thought they might discover something serious and in that way run up a larger bill which would have to be paid to William Wrigley's hospital by William Wrigley's ball club.

Big Guns Move West

THE second contingent of the Chicago Cubs, made up of eight players, including most of the club's offensive strength, left on the Santa Fe shortly after noon yesterday, bound for Catalina island. Among those in the party were Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Woody English, Riggs Stephenson, Lester Bell, Dan Taylor, and Charley Tolson. At Kansas City today, the party will be joined by Capt. Charley Grimm, Rogers Hornsby, and Clarence Blair.

TEXAS BASEBALL FANS ANNOUNCE BETTING FIGURES

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 25.—It is said there is more gambling on baseball games in the state of Texas than in all the other states combined. There is a man in Fort Worth who is reported to have cleared $3,000,000 making prices on baseball games, the sucker taking his choice at the prices quoted.

Texans are surpassed in their zeal for wagering on ball games only by the Mexican residents in the state. The population of San Antonio is about half Mexican. It, therefore, is not surprising that with two major league ball clubs and one Texas league club training in San Antonio there has been a decided wagering itch among the toters of bank rolls.

The residents of this community, like those of other sections of the state, don't go for the baseball pool lottery notion so popular in the east and middle west. That involves no experting, and down here they're all experts.

Make First Game Prediction.

All of which is preliminary to the statement that today the sheet writers, or betting commissioners, opened up their baseball bureaus with opening game propositions. This even before the arrival of the second squads of the Sox and the Giants.

The sheets on the opening market are not unlike a nine horse parlay at the track, though the odds, of course, aren't so devastating because it is possible to name at least a half dozen athletes on each team who are sure to do their stuff on next April 15.

The shortest priced combination relative to the Sox, 5 to 1, is that the Sox will line up as follows when they start the season against the Cleveland Indians:

There are longer priced combinations figuring Jeffries at short, Moore in center, Metzler in left, etc., and a number of parlays with Faber or Lyons pitching.

Authors who have been writing holdout stories from the Sox camp swallowed hard when ol' Sarge Connally roared into town today via airplane.

Hangs Out No Singing Sign.

The Sarge began to slip out of Comiskey graces two seasons ago when he was detected strumming La Paloma under a window of the Hollenden hotel in Cleveland at 3 a. m.

On his arrival today, however, he announced he had pawned the guitar and had thrown away the ticket. While a blow to the nocturnal music lovers of the American league circuit, the action of Rip Snorter, as Connally affectionately is called by his teammates, assures some high class relief pitching, providing George doesn't have a relapse and buy another guitar.

BOWEN QUINTETS HAND ROOSEVELT DOUBLE DEFEAT

Lane Heavies, Calumet Lights Win.

Bowen heavies and lights, Lane heavies and Calumet lights—these four were the victors in the opening semi-final games of the City league yesterday. The Bowen teams, both runners-up in the south section, scored a double victory over Roosevelt's fives, both north section champions, at White City, the heavies winning in an overtime, 28 to 27, while the lights rallied to win, 28 to 18. Lane heavies and lights, runners-up to Roosevelt, divided at De La Salle's gym, the former defeating Morgan Park, south section champion, 20 to 13, while the latter bowed to Calumet's champions, 32 to 20.

Joe Costello's last minute basket in the overtime gave Bowen heavies their victory. They had led until the closing minutes when Cohen of Roosevelt tied it with a long shot. Gebbie gave Roosevelt a lead on a free throw in the extra period and then Costello came through. Lineups:

CRANE HEAVIES BEAT MARSHALL FOR 2D PLACE, 20-16

Crane heavyweights, defending City league champions, entered the city semi-final round yesterday by defeating Marshall, 20 to 16, on the Roosevelt court. The two teams were tied for second place in the west section with seven victories and three defeats, and yesterday's game settled the question of which would represent the section with Harrison, which won the championship Monday.

Crane led, 17 to 9, at the half. Milt Bocek led the victors with three baskets and four free throws, while Riess' five points stood out for Marshall.

BRUINS OPPOSE WORLD CHAMPS HERE TONIGHT

The Chicago Bruins will meet the world champion Cleveland Rosenblums in an American league basketball game tonight at the Chicago Stadium.

The Bruins, although fifth in the standings, are only two games behind the league leading Rochester Centrals, a gap they hope to close in this week's series. They meet Rochester at the Stadium tomorrow evening.

Cleveland and the Bruins fought to an even break in four games last week.

The Bruins' chances tonight will be improved by the return of Ray Kennedy, who has been nursing an infected hand for the last ten days.

Sporty Casting Brings Becker Florida Bass

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fish Eating Creek, Fla., Feb. 25.—It's either a case of bank fishing or bring your boat when you travel across the prairies to this wild, semi-tropical bass stream, connected with the Okeechobee lake waters.

On our trip here the other day nary a trace of a boat could we find, so taking our casting rod and lures we picked our way along the bank, under the big oak trees and around patches of palmettos shooting a cast wherever we could. We fished on one bank and on the opposite side of the stream Harry Binks of Chicago and Kelly Day of Punta Gorda ploughed through to do their tricks with a casting rod. And it takes tricky shooting to get the lure where you want it when you are prowling through such a jungle as that along Fish Eating creek.

Encounters Wide Bayou.

One minute you must execute a side flip to shoot the lure through a small opening. The next shot requires a short, underhand cast to reach the butt of a huge cypress tree that rears its moss draped trunk and branches high in the air. Then, fifteen feet farther down the stream you must crack the lure through a four foot opening with moss reaching out to snag on.

The stream itself seems to have no idea of direction. Occasionally it narrowed down to a well behaved straight little river with nice banks on which to walk and cast. While we were giving thanks for such a layout we suddenly encountered a wide bayou reaching back in the timber and requiring a lot of hot scrambling and wading before we could get back to the main river.

Fish Hike for Shelter.

We found bass where the water was not more than a foot deep. Hiking through the moss draped oaks near the head of one of these small bayous we saw two fish make a V shaped disturbance on the surface as, frightened by our approach, they rushed for deeper water.

On the next shallow bayou we operated a little differently. Standing well back from the water we shot a long cast into the middle of the open water and brought the lure in rapidly. Wham, there was a bass, sure enough, the first catch of the day.

their men down late with emphatic instructions not to accept so much as a cigarette or even a light from any one connected with the Garden firm.

On a recent evening there came an emergency call to the hotel for photographers to rush down to the box offices on the mainland to blow off flash bombs and immortalize the stirring scene of a stampede around the ticket windows, and several interesting shots were made as a great throng stormed the place. But a cynic among the reporters chanced to be reading the Help Wanted, Male columns of the evening paper, believing perhaps that if prizefights were beginning to flop this might be a good time to look around for honest toil, and came upon a small advertisement reading: "Wanted—200 ushers for Sharkey-Scott fight. Apply at the box office at eight this evening." Placing the most sinister interpretation on this circumstance, he edged up to the head of the line to see what was taking place, and it is his report to me that the boys were not passing money through the wickets, but signing applications for jobs. So, notwithstanding the generous hospitality and the airy optimism of the Garden corporation, there obviously are some of little faith among the newspaper boys.

Mr. Johnston Tries.

Mr. Johnston has made two belated efforts to develop a malicious, or, at any rate, a combative, interest in the transaction between the two business men, threatening to withdraw Philip from the bout unless the local boxing commissioners revised their rule regarding the stoppage of a fight to save a man from needless brutality. Monday he put on his hat and, with a taunting "Good-by, gentlemen, the fight is off," started to leave the commission's meeting rooms, but was urged to return and promised the utmost consideration. It was agreed that Lou Magnolia, the referee, should refer to him for permission to stop the fight in the event that Philip should be helpless but too game to go down.

"I don't want the fight stopped to Philip under any circumstances," said Mr. Johnston, momentarily forgetting the watchwords of chivalry and sportsmanship which have ever been the guide of all concerned in pugilism, "not even if he is getting murdered. I don't want him stopped unless he is knocked out."

The commissioners promised to the extent that Magnolia should not interrupt Philip without consent of his handlers, but today Mr. Johnston raised the question again, because Magnolia had left the place insisting that he would see no homicide done in any fight of his governing, regardless of the sentiments of his backholders.

So again today Mr. Johnston put on his hat and said, "Good-by, gentlemen, the fight is off," and this time Mr. Magnolia replied, "God be with you, and we will put in Campolo versus Sharkey and draw $40,000 more than we ever could with Scott."

BUSINESS NEWS MIXED; FUTURE STILL UNCERTAIN

Wild Steel Let-up Is Reported.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Optimist and pessimist, bull and bear, were able to pick items to their satisfaction in yesterday's news. In fact, it was a day of unusually contrasting and confusing news, with not much indication of the future trend.

Some mild slackening in the steel industry was reported, particularly among the smaller producers, which are always the first to feel a decline in demand. However, some letdown was not unexpected in view of the rapid expansion in production in the last two months following the sharp betterment in November and December. Steel ingot production for the whole industry now is estimated around 85 per cent of capacity, compared with above 81 per cent a week ago and 93½ per cent a year ago.

Thus, it would appear that the industry is not much worse off than last February. But whether it will repeat the abnormal volume of last summer is another matter. The United States Steel corporation is faring better than its competitors, with operations this week holding above 85 per cent. Independent producers are running around 75 per cent, compared with 77 per cent last week. Steel sheet production last month totaled 291,529 tons, compared with 181,916 tons in December, and output rose to 77.6 per cent of capacity, compared with 48 per cent.

Oil Output Rises.

Another big increase in petroleum production last week emphasized the continuing troubles of the oil industry and lack of success in overcoming excessive production. The daily average gross crude oil output was 2,722,050 barrels, an increase of 69,100 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute. Part of last week's increase occurred in California, which showed an upturn of 41,000 barrels a day. Refineries increased their taking of crude oil somewhat, operating at 72.4 per cent of capacity, compared with 71.4 per cent in the previous week.

Offsetting these adverse industrial developments was evidence of some pickup in general trade, as shown by the movement of commodities by the railroads. Revenue freight loadings for the week ended Feb. 15 totaled 51,197 cars, an increase of 5,016 over the preceding week, although a decline of 46,981 from the corresponding week

Storage of Grain Is Seen Big Problem

BY SCRUTATOR.

Where the policies of the federal farm board are leading cannot be accurately foreseen. There are indications that the methods followed by this organization are undergoing profound changes under stress of the demand that "something be done," whether the conditions require those particular methods or not.

Although the marketing act creating the board was passed in early summer and the first meeting was held in August, there was no decided step toward engagement in speculative activities until a very few weeks ago. The original efforts toward amelioration of farm conditions took the form of lending to coöperatives on grains they held which were hedged in the futures markets.

The next step was to set a loan price on unhedged grain and at the present prices the grain so pledged could not in general be sold for what is lent on it. The third step was the formation of the stabilization corporation and its entry as a buyer of cash grain and, yesterday for the first time, the speculative purchase of contracts for future delivery.

Estimate Present Losses.

The first loans on hedged grains practically eliminated the prospect of losses on the grain. The second step was moderate in that it is estimated only a little more than two million dollars was risked. Now the amount has been jumped greatly. No figures have been issued on the governmental buying, but estimates run from ten or twelve millions up. The losses now are not serious in comparison with the available funds. They may even be recouped by a shift in the market.

The danger is not that the present funds may go into the loss column. It is that the cry of distress may be raised too often and that hundreds may have to be poured in where single dollars now are used. There is, too, the greater danger that all private help in the marketing of the grain crops of the country may be forced out.

Any marketing or stabilization plan depends on good, ample, and economical storage facilities. Probably the construction of such space has not kept pace in the last five years with the demands for it. Private capital has not been anxious to step into such enterprises in that period, which began with the original McNary-Haugen agitation. It could almost be said that such investments have been avoided.

See Possible Interference.

Chicago grain warehouses are filled now. Storage charges go on against the grain in them. Insurance goes on, too. According to Claude D. Stephens, engineer, some of the older warehouses have insurance rates that are seventeen to twenty times those of the most modern type. Mr. Stephens adds that nearly all construction in the recent past of terminal elevators has been by railroads, shipping companies, or public and quasi-public organizations.

It is more than possible that the governmental interference with the farm problem has caused the retention of obsolete storage space and the failure to build some that is good. There are reports that several million bushels of capacity has been held up because of uncertainty as to whether the government was going to destroy the marketing system as it has been built up.

These fears may be unwarranted, but they are real in the grain trade. In the construction line, at least, marketing has been hampered by them. One question to be settled is whether government is able to repair this; whether it can bring better physical facilities for handling and do it as cheaply as enterprises would in the hopes of profit if they were free.

Says This Year Looks Good for Life Insurance Sales

The year 1930 promises to be record breaking as far as life insurance sales in Illinois are concerned, according to the Illinois Chamber of Commerce which has issued a bulletin showing life insurance sales for January amounting to $67,740,000, an increase of 6 per cent, or $4,064,400, over the same month of 1929. Over 46 per cent of the Illinois companies reporting showed substantial gains in the month of January.

WHEAT RALLIES AS U. S. BUYS IN WILD MARKET

Report 3,000,000 Bu. Bought by Board.

BY PAUL POTTER

Wild scenes were general in the wheat markets of the continent yesterday as further price drops of 5 to 8 cents a bushel carried prices nearly 2 cents under a dollar, only to meet a sudden spurt of futures buying, said to have been led by the federal farm board's stabilization corportation in the Chicago pit. Closing quotations indicated rallies in both Canadian and American markets that virtually offset the day's declines.

Governmental influence in the nation's foodstuffs markets assumed several new angles during the day. The farm board's funds were used to purchase large amounts of May and March wheat, which is said to have led other buyers into the market late in the trading. Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board, after conferring with President Hoover at the White House, issued a statement designed to coördinate the farm board's program with the administration's efforts to stabilize business generally, and asking the coöperation of the grain trade "in restoration of the grain markets.

Report 3,000,000 Bu Bought.

In the Chicago wheat pit a veritable stampede of the trade was caused in the closing few minutes of buying. It was reported that during this time between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 bushels were purchased for the governmental stabilization corporation.

An order sent out yesterday by W. G. Kellogg, president of the stabilization corporation, and manager of the farmers' national grain coöperative, was expected to restrict buying by these corporations after midnight last night to offerings from coöperatives. The federal farm board's schedule of prices, now varying from 10 to 16 cents over current quotations, will govern such purchasing, it was said. Early news of this order was in part responsible for the day's demoralized trading in several American markets.

Heavy liquidation in a market where few buying orders existed is said to have caused the two days of heavy trading that has turned the spotlight of the nation's interest from recent stock market declines. This, coupled with absence of foreign buying and steadily mounting stocks of grain in terminals, has served as grease for the wheat market toboggan. Sales

Legge Calls on Trade to Check Slump in Wheat

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Two hours after a conference at the White House with President Hoover, Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, issued a statement today intended to check the sensational fluctuations in the wheat market.

Tying the farm board's program up to the President's effort to stabilize business generally, Mr. Legge declared that the "grain trade in particular is interested in the maintenance of stability and the board earnestly hopes for their coöperation in the measure now being taken for restoration of the grain markets."

Mr. Legge added significantly that the board will stand firmly on its wheat loan policy and that he is confident its coöperative agencies "will get the loan figure out of their wheat," namely, $1.18 a bushel at Chicago.

Sees Co-ops Save Farmer.

Commenting upon the wheat slump, Mr. Legge stated yesterday that the drop is of small consequence to the farmer who belongs to a coöperative, as he can get the loan price for his wheat anyway. It was believed to be the sharp reaction to this statement that took Mr. Legge to the White House today.

"The Chicago Board of Trade put a construction entirely too narrow on my statement by interpreting it as meaning the farm board is not interested in the market," the chairman explained. "We are interested in the market. What I meant to convey was that our primary interest is in the coöperative farmer, to whom we owe our obligation."

Mr. Legge added that, although President Hoover had not formally indorsed his statement today, he had discussed it and was aware that it was to be issued.

Although he expressed his belief that the present price of wheat is abnormally low, considering prices over the last 15 years, and that the market will rebound at least to the $1.18 figure, the board chairman was cautious in his remarks concerning the action of the board to stabilize it. He explained that 15 million bushels of wheat has been purchased thus far by the Farmers' National Grain corporation and the stabilization corporation, but refused to be drawn into a prediction of how they will buy in the future.

Remove Panicky Market?

What the farm board hopes to bring about, Mr. Legge indicated, is removal of the panicky market fluctuations by action of the traders themselves. Many independent grain merchants are being forced to the wall by the slump, he observed, with the result that not only the farmers and the country in general are hurt but the grain trade itself. There is no sound reason for such activity on the market at this time, he believes.

As indicated by the Legge statement, the board also hopes to diminish the hostility of the grain traders to its activity in financing farm coöperatives.

"Some objection has developed in the grain trade against the action of the farm board in financing farm coöperatives in the purchase of wheat and cotton in the present situation," the statement read. "These activities will continue in the interest of agriculture and business as an emergency measure in the present situation. I have no fear that the coöperatives will not be able eventually to market the purchases satisfactorily.

Collapse of Speculation.

"In connection with these objections, I should like to make this statement as a conservative business man, addressed to the conservative business men of the country:

"The country as a whole was thrown into depression through the collapse of speculation on the New York Stock exchange. The action of the President in securing coöperation of the business world absolutely prevented this collapse from developing into a panic and has enormously mitigated its effects upon employment and business, including agriculture.

"The farmer also was the victim of this collapse. His products and his labor were jeopardized the same as the other workers' through the currents started in considerable part from the same causes. His only direct support in this emergency is the farm board."

New York, Feb. 25.—Stocks took another flop today. They developed some rallying power in the last hour, thanks to hypodermic injections by traders gifted with the larger view of things, but it was not enough to restore earlier losses and the final prices were anywhere from one to nine points below last night's figures. Transactions totaled 2,632,910 shares.

There is no denying the market has fallen under the weather just as the boys in blue have been saying it would. It makes heroic efforts to keep going, but something here of late seems to be always happening to gum the works. Today it was mainly wheat—March options under the dollar mark and May and the others down proportionately. Yesterday it was wheat and the menace of higher taxes and higher money, and heaven knows what else. The point is the market very plainly has not the resisting power it had a while back. It is too easily bowled over.

Reasons for Weakness.

The real reasons for its weakness are evidently to be found in the overbought position of stocks' renewed

Research Department Service

FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

THE investor whose income places him in the higher income tax classifications faces a difficult and interesting problem in making an adjustment of his security holdings from the standpoint of tax exemption.

The Research Department of Lawrence Stern and Company is prepared to suggest methods of adjusting the investment program of any investor to the best advantage with relation to Federal income taxation.

It is the policy of our analysts not only to give careful attention to the possibilities of investment in tax exempt securities, but also to suggest other methods of approaching the problem of income taxation which are especially adapted to the particular needs of different investors.

For example, it has been our experience that many investors purchase tax exemption unnecessarily, and that an analysis will show increased return, and desirable diversification, from the substitution of a certain proportion of corporate securities. In the great majority of cases where a high income tax is paid, a formula applied for the purpose of establishing a proper balance between taxable and tax exempt securities will result in very material savings to the investor.

COMPREHENSIVE and dependable information is the basis of intelligent and successful investing.

In recognition of this fact, it is the policy of Lawrence Stern and Company to place the greatest emphasis on statistical, analytical and research facilities, and we have devoted special attention to the development of a competent and trained advisory personnel in that department.

This is one of a series of advertisements describing in detail the functions of the Research Department of Lawrence Stern and Company.

The services of this department are offered to any investor without obligation, but with the frank expectation that, if we are successful in serving the investor well, we will receive consideration when he purchases securities.

WHEAT RALLIES AS U. S. BUYS IN WILD MARKET

for export were reported during yesterday's break to some extent.

Other Grains Affected.

Corn, oats, and rye prices, following the trend in wheat, also suffered reactions during the day, but rallied at the market's close. New York commodities such as cotton, crude rubber, raw silk, raw sugar, and cocoa reached new low levels for the year, acting in sympathy with the wheat price range. Cotton, however, more than regained its losses late in the day.

An indication of the curtailed shipments of American grain to Europe is seen in figures released yesterday from Washington. Exports of grain from the United States decreased to 618,000 bushels in the week ended Feb. 22, as compared with 1,971,000 in the preceding week, and 2,496,000 in the corresponding week of last year. Canadian grains shipped from United States Atlantic ports amounted to 1,172,000 bushels this week, against 696,000 the week preceding. Exports of both American and Canadian wheat flour from domestic ports remained unchanged for the week.

400,000,000 Bu. Available.

It is estimated that the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia have more than 400,000,000 bushels of wheat available for export at the present time.

Buying of wheat futures, a new departure of the federal farm board's stabilization corporation, is not expected to change materially the world wheat situation. Broomhall, European grain statistician, indicated yesterday that his "estimate on importers' requirements of 672,000,000 bushels probably would have to be reduced. This would suggest the smallest international movement of wheat the world has seen in eight years. Average annual imports for the period amount to 800,000,000 bushels.

Yesterday's closing quotations in Chicago were a half cent higher to a half cent lower as compared with the finish on Monday, March selling at $1.03⅝@1.04¼, and May at $1.08⅛@1.08¾. At the low point yesterday nearby deliveries of wheat here were off 61¼@64¼ cents from the high point of last summer, and more than 12 cents below the best prices last Friday. Outside markets were in accord with price ranges in Chicago.

Corn Futures Drop, Then Rally.

The break in wheat was accompanied by a drop in corn futures of 1⅜ to 2⅜ cents early in the trading, offsetting limited country offerings, the smallest receipts in months, and an aggressive shipping demand. However, at the close net gains of half a to a cent were shown, with March grain at 83 to 83⅛ cents and May grain 86⅞ to 87 cents, the finish being around 3 cents above the inside figures.

Houses with northwestern connections bought oats early, but the market broke later as wheat declined, with all deliveries selling at a new low on the crop. The March delivery fell 1½ cents to 39¼ cents. Short covering and the late upturn in other grains brought in buying and the finish was half a cent lower to five-eighths of a cent higher with March deliveries at 40¼ cents, and May grain at 42¾ to 42⅝ cents.

Buying of rye against sales of corn by spreaders gave the former market strength and, while there was a sharp break with wheat at one time the close was ⅝ to 1¼ cents higher with March grain at 78⅛ cents, and May grain at 76¼ cents.

LARD HAS SMALL BREAK

Trading in lard was light and the feeling easier, in sympathy with grains, but net losses on futures were only 5@10 cents, while bellies were 7½@10 lower. There was little interest in the market, with packers' brokers taking most of the offerings and the close was around the opening figures. Cash trade was slow. Exports of lard from the seaboard were 4,914,375 lbs and of bacon 2,480,750 lbs. Hog prices were lower and receipts were less than last year. Prices follow:

Butter futures weakened in the absence of encouraging factors. March lost ¾c or $120 a car and April fresh dropped $144 a car in light trading. Sales were 112 cars and receipts 17,729 tubs. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders regarded the market at the close as having been sold out with the vast number of stop loss orders, the execution of which have been largely responsible for the big decline of around 15c within a short time. This break has had a corrective influence and the market was said to be in a position to respond to constructive influences. A rally is regarded as due, but export buying and large clearances must come ultimately to advance and keep prices at a higher level, especially as we have to compete with other countries who have a surplus and are anxious to sell.

With the government buying wheat futures in a possible effort to stabilize values, a new element is put into the trade that should have a constructive influence. At the same time it creates uncertainty as to what the real intentions of the government managers really are and whether they believe that maintaining prices at the present level will induce foreign buying, while other countries are anxious to sell. There is much to be said on this situation, as it is an entirely new factor.

GOOD GAINS IN COTTON; PRICES UP $1 PER BALE

Cotton prices moved irregularly within a good range, and closed at almost the highest point, with gains of $1 a bale on spot and 18@27 points on futures. Selling pressure early was in sympathy with the break in grains and the movement of prices irregular. In the last hour the market had good support, due in a measure to reduced selling pressure and more active buying in sympathy with the sharp advance in grain. The close was with a better tone.

Spot cotton in New York was 15.10c, New Orleans 14.85c, Galveston 15.3?c and Houston 15.20c. Prices follow:

REPORTS SHOW DECLINES IN JAN. RAIL EARNINGS

New York, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Returns of the first group of railroads reporting the results of January operations show that the net operating income of many of the carriers fell below that of the corresponding month last year. This fact is not surprising in that a general decrease in the freight car loadings from last year had previously been reported.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was an outstanding exception among the roads reporting, showing an increase over January, 1929.

Included among the railroads reporting today and the net operating income for last month and for the same month a year ago were:

TEXAS CORP. TO SHOW 1929 NET OF $48,318,072

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 25.—The annual report of the Texas corporation will show net earnings for 1929 after all deductions and federal taxes of $48,318,072, R. C. Holmes, president, announced today.

The 1929 earnings represent an increase of $3,224,192 or 7.28 per cent over 1928, and are equal to $5.12 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year. Net earnings in 1928 totaled $45,071,880 or $5.56 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year.

STOCKS MOVE CAUTIOUSLY IN TRADING HERE

Several Chicago Issues Run Up Gains.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks moved cautiously on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Uncertainty resulting from the situation in the wheat market was effective as a restraining influence.

A few issues forged ahead in the face of such adverse sentiment, but for the most part the list was quiet. Transactions gained over the previous day, but were below the average of the last several days. Total sales amounted to 232,000 shares.

Abbott Laboratories and Bendix Aviation showed strength throughout the session. Abbott responded quickly to the favorable earnings statement for 1929 that the company released and finished up 3 points at 42½.

Gains Two Points.

Bendix on heavy sales climbed 2 points and closed slightly under the high for the day. Strength in the stock was attributed to reports that the directors are planning further expansion through the acquisition of one or more brake companies.

Sales in Marshall Field approximated 2,600 shares while the price eased slightly to 51. Other specialties were irregular with changes small. Kalamazoo ran up more than a point during the morning but the gain melted away and the stock closed a fraction over.

Grigsby held steady at 16¾, while Kentark Radio advanced over a point. Little interest was shown in other curb stocks.

Among the utilities, Central Public Service new stock on light trade turned up sharply, advancing 6 points to 36. Middle West was actively traded in and a fraction lower.

Central Illinois Public Service preferred stock opened a point off, but closed unchanged at 96. The company last night reported net earnings of $3,296,882 for 1929, which compares with $3,978,769 in 1928. After payment of dividends on the preferred and common stock $409,097 was transferred to surplus, which now stands at $2,-121,199.

Auburn Drops Five Points.

With the exception of Bendix, motor stocks were generally lower. Auburn droped 5 and Borg-Warner and Allied Motor each fell a point. Foote Bros. Gear was slightly lower. Foote stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday approved the increase in capital stock from 250,000 to 400,000 shares. Earnings of the company last year, as reported by President W. C. Davis, were the best in the firm's history. Net for the year totaled $612,618, equal to $2.34 a share on the common stock after provision for preferred dividends. The 1929 earnings were almost double the 1928 figure of $308,997, which was equal to $2.34 a share on the smaller number of common shares then outstanding.

NEW BUILDINGS ANNOUNCED FOR TWO SUBURBS

To Go Up in Wilmette and La Grange.

BY AL CHASE.

Two suburbs, La Grange and Wilmette, figured in building announcements yesterday which will result in new structures to be occupied mostly by chain store concerns. The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company will have space in each of the new buildings.

The Wilmete project involves a 100 year lease. The property at 1109 Central avenue, 50x200, was leased by Martin J. Corcoran to an undisclosed lessee for 100 years at an average net annual rental of $5,100, or 6 per cent on $85,000. This is at the rate of $1,700 per front foot, which is said to be a record price for Wilmette.

To Start in 90 Days.

The lessee contemplates erecting a modern building, a part of which will be occupied by a large self-service store of the A. & P. The latter concern has taken a ten year lease at an undisclosed rental. The balance of the building will be rented to another large chain store organization. J. C. Cormack of John F. Hahn, Inc., represented all parties as broker.

Anthony H. Quitsow is architect of the proposed building, work on which is scheduled to start within ninety days. The structure, it is stated, will cost $40,000. It will be one story in height.

George W. Prassas announces that he has purchased the vacant 79x125 on Fifth avenue, just north of Harris street, in La Grange, and will immediately construct a one story building, stone front, which will contain four stores. The A. & P. have leased the two south stores for ten years at an aggregate rental of $58,000. According to Mr. Prassas, the building and ground will represent a total investment of approximately $100,000.

The thirteen apartments at 1319-21 Carmen avenue, lot 40x144 feet, have been sold by Claes G. Johnston to Oswald Hedin for an undisclosed consideration. Edward Anderson was attorney.

START ON TRIO OF APARTMENTS IN NILES CENTER

A trio of apartment buildings, aggregating $102,000 in reported value, is being built by the Metropolitan District Realty trust in Niles Center, on Jerome street, near East Prairie road, for James Salach of Chicago. The contract calls for May 1 occupancy. The structure at 3854 Jerome street will have nine flats, and cost $50,000. At 3840 a three apartment building costing $27,000 is being erected. The building at 3834 will have three five room suites, and will cost $25,000.

TELLS FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION OF DEALS IN UTILITY FINANCING

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Two transactions with subsidiaries by which the American Gas and Electric company was said to have made large profits at comparatively nominal expense were outlined today in the federal trade commission's investigation of power utility financing.

Frank Buckingham, a commission accountant, told the commission that he figured American Gas had acquired control of the Appalachian Electric Power company, one of its largest subsidiaries, for $3,590,000 or less.

He also testified that on an investment of $12,500,000 the holding company made a net profit of more than $8,000,000 in the purchase and later sale of the American Electric Power company. During the three year period that American Gas owned this corporation, the accountant said several important utilities were "abstracted" from the company, and a $50 a share dividend which totaled $9,457,450 was declared and collected. The concern, he said, then was sold to the American Electric Power corporation for $6,080,000 cash, $9,000,000 in bonds and 13,700 shares of second preferred stock.

BUSINESS NEWS MIXED; FUTURE STILL UNCERTAIN

Report Mild Letup in Steel Industry.

last year. Nearly half of the decline from a year ago was due to smaller coal loadings as the result of milder weather this month.

A better employment situation prevailed in the middle west last month, according to the monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank, but savings deposits again made an unfavorable comparison.

Note Steadier Tendency.

"A tendency toward steadiness in industrial employment was indicated by a smaller decline in number of wage earners and pay rolls during January than for several months," the review says. "This was largely influenced by the activity of both producers and users of iron and steel. Nonmanufacturing employment was not improved, being marked by a decline in wholesale and retail trade and construction activities.

"The volume of regular savings deposits on Feb. 1 declined 3.2 per cent from Dec. 31, 1929, and 5.9 per cent from a year ago. Declines of 3.1 per cent and 6 per cent were likewise shown in the average account."

Stockholders of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, which supplies gas to Chicago, were given a resume of the progress of the company in recent years by Samuel Insull at their annual meeting yesterday. Earlier in the day Mr. Insull was elected chairman of the Commonwealth Edison company, being succeeded as president by Edward J. Doyle, while today Mr. Insull will be elected chairman of the Peoples Gas company and George F. Mitchell will become president.

Recalls Rehabilitation.

"On March 24, 1919, I was elected president," Mr. Insull recalled. "The company's affairs were in a bad way, largely due to the effect of the war. There was a good deal of public and political hostility. The main tasks were rehabilitation of the company's finances and credit, provision for additional plant and equipment, improvement in operating efficiency and employé morale, better customer relations and less leeway in politics, and formulation of a business building policy to assure growth.

"New money has been put into our business. Our gross expenditures for additions to fixed capital in eleven years has amounted to over $61,000,000. The growth of the business has been a 70 per cent increase. Our customers are satisfied."

Resolutions of appreciation for Mr. Insull's services were adopted and Edward F. Swift and Samuel Insull Jr. were elected additional directors.

URGES DECENTRALIZED BRANCH BANKING FOR SERVING TRADE AREAS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Decentralized branch banking, to be developed by permitting national banks to extend branches into their respective trade areas, was advanced, as an answer today by John W. Pole, controller of the currency, to the demand for slowing down the centralization of banking resources.

Appearing as the first witness in the house banking committee's study of group, chain, and branch banking, Mr. Pole recalled the depressing influence exerted by the large number of bank failures in various sections of the country in the last ten years and explained his conclusion that "our small independent unit banks are no longer fulfilling the purposes of their creation."

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Simmons' Weakness.

The continued weakness in Simmons is said to be due in some extent to the selling by those who are tied up in the grain market, but it would seem to be due also to the drop in earnings, a combination that traders find hard to arouse enthusiasm for this much bulled stock of last year.

Cite Banking Power.

Persons who mentally link Krueger & Toll with the world match business often fail to consider the power the company has in international banking. Announcement was made in Berlin yesterday of the merger of the Central Boden Kredit A. G., with the Preussische Pfandbriefbank, in which Kreuger & Toll is the leading shareholder. The Deutsche Union Bank of Berlin, credited with bringing about the merger of the two mortgage banks which have 1,000,000,000 reischsmarks of bonds outstanding, is also controlled by Krueger & Toll.

Has Many Friends.

Seaboard Airline stocks have made many friends in Wall street since the recapitalization. The new funds which it received, it is said, makes it reasonably certain that the company will be able to keep its head above water, financially, for years to come. It will also make it possible to effect large savings in operations through the purchase of new equipment.

IMPORTS GOLD.

The Bank of America is importing $200,000 in gold from Rio de Janeiro.

Live stock prices were off again yesterday, in spite of the abbreviated receipts. Hogs and lambs led the way down, the former selling below the corresponding day in 1929 for the first time this year. Total arrivals of all kinds at 49,600 compare with 55,930 the previous Tuesday, with 56,181 a year ago and with 65,914 two years ago, hogs and sheep receipts showing most decrease.

Hogs Lowest Since Feb. 6.

A drop of 15@40c carried hog prices to the lowest level since Feb. 6 and fully 50c under the quotations in vogue at the close of last week. The extreme top came down 35c at $11.15, while the general average was off 20c at $10.80, comparing with an average of $11.00 last Saturday and $10.65 on the corresponding day last year. Demand showed some improvement after prices reached the bottom, small packers, city butchers and shippers taking a total of 17,000, while Armour, Swift and Wilson handled nearly 9,000. However, there were 9,000 in the pens at the close. Five western markets expect a combined total of 64,000 today against 71,700 the previous Wednesday.

The 6,000 cattle on the market yesterday were hard to dispose of at the recent decline and some were held off the market on the strength of the advance estimate of only 6,000 for today, which compares with 8,580 last Wednesday. Good 1,352 lb steers topped the market at $14.50, while 1,526 lb averages were sold at $14.00 and bulk of cattle of beef merit at $10.75@13.40. Cows and heifers were slow and barely steady. Calves were little changed. Stockers and feeders were slow and weak.

Lambs Lowest Since 1921.

Lamb prices were pounded down mostly 25c more yesterday, peak prices being lowest since December, 1921. Barring the period from November, 1920, to December, 1921, prices are lowest since 1916 and show losses of $5.75@6.00 compared with this week a year ago. One short deck of fancy light lambs sold to shippers at $11.50 yesterday, which compares with a top of $17.50 a year ago.

Few sales were made above $11.25, with some 101 lb. averages of good quality down to $9.50. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and steady. Feeding lambs show losses of 15@25c compared with the close of last week.

BOSTON & MAINE PAYS DIVIDENDS ON ITS COMMON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 25.—Directors of the Boston and Maine railroad today resumed dividends on the common stock, which has not paid any return since 1913, by the declaration of a quarterly disbursement of $1. This places the stock on a $4 annual basis.

On April 1, 1929, dividends were resumed on the preferred stock, when a quarterly disbursement of $1.50 was announced. Dividends on the common stock were paid unbrokenly from 1842 to 1913.

After announcement of the dividend a bill in equity was filed in Supreme court to restrain payment of the dividend until dividends are paid on preferred stock for the years 1925 to 1928. A statement issued by the railroad had expressed confidence that payment of the announced common stock dividend would not be interefered with. The bill in equity was filed in behalf of Arthur W. Joslin of Wesley Hills, holder of 250 shares of preferred stock.

It is expected that another old New England carrier, the Maine Central, will increase its dividend rate when the directors meet for dividend action next Friday. The company now pays $4 a year on the common stock, having resumed dividends in 1926 after a lapse of several years. Earnings last year were equal to $13.29 a share on the common stock, but that includes back mail pay equal to $4.32 a share.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by a band from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged on the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house where he finds Ellen Shear alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house looking for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for his attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who he claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Shear there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe and others. As they sit at the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found shot dead in his chair dead with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested. He and his friends are determined to discover the murderer in order to clear Jim. He is later released from jail and meets Pete Moss and Buck Roe on the street. Their attitude towards him is threatening.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

A WARNING.

The sheriff could not hear what was being said, but he knew the group gathered there had inflammable potentialities.

"Morning, gentlemen. Kinda blocking traffic, aren't you?" he said with brisk assurance.

"Meanin' any one in particular, Allison?" Buck Roe drawled.

"Meaning every one in general, Buck, including you," the sheriff replied promptly. "In a busy town like this folks have to keep moving to prevent a jam."

"You don't say. An' you're marshal as well as sheriff now, I reckon?" he asked, the light eyes in his leathery face solicitously sarcastic.

"Don't worry about that, Buck. I'll try not to exceed my authority."

Buck murmured his thoughts aloud, apparently to himself. "Funny how it goes to a man's head. I can remember this guy when he was human, before they elected him czar of Rooshia."

"He's not elected for life anyhow. That'll do to think about, Buck," cut in Pete spitefully.

"That's so, Pete. Seems to me I've heard his term's out soon. Well, I'll mosey along." Roe turned to Rutledge, meaningly. "See you later, too."

The two rustlers went jingling down the street.

"A nice pair to draw to," Jack Barton commented.

The sheriff looked at him. "You one of the Circle R trail herders, young man?"

"You win first crack outa the box, sheriff," Jack said lightly.

"Lo, you Circle R. waddies, where you plotting to start trouble now?" he shouted.

"You're likely one of the fellows that went into the Longhorn and raised hell there the night Shear was killed," Manders said coldly.

"Me?" Jack's face was a map of surprised and injured distress. "Why, I had is a preacher down in Lampasas."

"Maybe so. I've heard of these preachers' sons. What I've got to say is that you boys of the Circle R outfit had better stay out at your camp and start for Texas soon as you can. I don't want trouble here, and I won't be answerable for your safety if you stick around. That goes for you too, Rutledge. Finish your business and get out."

"I aim to do that very thing," Jim told him.

"Far as I can find out you've been in trouble ever since you started this way. Course when I say get out, Rutledge, far as you're concerned, I mean if you're cleared in this Shear business. Not till then."

"I understood you that away, sheriff. An' I expect to be cleared soon."

"Interesting, if true," Manders replied dryly. His hard gaze fastened on the face of the young man. "I've been hearing about you setting up for a detective. Found the guilty man yet?"

"Not yet," Jim admitted.

"Let me tell you something, young fellow. The rumors that come to me come to others, too. If you tread on a wolf's tail he'll bite, I wouldn't wonder. Keep out of this business. I'm paid to attend to it."

"I'll consider that advice, Mr. Manders," the Texan said.

"It's more than advice. It's a warning."

Jim regarded intently the cold lights in the bulbous eyes of the officer. A warning! Did Manders know more than he was telling? Was it the know-how he had in mind?

"I'll sure mill it over, sheriff. That may be good medicine."

"It is." The voice of the sheriff was curt, almost harsh. "Folks live longer in this country who mind their own business."

He turned and moved away. Jim's gaze followed him, a thick set man of weight who walked with a strong firm tread. He was hard as steel, tough as a hickory withe, one not to be chosen lightly as a foe. Rutledge knew no harm of him. His reputation——

The young man's eyes came to sudden life. They were resting on the spurs of the sheriff. The soles were notably wide, and at the outer edge each heel was worn down almost to the counter.

Jack Barton turned to his trail boss gayly. "You know the old sayin' about threatened folks livin' long. Far as this Moss trash goes, while they're mean enough dangerous—why, what's the matter, Jim? You seen a ghost?"

Jim brought his attention back to his friends. "Not a ghost, Jack, but something right interesting."

"Let us in on it," the cowboy said.

Rutledge shook his head. "Not yet."

"You're sure enough turnin' into a mysterious guy. Let's go somewhere an' have a drink—anywhere but the Longhorn."

"Suits me." Jim did not want a drink and he did not intend to take one, but while the others were drinking he could abstract his mind from the business in hand and consider the amazing possibility that had occurred to him.

Rockville excused himself and departed.

While the others were taking their drink Jim's brain worked. He knew now where he had seen a boot very like one of those which had left a print below the Longhorn window. He could not be sure this was the same boot, but it was that or its twin brother. Outwardly he was quite cool, but excitement sent the blood drumming through his veins. Was it possible that Manders could be responsible for the murder of Shear or be in any way connected with it.

The two had not been friends. Ever since Shear had come to town they had been antagonistic, he gathered. The faction politically opposed to Manders had been grooming the marshal as a candidate for sheriff. Jim put himself in the place of Manders. Probably Shear would be defeated, and at once he would become an implacable enemy of the one who had beaten him. He was the kind of man with whom an issue must be personal. If he lost, he would find a cause of quarrel. So Manders would reason, and his reasoning would be sound. The safest way out of the difficulty, short of refusing to run for the office—a solution not acceptable to Manders' stiffnecked pride—would be to destroy Shear before he became dangerous.

Jim did not want to believe Manders guilty. He did not want to think him the kind of man who could murder in cold blood. But he could not let his feelings obscure the facts. Whatever these were, they must be dragged out to the light.

Outside again presently, Jim saw Pendleton.

"Lo, you Circle R waddies, where are you plottin' to start trouble now," he shouted.

"We been jumped on," Sim Hart complained. "First off, Buck Roe an' his young friend got heavy. Then Manders acted like he thought we were the guys huntin' trouble."

"I s'pose some one roped you boys an' dragged you-all into the Longhorn last time you shot the lights out," Pendleton said. "What was Manders talkin' about?"

"Wanted me to keep my hands off this investigation," Jim explained. "Figured I might live longer if I 'tended to my own business."

"Ho! Ho!" the cattleman boomed. "That's Al all over. Doesn't want any mistake made about who is sheriff of this county."

"Do you reckon that's it?" Jim asked, relieved.

"Sure that's it. He's thataway. Jealous of what you-all might call his prerogatives. Joe Shear and he were always watchin' each other to see neither stepped over."

"They never actually quarrelled, did they?"

"Not likely. I never heard if they did. I expect they were special polite to each other. I'd have hated to have Joe as polite to me as he probably was to Al Manders sometimes."

'Wild Music' by Russian Now Is Tame

Changing Fashions Are Favoring Prokofieff.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

After an absence of some seven or eight years, Serge Prokofieff, Russian composer and pianist, was back with the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday afternoon, playing the solo part of his first piano concerto and conducting his "Divertimento," the latter a first performance in America. He will remain through the Friday and Saturday concerts as well, at which time he will play another concerto and conduct another composition.

As the years go on he claims to be becoming milder in his theories of composition, desirous of living down his former title of l'enfant terrible. As a matter of fact, he never was such a startling radical as he used to be given credit for. He liked to put plenty of biting condiments into his harmony. He does yet. But then and now he has had some interesting musical ideas, and when musical ideas are really musical it makes little difference whether they are put in the form of well tempered orthodoxy or ill tempered modernism.

He claims that his desire is toward simpler melodic expression, disclaiming any intention of becoming old-fashioned therein. But his concerto, his first, composed in 1911, is quite as melodic as his "Divertimento." It probably stirred up its hearers then because it was one of the first pieces to treat the piano like a glorified xylophone, divorcing it from its supposed power to be songful. Nowadays this is the normal way of writing for the piano. The composers announce in advance, though in the unspecific language of calling it an instrument of percussion, and the audience does not mind.

None of Mr. Prokofieff's melodies yesterday were sustained flights. They were brief, and repeated rather than developed. Where his music showed at its strongest was in the abundant rhythmic vitality that pulsed through everything. This was what gave it its moment of stimulation and made its composer a welcome visitor.

Eric DeLamarter conducted the rest of the program in Mr. Stock's absence. Dvorak's sonorous "Husitska" overture rolled out with much magnificence, and there was an equally stirring effect with George W. Chadwick's "Tam o' Shanter." A little of the sparkle, however, had disappeared from Mozart's "Haffner Serenade." This had been played earlier this season and sounded as though it had not been rehearsed since. Incidentally, Mozart is by no means easy to play, easy though it may be to hear.

Hoover Autographs Book for Frankfort University

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

FRANKFOR ON THE MAIN, Feb. 25.—President Hoover has presented the University of Frankfort with a personally autographed volume of a Latin work, "De Re Metallica," written by Georgius Agricola in 1556. It has been announced. Mr. Hoover, aided by his wife, translated the text into English.

Medal for Bravery Will Go Tonight to William Longfield

Two years ago Scoutmaster Henry T. Wenk, 3424 North Avers avenues, told Boy Scout troop No. 861 that any boy who did an outstanding piece of heroic work would receive a silver medal.

The medal will be presented for the first to Scout William Longfield, 3353 North Avers avenue, on Monday, March 3, at Bethany Lutheran church, Newport and Kedvale avenues. Scout Longfield, while on duty as a member of the boy's patrol of Reilly school, ran to the assistance of Lillian Czak, 4 years old, 3651 School street, whose clothing was on fire, and extinguished the flames. With other boys of the patrol he hailed a passing car and rushed the child to a hospital. There she later died from the burns.

The medal will be presented by George Jacobson, a member of the troop committee of 861. A. A. Kirk, field executive of the north shore district, will present also an honor bar to fifteen boys in recognition of 100 per cent service given to the troop during the last quarter of 1929.

Scottish Ex-Miner Represents King for Church Conclave

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—James Brown, a Scottish miner who started work in the mines at the age of 12 and kept it up until he was 41 years old, today was appointed to succeed the duke of York, King George's second son, as lord high commissioner for Scotland. In this post he will act as King George's personal representative during the general assembly of the United Church of Scotland in May.

During a fortnight then Brown will exchange his cottage in a mining village in south Ayrshire for the Scottish royal palace of Holyrood, at Edinburgh. Lords and ladies will address him as "your grace," a title reserved for those of ducal rank.

He will be accompanied by his wife, who used to work in the mills, and together they will act as hosts to the aristocracy of Scotland. Brown held the same post under the preceding Labor government in 1924. He is a member of parliament.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What type of radio entertainment do you enjoy best, jazz, classical, plays, monologues, or lectures?

The Answers.

Mrs. Albert Krebs, 1764 Estes avenue, housewife—I always listen to the plays. I like most anything in music, except jazz. When one of my older sisters comes in she turns on jazz. My other sister shares my musical likes and dislikes.

Asher Hassen, 1228 Millard avenue, plumber — Probably most persons are in favor of jazz as the music of today. But I prefer the good old time songs and fine orchestra numbers. I enjoy music, but lectures take up too much time.

Mrs. Frances Keller, 6010 South Park avenue, housewife—I prefer classical music and monologues. I tire of jazz tunes, but monologues usually are humorous, especially when short. But one can get too many of them.

Sol Sterenson, 1359 Edgemont avenue, manufacturer — I want jazz to dance. I want to dance and how can one dance to anything else. The other kinds of radio entertainment may have their uses.

Melvin F. Erman, 4128 Clarendon avenue, advertising — The semi-popular music of which one does not tire easily. I enjoy hearing good music repeated, but I cannot enjoy rehearing of jazz.

Chicago Expert to Make Study of Unemployment

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—(AP)—President Frank Aydelotte of Swarthmore college today announced the appointment of Dr. Paul H. Douglas, professor of industrial relations in the University of Chicago, as director of the Swarthmore institute on unemployment for which the college recently received an anonymous gift of a large sum.

Prof. Douglas has been granted a six months' leave of absence from Chicago.

Maj. Gen. Parker Tells Stories About World War Leaders

Intimate glimpses of the lives of some of the outstanding generals of the world war were told by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps area, yesterday at the meeting of the Chicago Rotary club in the Hotel Sherman.

The six military leaders with whom he was associated were Gen. John J. Pershing, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and Gen. Charles P. Summerall of the U. S. army and the three famous French Marshals Joffre, Petain and Foch.

In picturing the crises the six military leaders faced and disposed of, Gen. Parker praised Pershing for placing the American army under the unifying control of Marshal Foch. "Nothing ever has approximated the work accomplished by Pershing and Wood," he said. Gen. Summerall, now chief of staff, was described as a military leader so devoted to his duty that he has refused a day's leave of absence in the last twelve years.

Joffre was pictured as a defensive fighter and a man without nerves; Petain as the one who revived and kept up the spirits of the French soldiers, and Foch as the "clean-up" man who speedily ended the war.

Music of Savages Called Like Impulse of Child

A small child, knowing nothing of music but able to beat a rhythm, is giving expression to the same emotion which existed in the heart of the savage, John Ross Reed, singer and composer, declared yesterday before the Collegiate club at the Morrison hotel. Mr. Reed asserted that music originated in the instinct of the primitive man to divert himself with rhythmic sound.

THE STAGE

"JENNY."

A comedy by Margaret Ayer Barnes and Edward Sheldon, with Jane Cowl as star, given at the Selwyn theater Feb. 25, 1930, under the management of William A. Brady and D. D. Wiman.

THE CAST:

John B. Weatherby	Guy Standing
Cole	Robert Lowe
Eustace Wade	Lewis Martin
Cissy Weatherby	Katherine Emmet
Prince Miranoff	Coburn Goodwin
Jack Weatherby	Ben Lackland
Nora Gerrish	Joyce Carey
Alec Ames	Charles Brokaw
Jenny Valentine	Jane Cowl
Angela Weatherby	Helen Brooks

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

JANE COWL is a lovely lady with a bad cold, and Margaret Ayer Barnes, the author in the case, is a fellow citizen; yet somehow these facts fail to arouse one's sympathy for the play called "Jenny," newly installed at the Selwyn. No doubt the wind should be tempered to the shorn lamb, and certainly the quality of mercy is not strained; but even these noble maxims fail to arouse any critical urge to announce in print that "Jenny" is what it isn't. There is no escape from the issue: "Jenny" is a feeble play, a dull play, a bad play.

Much of it is fancy rhetoric—the untrammeled, unedited writing of playwrights [there were two] whose verbal glibness has numbed their sense of situation. It contains eloquent descriptions of Canadian lakes, rose gardens, sunrises, moonlight, postage stamp albums, costume balls, gin parties, Russian princes, yachting cruises and the excellent camping out equipment vended by Abercrombie & Fitch. There is enough descriptive matter in "Jenny" to keep a college theme course supplied for an entire winter.

There is smart talk in "Jenny" also, dealing with the greeds, thirsts and lusts of the modern generation—so much of it that it becomes native in spite of its strain toward worldliness. This is not dialogue, but prattle. The plays talks incessantly to itself. It was written too trustingly, too eagerly, too sentimentally; and it yearns to be rewritten by a cynic.

Poor Mr. Weatherby, the hero of this tale, was a stanch paterfamilias whose wife and offspring were behaving like ingrates when Jenny strolled in through the garden gate to comfort him. She was dressed like a princess and she carried a red, red rose. Soon she was helping Mr. Weatherby arrange his collection of postage stamps and telling him coyly that he was was nothing but a great big boy. And who was Jenny? A very swell actress, of course, week-ending in the neighborhood.

She becomes the Weatherbys' house guest, and is pained to observe the heartless conduct of Mr. Weatherby's tribe. The baby daughter is a necker, the son is a waster, the married daughter is affairing her way toward a divorce, and the wife is a gray haired cooer after interior decorators and Russian princes. None of them will stay home for dinner to see honest, innocent, long suffering Mr. Weatherby off on his vacation.

So Jenny decides to strike a blow for the emancipation of the downtrodden American husband and father. She carries him off to her camp in the far north, where women are women and men often Indian guides. Mr. Weatherby is "framed" by Jenny on this expedition; he didn't know they would be alone together, and he hasn't begun to get Jenny's idea when she speaks flippantly of his nice crockery blue eyes.

They return to the old homestead in Greenwich, Conn., in the fourth (and last) act, to tell all, hoping that the naughty Weatherbys will reform when they learn that Papa has gone slightly astray. But it's a hard boiled family and the scheme doesn't work. So off they go together again, good old Weatherby and bold young Jenny, to be as immoral as they please. Blow, bugles, blow! The standard American husband has walked out of his family trap, slamming the door behind him. Ibsen's Nora in the terms of Mr. Babbitt.

Miss Cowl is her decorative self—an oriental empress with a richly plaintive American voice; and she goes gracefully and winningly through the extravagances of the piece. Her technique of emotionalism lies fallow, for Mr. Weatherby's Jenny is a cool, self-contained person—a satirist and a reformer rather than a lady of the passions. Guy Standing, returned to the Chicago stage after years of absence with a war record and a title, is still the leading man he used to be, the faithful, substantial support of feminine stars. Time has not changed him; he is British oak. And a firm prop to "Jenny's" weaknesses is he.

The others represent the average cast for this type of play—all but Lewis Martin, who plays the effeminate decorator. Maybe he thinks he is acting an aviator—at any rate, he seems always ready to fly.

Romans' Togas Granddaddies of Tailed Coats

Latter Sign of Master or Master's Man.

[Recent fashion discussions in Chicago have indicated that tail coats are to return to favor in business suits, in addition to their continued use for evening wear, while the tuxedo or dinner jacket is being resurrected.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—England is the stamping ground par excellence of the tail coat. At all hours of the day, in many occupations and for a large variety of social functions, the tail coat is de rigeur. While American tourists have considered dinner jackets formal enough for almost any occasion in vacation time, the Britisher sticks to his cutaway and his claw-hammer evening clothes.

For the origin of that modern garment, affected by gentlemen and servants, we must go back to the Roman toga.

The toga was a democratic garment, boys at a certain age donning the toga virilis. It was difficult to indicate any great range of wealth or poverty, except in the materials used, by means of a garment which admitted of very little variation in cut. Roman senators looked very much like ordinary men, as American senators are apt to do. But the Roman senators adopted a broad purple stripe for their togas, and that later became the imperial purple on the togas of the emperors. It had more red in it than our modern color.

The democratic Roman toga, though the Roman was dressed more freely when he fought, became a mark of the Roman pro-consul and thus an aristocracy to the vanquished when the Roman empire ruled the world. The be-trousered Gauls viewed the toga as a sign of authority, fitted to the uses of a non-laboring class. They copied it. The Romans, meanwhile, saw the trouser and doffed the toga.

The descendants of the Gauls thus were divided, sartorially speaking, into two classes — the villeins and serfs, who went about in their customary lowly bipedal fashion, with both legs frankly admitted, and the lords with their attendant knights, who threw great cloaks about themselves and thus created a social distinction. This stage in the tail coat still remains in the ceremonial robes of kings, the ermine and the purple.

During the middle ages men wore gorgeous cloaks over chain armor. The days of the solidification of monarchies in modern Europe found soldiers in tailed coats and gorgeous uniforms for foot and horse.

Livery of palace attendants and "household troops" is a mimicking of a gentleman's costume, with such changes as the gentleman thinks necessary to avoid confusion. The long coat was not much fun to fight in. A compromise was therefore arrived at. The two corners of the coat were turned back and buttoned at the rear.

The Hessians whom Washington surprised in so ungentlemanly a manner while they were celebrating Christmas at Trenton were dressed in this fashion, and they had the consolation of dying in a costume much finer than that of the ragged continentals who showed so little respect for the holiday season. The French poilu today buttons his horizon blue overcoat back at the two sides, approximating the shape of the modern tail coat, and thus it's good for marching and warmer for standing still.

The aristocrat of today refuses to be encased in rigid clothing, though he has not yet succeeded in banishing the eight minute shirt. But he retains the form of the ancient vestments as a badge of his superiority. He puts it on his servants to indicate that they are attached to the service of the aristocracy. If he goes to Eton he changes from the short Eton jacket to the tail coat when he reaches the upper forms.

Famous Beauty Specialist Lauds 'Gray Coiffures

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A beauty specialist of international fame, with a rare knowledge of women almost the world over, was discussing the tragedy of gray hair. Not that she thought gray hair was a tragedy—woman's own reaction to the change in the color of her hair being the tragic element.

In her opinion it is pure folly to take this point of view.

Some of the world's most stunning women are those who have not attempted to dye their locks. More than that, she could name without hesitation nine women of her acquaintance whose experience with men would destroy the prejudice that romance vanishes with silver threads. On the contrary, every one of the nine mentioned married in their gray haired years and a number of them made extremely distinguished marriages.

Pressed by one of the listening group, she admitted that possibly it does require money for the clothes and grooming that distinguishes the gray haired woman. But she added: "From the same point of reasoning, does it not take money for clothes and grooming to make any type of woman distinguished?"

However, she made this point: Women of strong coloring—brown eyed, usually, with a clear, firm skin make a great mistake in dyeing their hair. Theirs is the quality of beauty that is exaggerated with the silver halo. And, inconsistently enough, it is women of this identical color strength and skin firmness who look best with dyed hair. Not their best, we were given to understand, but better than women with dull or faded eye coloring and skin that has lost its youthful firmness.

This authority insists that women have brought upon themselves the aspersion that is unjustly attached to gray hair. They have been the ones to disparage it, not men and not other women. They have not seen the possibilities of creating a great beauty asset out of their hair. What with the colors women of any age are permitted today, the fascinating coiffures they may command with a little study and the widely dispersed knowledge on hair care that is theirs for the asking, our authority thinks there is small reason for mourning and great opportunity for distinction.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

That milk fever, a disease which frequently attacks high producing cows, is caused by a deficiency of calcium in the blood is the belief of scientists at University Farm, St. Paul, who have worked out a cure for the disease which they think will prove successful. This cure consists of injecting a solution of calcium chloride into the veins of the animal and has proven highly successful in trials so far. More experience, however, will be required before its general effectiveness and reliability can be definitely established.

Dr. W. E. Petersen of the university dairy division, who took a leading part in working out this new milk-fever treatment, explains that the method, if successful, will be superior to the standard air-inflation method now commonly used, mainly because it will avoid the bad consequences which frequently result from the inflation treatment. Only an occasional case is lost by the inflation method, he says, but there is grave danger of udder infection and subsequent loss of part or all the udder. Again, air-inflation stops milk secretion and materially delays the time when the treated cow will come into full milk flow.

Others who collaborated in working out the new cure were Dr. W. L. Boyd of the university veterinary division, Dr. C. H. Eckles, chief of the dairy division, and Dr. L. S. Palmer of the biochemistry staff. The calcium chloride method has been used in several natural milk-fever cases with excellent results and in at least one instance effected a cure where the air-inflation method had failed and the cow was at the point of death when treated.

Society News Largely Deals with Departure

BY THALIA

Pity the poor society editor! She has a recent, these quiet days, to the new extraction method, vulgarly known as "pumping," to fill the inevitable society column. The pleasant regime of informal gatherings now is not productive of society news of any spectacular interest. Bridge foursomes, small lunches and teas in the daytime, and small dinner and theater parties in the evening are the principal diversions of society, while so many fashionables are away.

During a systematic effort to extract information from every possible source, I learned that Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster of 209 Lake Shore drive is leaving on Saturday for an extended trip to the orient. She will go both to Japan and China, and perhaps when she returns to this country in late June, she may decide to stay in California for the summer.

Bernard F. Rogers Jr., who has been in Florida for the last few weeks, is back. Mrs. Rogers having remained in New York City for a while. Mr. Rogers had some bad luck for a vacation. Part of the time he was sick abed, and the weather was so poor for the rest of the time that he didn't get in any of the fishing he planned.

Other departures include that of former Judge and Mrs. Kenesaw M. Landis of the Chicago Beach hotel, who have gone to Belleair, Fla., for a month, and that of Mrs. Wilbur F. Goodspeed and Mrs. William P. Conover who, are now in Pasadena, as also are the James G. Brossers.

There was a gala audience at the performance of William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes" last night, the first gala evening that society has enjoyed since the close of the opera season. The Woman's City club had taken over a part of the house for a benefit and there was a veritable "dress circle" in the boxes and front part of the theater.

Among those who attended were Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick in a lovely gown of powder blue velvet, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Pelouze, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Gerstenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sherriff, Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, Miss Lucy Martin, Augustus S. Peabody, Miss Katherine Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Murray P. Brush Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart H. Otis, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dunlap Smith.

Others who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine.

The Junior Friends of Art are to hold their next meeting at the Chicago Historical society next Tuesday afternoon. The program is to comprise a "Japanese Afternoon," with Mme. Ishikawa and Mme. H. E. Coleman as special guests. Mrs. Coleman is to speak on "Japan's Dream of God in Art," and Mme. Sujiwara is to play the "Samisen."

The Arts club is to have one of its exhibition opening teas next Monday afternoon. Paintings by Ernest Fiene, etchings by Emil Ganso, and drawings by Muriel Hannah are to be on display.

The third of the series of teas being given by the Woman's auxiliary board of the Chicago Historical society is to be given for members of the Women's City club and the Chicago Woman's club next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be a short talk on the new building, and a special tour of the present building, which is putting its best foot foremost nowadays will be followed by tea before the cheerful grate fire. Mrs. William S. Monroe, chairman of the board, is active in the engineering of the teas, which are apparently by way of being propaganda in behalf of the new edifice.

The Evanston Smith College club is to hold a meeting on Wednesday afternoon, March 5, at the residence of Mrs. Arthur M. Betts of Evanston. Prof. and Mrs. Robert Harvey Gault are to speak on "Soviet Russia as We Saw It." Mr. Gault was visiting research professor at Smith college in 1926-1927, and is now professor of psychology at Northwestern university.

The Evanston group of young married is to be the poorer by one people who have been active in social affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Parsons Ives are moving this week to Boston. There they are to live permanently. Mrs. Ives is the former Adele Hall, daughter of the late William T. Hall, a prominent Chicagoan and one of the founders of the Forty club. She has been president of the Evanston Junior league for the last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hibbard of 2440 Lake View avenue leave this evening for their usual spring vacation at Rancho Linda Vista, at Oracle, Ariz., in the mountains near Tucson. They will return some time in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Horatio B. Hackett of 1329 North State street have returned from the south. Mrs. Hackett departed several weeks ago, and Mr. Hackett joined her in Miami for a few days before her return.

Mrs. Charles H. Lobdell of Hubbard Woods and their small son are leaving the first of March to motor to New Orleans to visit Mrs. Lobdell's mother, Mrs. Reuben G. Bush.

Perhaps Archipenko Depicts Heartbreaks of Logarithm's Life

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There opened yesterday in the Knoedler galleries an exhibition of drawings by Alexander Archipenko. Archipenko is another of the names with which the modernists conjure. He is a member of the supporting group, a ranking actor with Chirico and Survage and Picasso in the popular drama of putting exotic art across today. These drawings are in line with paintings of his which have been seen at the Arts club. They are rather mathematical, fathered by reason, cool, aloof, and to a certain degree purposeless and pointless, except as regarded as problems.

Fragments of an artist's work are always interesting but rarely exciting. Often they could more satisfactorily be committed to a waste basket than to a wall. It is not every one who cares how results were achieved; very few want to bother with the struggling efforts that preceded the mature work. Sometimes it seems an impertinence to hang sketches and to offer fragmentary drawings to a busy public. For the art student there may be something of value in such a show. For the ordinary visitor there is little that holds his attention. Archipenko's drawings are curious and many of them are very sketchy; a few have humor; at least one has strength, and one other beauty. But John Smith from the street would be just as intrigued by a student exhibit of drawings from the life class at the Art institute; in fact, more intrigued. Those studies would be intelligible.

The name, Archipenko, is the honey. Just as with a like exhibit and the name of Derain, Matisse, Braque, Picasso, or Chirico attached, the gallery would be popular. Shakespeare was mistaken: there is a very great deal in a name and never more so than today.

In the farther gallery at Knoedler's is a group of delightful water colors by Albert Worcester, a Detroit man and a brother to the Charles A. Worcester of Chicago. The water colors deal with ships and sea and a few foreign points of vantage, fascinating hillsides, streets, and houses. Several of them are extremely well done. Considered as a whole, they possess a gay, irresponsible, colorful life which is friendly and pleasant and takes you warmly in as a friend.

Church Groups Discuss Plans Against Wars; Meet in Evanston

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Two hundred delegates from Protestant churches of the country opened sessions yesterday in Evanston to formulate a peace program to be adopted by American religious groups. The meeting—the third national study conference on the churches and world peace—is sponsored by the federal council of churches of Christ of America and will conclude its work today. The sessions are under the chairmanship of Episcopal Bishop G. Ashton Oldham, of Albany, New York.

The question as to whether first loyalty of Christians when war threatens should be to the state or to Christ was discussed by the Very Rev. William Scarlett, St. Louis, bishop coadjutor elect of the Episcopal diocese of Missouri. Rights of "conscientious objectors" in war time was presented by the St. Louis clergyman as a problem for a pronouncement of the churches.

Dr. John Lathrop, Brooklyn, declared that on the churches of America rested the responsibility of keeping America out of war. He stated that if America ever should become involved in war, contrary to the provisions of the Kellogg peace pact, that would be an evidence of the failure of the churches.

A message was drafted to President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson, saying: "We request you to press for the greatest reduction possible in all categories, including immediate reduction of battleships, and agreement for eventual abolition."

NATURAL RELIEF FOR MOST PREVALENT DISEASE

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Eaten by Millions Daily to Prevent Constipation and Anemia

Constipation has been truly described as the curse of modern life. Its poisons cause countless ills—headaches, listlessness, indigestion—often serious disease.

Yet it can be relieved and prevented in an easy, pleasant, natural way. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. It adds the roughage to your diet that sweeps the system clean of all waste and insures regular elimination.

This delicious ready-to-eat cereal also helps prevent and relieve anemia. Scientific research shows that it is rich in iron—nearly all of which is absorbed, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Isn't it much wiser to relieve constipation with this healthful cereal than to take pills and drugs that only give temporary help and are often dangerous?

Be sure to add Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to any reducing diet. Doctors recommend it.

If you wish to bid goodbye forever to constipation and its companion physical troubles, just begin eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Your grocer has it. It is served everywhere—in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. With cream or milk is one popular way to eat it. When sprinkled over cereals or soups, it adds flavor, as in cooked foods. Soak it in fruit juice. Whatever the style of eating, it is equally effective. In the red-and-green package—made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Smooth Skin is any girl's Greatest Loveliness," says JAMES CRUZE, famous Hollywood Director

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

"FEW PEOPLE can resist the spell of smooth lovely skin," says James Cruze, prominent Hollywood director—and sums up the experience of 45 leading directors.

"The close-up is the final test of a star's popularity," he goes on to say, "since practically no make-up is possible.

"Only a perfect skin, exquisitely smooth and fine, can stand the blazing lights."

Never was this more true than since the talkies, with their hundreds of close-ups, "arrived." Unless a girl has the smoothest, the most exquisite skin, she can scarcely hope to go far.

LILYAN TASHMAN uses this method

It is because lovely smooth skin is so vital to the screen stars that 511 of the 521 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. It was at their request that all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The stage stars, famous in Broadway successes, have also been using Lux Toilet Soap for a long time—and never were they so grateful to its gentle care of their skin as since so many of them have been playing in the talking and singing pictures. In the European capitals, too, the screen stars have adopted this soap—so velvet-smooth does it keep the skin!

ESTELLE TAYLOR always uses it

And you can keep your skin lovely, too, by using this delicately fragrant white soap! Get several cakes today.

Physical Causes Often at Root of Child's Behavior

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A list of toys and playthings for children from babyhood up will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sometimes it may seem superfluous or tiresome to reiterate, "Look for the cause." But it is the only way. And the search isn't always a psychological puzzle, either, ending in the discovery of some subtle origin, or cause.

Often the cause of behavior difficulties is a simple physical one. There are, in fact, three things that are at the root of lots of the everyday ups and downs in children's actions which an experienced mother learns to take into account, but of which an inexperienced mother needs to be reminded periodically.

These are tiredness, hunger, and some not normal physical condition like an approaching illness with its often indescribable symptoms—indescribable, at least, to children, who do not analyze their sensations as grown-ups do.

In these things, as in all others, babies and children vary. Take tiredness, for example, first. The phlegmatic child, the serene, or the happy go lucky child is not as affected by fatigue as is the emotional, or highly strung, imaginative, more nervously organized boy or girl. Still, in all types, irritability, impatience, contrariness, lack of appetite, even so paradoxical a thing as reluctance to go to bed when told, may be caused by fatigue. Rest—sometimes for one night, sometimes covering a period of days—works magic.

While fussiness, not wanting to play, discontentedness or irritability, apparent laziness, may be just the sign of a hungry child. Hunger is a second possible cause of behavior difficulties to consider.

Many things that seem like behavior difficulties may be, for instance, merely the forerunners of an approaching cold or some other indisposition. A strong, well nourished child will stay on his feet longer than a sickly child, because he has the greater resistance. So a sturdy youngster may be "perfickety," languid or lose his appetite for days before his sickness manifests itself definitely as that—and then he may "come down" hard with something. This is the third physical cause that it is wise to look for before suspecting that you have a psychological problem on your hands.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Here is a slender looking, youthful model that introduces a tunic flounce at either side of the front that merges into a circular flounce across the back. The seaming down either side of the front adds height to the figure.

Shoulder tucks add a decorative touch on the front and two prim, small bows—one at the end of the V neck and the other at the waistline—finish beautifully. Both surfaces of black crêpe satin, navy blue crêpe de chine, printed rayon crêpe, and bottle green crêpe, are smart suggestions.

The pattern, 3266, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Fried Mushes.

Almost any breakfast cereal may be baked in individual portions or in a sheet and later fried for an agreeable service. Left over breakfast oatmeal when so treated may be almost equal to a meat substitute, or it may be used with hamburg steak to extend it and make a part meat cake. For instance, with a pound of ground round steak we may use as much as one and one-half cups of left over breakfast oatmeal, seasoning the mixture with a little onion, binding it with egg. In addition we may grind up two slices of dry toast, use a bit of flour to bind, and salt and pepper to taste. The plain oatmeal may be formed into thin cakes and then when ready to heat up may be floured and fried brown in a pan just buttered or rubbed over with fat. These can be used either for breakfast or luncheon.

In talking about the oatmeal we have been leading up to a brief discussion of fried cornmeal mush, which is so great a favorite, and to the fact that we may improve our mush and make it a more palatable substitute for pancakes by combining mashed potato with the cornmeal. If we wish to make as large an amount of mush as one cup of cornmeal would make, cook this meal with four times its measure of water, then add to it three cups of mashed potato and season to taste. Pack this into a low broad pan and let it cool thoroughly.

Usually it is made the day before it is used. When ready to heat or brown, cut it into strips or slices and heat it up in a frying pan which has been rubbed over with fat. This mush will take a browner and more decided crust than one of all cornmeal, which is an advantage since the nice crust adds so much to the mush.

The nice packing and cutting of the loaf of mush really has worlds to do with its success. It needs literally to be packed so that the slices will not break when cut and will be firm enough to manipulate in the frying pan. The amateur should be content to make a loaf of the mush no more than an inch or an inch and one-half deep and cut the slices about one-half inch thick.

"Blondie" Scoffs at Pet-to-Be-Popular Theory, with Reason

BY DORIS BLAKE.

To revive the threadbare but ever popular theme of behavior expected of girls in return for an evening's entertainment at male expense, here is a chance for the boys to give a fraternity yell for "Blondie." Not, according to rumor, that it is ever hard for boys to root for blondies. But here is one whose testimony puts to rout the maudlin theories about what boys expect and how hard it is for a girl to be popular and decent at the same time.

Pretty, sophisticated, 17, Blondie is. With a strong right palm liable to come in swift concussion with a male face out of whose mouth come suggestion relevant to kissing, etcetera. And she says:

"This bunk about the girl having to pet in order to go out gives me a mean throb. BUNK! If a girl is wise, pretty, talented and decent she has more good times than that two cent thing who throws herself on any man. S'funny, Doris, but I never come across the kind of fellow who wants to be paid for taking me to a movie—and I don't miss many of them. Maybe it is because I have blonde hair and such innocent blue eyes. Maybe-er not! But it can't be all LUCK, now can it?—BLONDIE."

No, it can't be all luck! But it can be all training. Training the boys. Let word get around that here's a blondie who wants her men on the level as she is herself, and they are not only treating blondie like a lady, but they [the boys] may even vie with each other in true sportsmanship behavior. They want blondie's advertising because they like that kind of advertising.

If Blondie, on the other hand, was even slightly free and inviting in her manner and her general behavior gave hint that "maybe" she would neck with a fellow if he was the right kind of fellow, then they'd all be trying to make the record here, too.

It is not only the girls who aim to please with what pleases. I don't know but men can outdo them at the game, if there is a real inspiration. Looks as if blondie were one of those girls who inspire men to behave like men, don't you think?

Little Chiffon Boleros Enhance Wearer's Charm

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—You can't circulate in the style marts of Paris without coming on a bolero at every step. Dresses and coats have their own special and particular boleros, most of them.

It has been the habit of the Paris fashion mongers to make the bolero a slave to the garment with which it was worn. The poor little accessories were tied down, hard and fast with needle and thread to whatever frock they graced, but lately Paris has given them independence, particularly in the evening. They are no longer sewed on, but made separately as graceful, inconsequential wraps, regulating the formality and becomingness of the frock they match in material and color.

Molyneux, who is a genius at adapting fashion's difficult lines to the average figure, has done great things with the bolero for evening. He uses it on many of his newest evening gowns for Cannes and Monte Carlo, and with reason. Women who want to follow the fitted, high waistline evening mode, and whose figures cannot bear its exposures have only to take to the bolero and all will be well. A bolero of chiffon, like the one shown on the Molyneux evening gown in our sketch, veils the fitted frock to a filmy beauty, so that any lady can wear it with grace.

This Molyneux dance dress has other claims to chic besides its bolero. One of its leading style features is the use of tulle and chiffon. The bolero, and the body of this dress are made of pink chiffon, while ruffles and bands are made of pink net. You couldn't find anything prettier than the skirt with its pointed net ruffles mounted on a yoke of chiffon.

The two story hemline is a feature of grand chic. The back is on the ground all across and the front is a big step higher. This is the favorite way in which Paris makes hemlines uneven. Around the high waistline is a tailored belt of satin with a rhinestone buckle, and when the bolero is removed you have a real princess frock, molded to the body.

The Useful Wedding Present.

Some months after we were married my husband brought home an old friend to lunch with him. I remembered that this particular friend had sent us some tumblers, so I instructed the maid to use them. As we sat down I remarked in my best hostess voice: "We just love these glasses that you sent us. We find them so useful, because they harmonize with everything!"

Following his glass downward, I perceived that a film of dust had floated to the top of the water in his glass, giving the complete lie to my gracious gesture. Imagine my embarrassment! He drank no water and I choked on mine. L. J.

You ought to know

Smart women are quick to discover the advantages of Kotex' marvelous absorbency . . . its softness, its daintiness.

SANITARY comfort is a thing that can't be determined until you have actually worn a sanitary pad. Often there is a deceptive, merely surface softness that becomes chafing stiffness after a few hours. But with Kotex you are comfortable — always. And this is why.

Kotex is fashioned of a most unusual absorbent, known as Cellucotton absorbent wadding. It is not cotton . . . but a cellulose product which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest cotton—with 5 times the absorbency.

So, you see, these filmy layers of Cellucotton can protect just five times more satisfactorily and in greater comfort to you.

Choice of hospitals

Kotex absorbent has largely replaced surgical cotton in 85% of our leading hospitals today. Certainly, no approval could be more important to a woman than this.

Within the past few years, Kotex scientists have skilfully perfected certain details that mean a great deal to any woman. The way the pad is shaped, for instance. The way it deodorizes. The adjustability of the filler.

Do read carefully some of the features of Kotex listed at the right. Then buy a box. Use it. That is the only way to tell. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

IN HOSPITALS . . .

1—Kotex absorbent is used in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

4—Kotex is soft . . . Not a deceptive softness that soon packs into chafing hardness but a delicate, lasting softness.

A SPECIALTY

We have a DOLLAR DOWN sales setup on a popular priced household necessity that means sales. Being a salesman, YOU are naturally looking for something of MERIT that will SELL.

Answer this question to yourself. If you had two articles that ARE IN GREAT DEMAND and were in a position to SELL THEM for HALF what any other merchant would care to offer them, how many ORDERS a week do you feel YOU could write at a DOLLAR DOWN and a dollar per week.

JUST ONE MEASLY ORDER A DAY WITH A DOLLAR DEPOSIT PAYS YOU $24 A WEEK IN FULL. NOTHING DELIVERED and WE GIVE YOU INTO THE HOME at your own expense and pay you on all other purchases that your customer makes.

IF YOU ARE SEEKING A GOOD, LEGITIMATE SPECIALTY, WE HAVE SOMETHING THAT SELLS—WE HAVE IT! 23 E. JACKSON-BLVD., 11TH FLOOR.
